CENTRAL AUTOMOBILE TIRE COMPANY BUYS ONE OF CITY'S OLDEST AND BEST KNOWN BLOCKS

Big Real Estate Deal Announced Today
—Sale of Mansur Block Transacted Through Office of Walter E. Guyette
—Sale Price Reported to Be About $190,000—Building and Land Assessed for Over $182,000

The Mansur block at 97 Central st., corner of Market, one of the oldest downtown buildings, was sold today to the Central Automobile Tire Co., a Boston concern, which is operating a chain of stores in various cities of New England. The sale, which is considered one of the largest in this city in a long time, was effected through the office of Walter E. Guyette, and it is said the sale price was in the vicinity of $190,000. It is the intent of the purchasers to improve the building at a cost of approximately $50,000.

The Mansur block stands on land originally known as the Aaron Mansur tract and on a spot formerly occupied by a saw mill. It was one of the first commercial buildings erected in this city, having been built in 1836. Some 35 years ago when the Mansur estate was divided between the Nesmith and the Mason heirs, the building was remodeled by the Nesmith estate.

William Brazier opened a hat store in the original building and upon his death the business was taken over by his family and in 1911 by Dickerman & McQuade, who have still a lease on the ground floor and basement of the property. In the early days of the building its third floor which is now occupied by the Central club, served as quarters for the Yerkie club.

The property consists of a four-story brick structure and 5127 square feet of land. The basement and street floor are occupied by Dickerman & McQuade, while George B. Mevle also occupies a portion of the street floor for his fruit and confectionery store. On the second floor are 12 offices, one of which is occupied by Daniel J. Donahue, who has been a tenant there for over 30 years. The third floor is devoted entirely to the Central club, while the entire fourth floor is taken by the Mathew Temperance Institute, which has been there for a great many years.

The building is assessed for $40,000, while the land is valued at $142,500, making a total assessment of $182,500. The Nesmith estate was represented at the sale by Joseph A. Nesmith, who has been acting as agent of the building for a great many years.

Mr. Guyette stated today that the purchasers, the Central Automobile Tire Co., of Boston, will get busy immediately on the improving of the second, third and fourth floors of the building and according to plans will spend about $50,000 on the alterations. This concern recently leased the large store at 212 Central street in the Costello building and will soon start business activities in this city. This company deals exclusively in tires and operates a chain of stores in Providence, R. I., Hartford, Conn., Boston, Springfield, Worcester and Portland, Me.

Maine Governor Bitterly Denounces "Invasion by Federal Government of Sovereign Rights of State"

CITIZENS TO BE INVITED

Conference Tomorrow Afternoon to Discuss Demand for Wage Increase

FALL RIVER, March 22.—The Fall River Textile Council today forwarded to the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association, a letter adopting the suggestion made to the council by the Manufacturers' Association that a committee of citizens, not to exceed five, be present at the conference tomorrow afternoon for a discussion of the demand of the operatives for a general wage increase of 15 per cent. The council reached a decision at its meeting last night, but no announcement was made until this morning. The identity of the citizens to be invited has not yet been revealed.

It is possible that the council and the manufacturers' committee may confer today as to the personnel of the citizens' committee. Several names have been suggested but no committee has been officially designated. James T. Tasey, president of the Textile Council, stated today that the committee of citizens will not participate in any way in the wage deliberations. They will simply listen to the arguments advanced.

The committee of disinterested citizens to attend the wage discussion tomorrow afternoon will consist of Rt. Rev. Mr. James E. Cassidy, Rt. Rev. Mr. Jean A. Prevost, Rev. Dr. E. C. Herick, Rev. Manuel A. Silva and Judge Edward F. Hanly. This selection was mutually agreed upon today by the Manufacturers' association and the Textile Council.

Increase at Woonsocket
WOONSOCKET, R. I., March 22.—Woolen and worsted weaving mills here today announced a 12½ per cent. wage increase, effective April 30, in line with the American Woolen Co.'s action yesterday.

WOMAN HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Mrs. Buzzzi, Housekeeper for Frederick Schneider, Who Was Slain, Arrested

Detectives Claim to Have Obtained New Evidence Connecting Her With Crime

NEW YORK, March 22.—Mrs. Anna Buzzzi, housekeeper for Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, who was slain on Feb. 25, was arrested today on a charge of homicide. The woman was held for several days after the murder without bail as a material witness but she finally was released because of lack of evidence against her.

Detectives at police headquarters said they had obtained new evidence connecting Mrs. Buzzzi with the crime. Schneider was shot to death at the wheel of his automobile on a lonely Bronx road. Two witnesses told of seeing a woman leave the scene of the murder but neither was able to identify her.

MRS. WEEKS VERY ILL

BRUNSWICK, Ga., March 22.—Mrs. John W. Weeks, wife of the secretary of war, is very ill here on board the private yacht, "Evergreen," which was hurried into port shortly after 10 o'clock this morning to secure medical aid for Mrs. Weeks.

L. R. STEEL DROPS DEAD

Mr. Steel was found dying in his berth by Ernest Matthey, his chauffeur. When Matthey reached his stricken employer, the latter was unable to speak and died before the train reached the Toledo station. Heart disease is believed to have caused death.

MAINE WILL NOT SELL BIRTHRIGHT

Invades Privacy of Homes, Infers State Will Not Care for Mothers and Babies

AUGUSTA, Me., March 22.—"Maine will not sell its birthright for a mess of pottage," Governor Percival P. Baxter declared today in a message to the legislature, vetoing the resolve to accept the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner law for the protection of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy and for other purposes. He protested against its passage "because it is an unwarranted invasion by the federal government of the sovereign rights of the state of Maine, because it establishes in Washington a federal bureaucracy that is not likely to be in sympathy with the government of this state and the citizens thereof, because it invades the privacy of our homes, because it infers that the state of Maine cannot and will not properly care for those of its mothers and children who need assistance, and because it pauperizes our state."

"If the state of Maine refuses federal aid and sends forth a strong protest against the expansion of this dangerous and undermining doctrine, all lovers of liberty throughout the nation will take heart," he said. "The state of Maine then will be hailed as the leader in the movement to return to the fundamental doctrine of our forefathers that a state is sovereign and will brook no interference in its own internal affairs."

LOWELL MEN INQUIRE INTO MODUS OPERANDI OF LISTING BOARDS

Members of New Lowell Listing Board Visit Boston and Cambridge—Lowell Listing Bill Was Signed by Governor Cox at 5 O'Clock Last Evening

Members of the Lowell election commission, including Hugh C. McOsker, J. Omer Allard, Joseph H. Maguire, and Thomas H. Braden and Thomas R. Atkinson, superintendent of police, the five men comprising the new Lowell listing board, created by the bill signed by Governor Cox late yesterday afternoon, went to Boston and Cambridge today to obtain first-hand information as to the operation of listing boards in those cities.

The board particularly is anxious to learn how much preliminary work is necessary before the listing of the polls begins on April 1 and how police officers are assigned to obtain the names of all persons, male and female, of the age of 20 years and over. In Boston, it is said, the entire police force is put to work for one day and the complete list is obtained in 24 hours, but the system has been in operation there for some time and it is not expected that Lowell will be able to move with such alacrity in its first attempt.

The bill, which reached the governor's desk last Monday night, was signed by him at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and became law upon this date.

UNUSUAL CASE OPENS IN LEGISLATION TO PROTECT DISTRICT COURT CITY FINANCES

The first local instance of a landlord being brought into court for alleged failure to provide heat for a tenant, claimed the foremost attention of the district court this morning when Michael M. Qualey was arraigned before Judge Fisher on the complaint of Henry J. Root, charging the landlord with failure to properly supply heat in the rooms occupied by complainant in the Parkview Chambers at 43 Nesmith street. The complaint was filed on the complaint of Henry J. Root, charging the landlord with failure to properly supply heat in the rooms occupied by complainant in the Parkview Chambers at 43 Nesmith street. The complaint was filed on the complaint of Henry J. Root, charging the landlord with failure to properly supply heat in the rooms occupied by complainant in the Parkview Chambers at 43 Nesmith street.

It was claimed by the complainant that he protested to Mr. Qualey about the absence of heat last December, and that thermometer readings taken by his wife on certain days showed the temperature of the apartment to be 78 in the evening and the morning of these readings were taken on fairly warm days, he said. The defense argued that Mr. Root had brought action against the landlord because the latter had threatened civil suit for non-payment of rent since February.

Mr. Root stated that he had paid rent in advance up to the date, but refused to pay further until something was done with regard to the supplying of heat. The wife, Mrs. Leta Root, corroborated her husband's testimony and added that she was compelled to wear heavy clothes to keep warm during exceedingly cold spells.

Under the present law, cities and towns are authorized, after determining a fair market value for a share of national bank stock, to levy a tax upon all such shares and the treasurer is empowered to collect money represented by all such shares. All money obtained by a city or town from locally owned shares goes into the general treasury of that city or town and all money secured from the taxation of shares held by persons not residents of a particular city or town is turned over to the state, to be again distributed to the cities or towns in which the bank is located.

The controversy now at its peak is one of vital interest to every city and town in the commonwealth and for this reason the Saturday luncheon and conference has been arranged.

STEAMER RUNS AGROUND OFF CLAY HEAD

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., March 22.—The steamer Texan, bound from Boston for New York, went aground off Clay Head today during a heavy fog. It was believed she was in no immediate danger, but she was said to have six feet of water in her hold. The point where she grounded is 200 yards from the beach, on a rocky bottom. The coast guard cutter Acushnet started to the assistance of the steamer.

36 RESCUED AT SEA

Men Taken Off Italian Steamer in Stormy Weather—One Member of Crew Lost

BOSTON, March 22.—The rescue at sea of the men of the Italian freighter Giulia by boat's crew from the President Wilson and the freighter Westlake, reported by radio last night, was accomplished in stormy weather, with the loss of one life, according to a description of the rescue work by Arthur J. Bean, financial editor of the Boston Post, published today. Mr. Bean, a passenger on the President Wilson, said 35 men were saved, 24 by the big passenger liner and 12 by the Westlake. The man who lost his life was one of the three seamen who, apparently in fear, jumped overboard from the Giulia, disobeying orders to stick by the ship.

HEAD OF PIGGLY WIGGLY TALKS

Saunders Set 3 O'Clock This Afternoon as Limit for Settlement by "Short Sellers"

After That Hour it Will Cost $250 Instead of $150 a Share to Settle With Him

To Escape Being Called "Boob," He Kicked Pegs From Under Wall Street

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 22.—Clarence Saunders, head of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., will wait until 3 p.m. today, for settlement by "short-sellers" in Piggly Wiggly stock on a basis of $150 a share, and after that it will cost $250 a share to square accounts with him, "even if it takes the court to decide."

"More than 25,000," was the number of shares the former grocery clerk fixed as sold "short" to him.

A strict question of survival of him and his business, and an intense desire not to be "lied" and pointed to as the "boob from Tennessee" led Mr. Saunders to "suddenly without warning kick the pegs from under Wall Street," he said in his statement.

Can you design a hat? Did you ever try? Here's your chance. Just take pen, pencil or crayon and draw the hat you want in the accompanying picture. If yours be the best submitted, from the standpoint of design, style and harmony, The Sun will have it made up and presented to you free.

Remember the hat is to cost not more than $20. Lowell's leading milliners are offering some very beautiful hats for $20. Why not go on a shopping tour visiting the various millinery shops? By so doing you will get ideas as to the newest styles for spring, 1923.

Fill in the coupon below with your name and address and not to exceed 50 words of detailed description of colors, materials, etc. Mail in as quickly as possible. The contest closes at midnight Saturday, March 24. A qualified committee of judges will pass on all entries. The winner will be quickly selected and the hat will be made up so that the winner can wear it on Easter Sunday, April 1.

SENATOR BORAH URGES FEARLESS PROGRAM

AKRON, O., March 22.—Inviting his party to "quit gumshoeing" for votes and adopt a clear-cut and fearless program, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, declared in an address here last night that by such a course republican leaders could put an end to a third party movement which now appears "not improbable."

"Political conditions are distressingly unsatisfactory to both political parties," said Senator Borah, speaking at a banquet held in honor of Abraham Lincoln, by the republican county committee. "The voter is alarmingly independent. Party leaders seem confused. The rank and file are distrustful. And yet, the people are deeply and profoundly interested in the questions and eager for information upon all political problems."

"If I were to suggest the underlying fundamental vice of American politics at this time I would unhesitatingly declare that it consists in playing for the game on too low a standard—far below the level of both the intelligence and patriotism of the voters. The problems now pressing for attention are in many ways the most difficult ever presented to the American electorate."

Model at Murder Trial To Rely on Sketches To Free Her

By GENE COHN
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The sketchy little pen-and-ink people, with whom she was surrounded in her art life, will be called upon by Grace Baratti to aid in her defense at her trial here soon on a charge of husband murder.

Through these fanciful little ink-well folk, the slim and lovely model expects to clear herself. For when the little black-and-white exhibits appear in court they will show, she hopes, how Harry Baratti, her musician-husband, committed suicide.

How Baratti died

The circumstances were these: Baratti was found shot to death. A bullet had penetrated his right hand and two had entered his head. He and his wife had been alone.

Mrs. Baratti declared she had been lying on the couch. She heard the shots and rushed in to find him dying.

she said. He had been despondent, she added.

The police laughed. "There were indications of 'another man.' How could a man shoot himself through the right hand and still shoot himself through the right side of the head?"

And if he did it with the left hand why should he shoot himself through the hand at all? These questions seemed difficult to answer.

"Ink Folk" Aid

And there's where Grace Baratti's years of artist modeling came in. She was accustomed to poses of all sorts, graceful or comical. With her lawyer, J. B. Zandars, she called on the "little inkwell people" to aid. Dozens of sketches were made, showing every possible variety of posture in which a man might commit suicide. Portfolios fairly danced with gruesome suicide scenes.

Now, on the eve of the trial, a solu-

TUT'S VAULT MAY DISCLOSE VULGE WRITTEN STORY STUDENTS MUST FIGHT FOR CHANCE TO LIVE

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, LUXOR, Egypt, March 22.—(By the Associated Press) Among the wealth of antiquities found in the tomb of Tutankhamun no trace has yet been discovered of a single scrap of papyrus that will throw any light on the obscure history of Egypt during that monarch's reign. Indeed, not even the hieroglyphic inscriptions and pictorial legends on the inner wall of the mortuary chamber reveal any intelligible facts concerning the life and achievements of the king who ruled the Nile 1,350 years before Christ.

Most of the 35 or more other royal tombs in the Valley of the Kings are adorned with innumerable sculptures, bas-reliefs, paintings and tables illustrative of the periods in which the Pharaohs reigned. These inscriptions and paintings are, moreover, of a much higher merit than the few which have been found in Tutankhamun's death chamber. They have been of invaluable service to the American and British archaeologists in piecing together with the aid of papyrus documents found in the tomb, the fragmentary history of the Old and New Empires.

Perhaps next in value to the mummy and sarcophagus of Tutankhamun himself are some thirty-five chests found in the funeral repository. The archaeologists are hopeful that some of these may contain documents of papyrus which will reveal some new facts regarding the little-known events of the departed sovereign's short reign. If found, they will be given to Professor James Breasted, the great Egyptian scholar of the University of Chicago, for decipherment and interpretation.

Opposite the aperture to Tutankhamun's burial vault is a large painting of the king drawn in the style of the reign of Akhnaton, the heretic sovereign, with high sloping head and wearing a helmet of a leopard skin. This has formed the subject of much study and speculation by Howard Carter and his American associates. There is no indication that Tutankhamun adhered to Akhnaton's new faith in the worship of Aten the god of the solar disc—not anything to convert the known fact that he led Egypt back to the old faith—the worship of Amen.

The news from London that the influence of the British government may be exerted to prevent the removal of Tutankhamun's body from its burial place to a museum was received here with satisfaction and relief by Egyptians and others who are averse to what they term "body snatching" by foreign invaders. They declare there is as little justification for disturbing the ashes of the ancient Pharaoh as there would be in removing the dead from one of the royal tombs in Westminster Abbey.

In this connection it is pointed out the King Amenophis, who is interred a short distance from Tutankhamun, specifically requested that his written tablet in his sepulchral chamber, that his ashes be not disturbed. The plea, however, was not observed until the British authorities in Egypt intervened and succeeded in having the king's body returned from the Cairo Museum to its original resting place in the Royal Necropolis. It is now the only royal mummy visible to tourists. It rests in the heart of the living rock of the Libyan mountains, through which a great tunnel was pierced by the ancients.

LOWELL MEN SENTENCED

Charles Zandowicz and Hippolyte Buslewicz of this city were found guilty of liquor law violations by Judge Sisk in the superior court in East Cambridge yesterday. Zandowicz was fined $100 and sentenced to one month in the house of correction. Buslewicz was fined $75 and sentenced for one month.

Monocles are being adopted by leading professional and society women in London, in preference to horn spectacles.

tion is declared to have been found. And this will be the defense contention.

Baratti had determined upon suicide. He lay upon the couch. He wished to take no chances of failure. He was left-handed. So he gripped the weapon in his left hand, using his thumb to pull the trigger. He held the barrel close against his temple in the crotch between thumb and forefinger of his right hand.

But when came the moment to fire he grew nervous. His hand shook. The barrel slid slightly upward toward the upper part of the right hand.

Then—the explosion! The shot had struck a bone in the hand and entered the head. This had slightly altered the force of the bullet and shattered the hand. So a second shot was sent, this one fatal.

Such is the picture the little pen-and-ink people will draw for a jury and, by a poetic justice, it may be that these inanimate figures, in the drawing of which Grace Baratti so often lent her form, will be the means of saving her from prison.

In any event they will form a defense background without parallel in criminal history.

MOSCOW, March 22.—American college students, who frequently complain that their allowances are too small, would learn what roughing it means were they to come to Moscow. Investigators for the American Relief Administration have come across tragic comedy or comic tragedy in every nook and corner of the bars, cold dormitories which the soviet government provides for Russian youths at the big universities in Moscow and in the provinces. Last September, when the college term opened, there were approximately 50,000 students registered in the higher institutions of Moscow. Approximately 10,000 of these were capable of caring for themselves; another 10,000 were to be taken care of by the government, but many of the other 30,000 literally had to sleep in the streets, because no quarters could be found for them in the overcrowded city.

One member of the committee found the task of relieving needy students almost hopeless because of the indefinite addresses given by the applicants. Peter Popoff, who was given a pair of shoes and was to receive a food package later, informed the committee that he was rather a difficult person to find, because he slept in a different doorway every night. Two young men from the electrical college were perfectly willing to be called upon, they said, but doubted that they could be found in the crowd at the railway station, where they slept.

So much time and energy is spent trying to obtain food and shelter that many of the students find study impossible. They are always on the lookout for odd jobs that will give them a head, a meal or a few million rubles. Three girls in one of the universities sew four hours a day for a corner to sleep in. After a meal at the student kitchen at 5 o'clock in the evening, they attend their first class. Russian universities always run on tight work, for even in the old days the terms "student" and "poor" were synonymous.

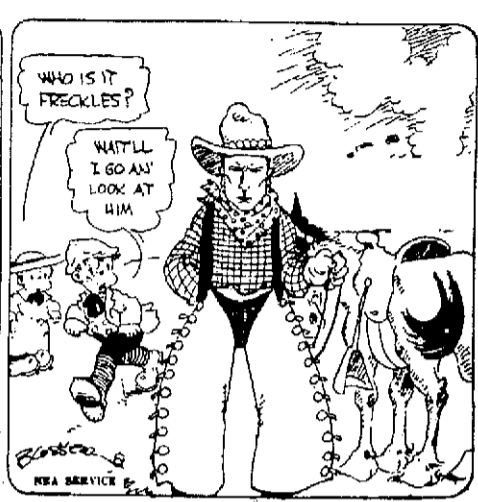

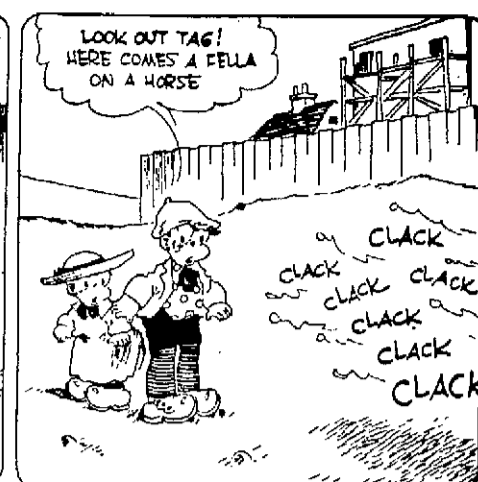

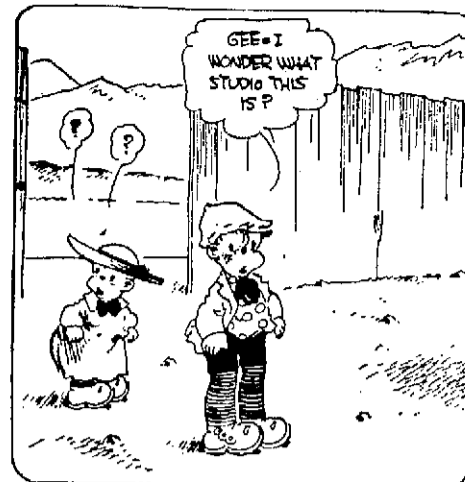

Conditions in the universities of Moscow today are said to be infinitely worse than those endured by the poorest students before the revolution. Slipping 40 in a room, some with and some without beds, many of these earnest young geese after the truth about science, philosophy or medicine play balalaikas and sing songs even when they are hungry. Two cheery lads, owning one suit of clothes between them were lucky enough to find a small room by themselves. They arranged their classes so that one could stay in bed and study while the other wore the suit to the lectures. Another youngster had three useful possessions, a blanket, a sack of potatoes and a geometry. Wrapped in one, he used another for a pillow, while he read the third.

Two girls, taking a mathematical course, had persistently guarded their room, but one evening they went out for a moment to buy some food. When they returned they found their belongings in the corridor and a new lock on the door. Two young men had moved in.

The urge for education is stronger throughout Russia these days, particularly among sons and daughters of the working classes, than it has ever been before, and registration in the higher schools in some cases has increased more than 200 per cent.

THREE END THEIR LIVES

Woman of 73, Her Daughter, 32, and Grandchild, 19, Carry Out Suicide Pact

BOSTON, March 22.—The Boston police were confronted last night with the most unusual suicide pact that ever came to its attention.

Two women and a 3-year-old girl decided to leave the world. They lay down together on a bed and turned on gas from four jets and died.

Their names are Mrs. Isadore Galligan, aged 73; her daughter, Ida I. Galligan, aged 32, and her grandchild, Jessie I. Galligan, 3 years old. They all lived and died, at suite 15, 24 St. Mary's street, on the Brookline line.

Mrs. Galligan notified a relative of their intention to commit suicide. She wrote a letter and sent it special delivery to James H. Galligan of 649 Beach street, Revere, notifying him of the whereabouts of the dead to the grave which she wished to shelter herself, her mother and her daughter.

As soon as Mr. Galligan received the letter he hurried to Boston and out to the apartment house on St. Mary's street. He rushed up to the door of suite 15, and, after ringing the bell, rattled the knob of the door and then, getting no response, started to look up the janitor.

As he turned away he smelled gas. He ran into the basement, calling for the janitor. The janitor, Samuel Kosonowicz, replied to his shouts. Galligan told him of his fears and they both returned to the door of suite 15. The janitor, too, caught the smell of gas. He advised notifying the police. Two patrolmen responded.

The door was forced and all entered the suite, to be faced with the picture of the three dead persons in the same bed. The windows were thrown open and the gas turned off. Two of the jets were in a chandelier and the other two in a gas stove, which had been pulled up beside the bed and attached to a nozzle on the chandelier.

Dr. George N. Nichols of 723 Commonwealth avenue was called. He examined the women and the child and said they all were dead. The presence of the gas stove beside the bed, the police held, showed that the suicide was carefully arranged and with the consent of all three persons, differing so widely in age as to make the thing almost fantastic.

Beside the bed was found a note written to the medical examiner. At midnight the contents of the note had not been made public.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The stories of Tom Kelly, who appears at the B. F. Keith Theatre, this week are inevitable. Try to tell them and you fall short of the art which Kelly uses in his work. And they are new. He has the unusual faculty of getting together a bundle of stories not like those given by any other comedian. One of the nearest, prettiest, most original of dancing acts to visit this season is that of Lee Rose and Kathryn Moon. Their work is a matter of fact, they come here from long runs in and around New York. "The J. Ryan & Co. in 'Ahead of the Times' is full of good fun and Ryan does a real old shakedown at the close. Patricia & Sullivan present a variety musical act and Mohr & Eldridge are comedians. A Lily is a cyclist of daring. The latest Chaplin picture, "The Pilgrim," is arousing lots of interest at every performance.

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Streets of New York," the great screen production which has Edward Davis starring in the leading role, is drawing to a close at the Rialto theatre today and if you have not already seen it you have missed a big production. The picture is brimming over with interesting scenes and pictures a delightful love story which leads up to a great climax. "The Innocent Cheat," is another good attraction on the same program.

THE STRAND

A so-called society party with all of its attendant gaieties and its disregard for conventional standards of decorum is one of the many interesting scenes depicted in "Wildness of Youth," which opens a three days' engagement at the Strand today. Whether or not youngsters are wholly blamed for their attitude towards the serious phases of life, may be indicated in a way with sufficient force in this picture to satisfy the average parent. On the other hand the weakness of parental guidance may also be shown in a forcible and striking manner in this story. You must see it as presented by a cast including Virginia Pearson, Mary Anderson, Harry T. Morey and others. It's a great picture story and carries conviction with it.

Charles (Jack) Jones is always interesting in western photoplays. That's why "Pelle's Gun" will prove mighty entertaining to all patrons. It's the second feature for the week-end. See both pictures and be entertained to the fullest.

MERRILACK SQUARE THEATRE
Jack Holt, Paramount star, opened a three days' engagement at the Merrilack Square theatre this afternoon in "Nobody's Money," a genuine comedy in which Mr. Holt is seen as a book agent who becomes involved in

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Bad Man," Porter Emerson Browne's immortal travesty, is enjoying an unusually successful run at the Lowell Opera House this week. Capacity houses have applauded Richard Morgan's artistic portrayal of Pancho Lopez, with real enthusiasm, and the play has proved to be the most successful yet to be presented by the Al Lutteringer Stock company. The story tells with rare vividness, life on the Mexican border, is filled with tense moments relieved here and there with bits of real humor that call forth laughter of the hilarious variety. Pancho, the border ruffian who shoots to kill, has a naive philosophy and a genial disposition that wins the sympathy of his audience despite his consistent habits of law breaking.

HARDING TO RETURN TO CAPITAL APRIL 7

COCOA, Fla., March 22.—Tentative plans for the remainder of President Harding's vacation trip as disclosed today, contemplate a return to Washington between April 7 and 10th. The vacation party today cruised on northward with the houseboat Pioneer making good progress. It was, certain, however, that St. Augustine, the end of the cruise, would not be reached before tomorrow evening at the earliest and possibly not before Saturday morning.

On arriving at St. Augustine, President and Mrs. Harding, with most of the other members of the party will leave the Pioneer and take quarters at the Hotel Ponce de Leon. The visit to St. Augustine, where Mr. and Mrs. Harding have been spending several weeks each year for about 18 winters, is expected to extend over next week and probably until after Easter.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING TUESDAY

The date for the special town meeting in Dracut has been set as next Tuesday night, March 27, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. The warrant contains several articles among which are those calling for the abolition of the highway commission, and the erection of a new Parker avenue school. The meeting will be held in Grange hall, Centre village.

The thinnest camera in the world has just been invented by an American; it measures half an inch in thickness and weighs 13 ounces.

HOLSTEINS MAKE NEW PRODUCTION RECORDS

CHICAGO, March 22.—The 1922 leaders in the seven classes of different ages of pure-bred Holstein cows produced an average of 29,955 pounds of milk and 1,250 pounds of butter in one year. In the full age and senior four-year classes previous records were broken, according to a report of the national headquarters of the Holstein-Friesian Association.

During the year, 18,000 cows were tested for production and since the establishment of the official test 95,000 cows have passed the production required for their age, the report stated. All tests are supervised by state colleges of agriculture. Last year, 113,772 Holsteins were registered with the association.

In the full age class, May Walker Olla Homestead, owned by the Minnesota Holstein Company at Austin, displaced Dutchess Skunk, a Washington state cow, with a production of 31,010 pounds milk and 1,523 pounds butter. Grahamholm Colantha Pauline Segis, a Minnesota cow, displaced another Minnesota cow in the senior four-year class with a record of 34,291 pounds milk and 1,422 pounds butter.

In the junior four-year class, Mamwell Johanna, owned by C. L. Spaulding of Warren, Minnesota, stood highest for the year with a record of 31,515 pounds milk and 1,317 pounds butter. Countess Mathador Segis, the senior three-year champion from Washington produced 25,371 pounds milk and 1,533 pounds butter. Junior three-year champion, Princess Malda Vennan, owned by Earl Graham of Campton, California, produced 29,629 pounds milk and 1,164 pounds butter. Colony Grebecka Valdesa, senior two-year champion, produced 28,371 pounds milk and 1,095 pounds butter. She is owned by Colony farm, Escondido, B. C. In the junior two-year class, Daisy Augie Ormsby, owned by John Erickson of Waupaca, Wisconsin, was high cow for the year. She produced 22,151 pounds milk and 1,088 pounds butter.

ALBANIA TURNS TOWARD WEST

TIRANA, Albania, March 22.—Little Albania, with her narrow strip of mountainous territory and her scant one million people, rebels against paying any of the debt of Turkey for the reason that the former Ottoman empire, after collecting its tribute here, never so much as built a bridge, constructed a road, or erected a school, according to members of the newly constituted Albanian parliament, which has been meeting in laborious sittings since the new year.

The sum assigned to Albania for payment was 750,000 gold francs, or about $150,000, but this sum, the deputies say, would make a very serious drain on the public finances. Albania is still the wild and undeveloped country she has always been—without a mile of railroad, almost impassable roads and but one or two schools at most. The government, constituted on the order of a republic, is bending every effort to collect sufficient revenue to meet the annual expenditures, figured at 18,000,000 gold francs, or about $3,600,000, which represents but a fraction of what the United States government spends in a single day.

Though there is a great deal of Turkish influence left in this small and primitive country, the present tendency is to throw off all of the man bonds and lean toward western civilization. Instead of sending their sons to Constantinople for their professional training, the well-to-do now send them to Paris, London and Rome. Even in dress the tendency is to turn to the west for leadership.

The toy capital, located here, is now putting on the airs of its mission by the establishment of legations and consulates. Both England and America maintain legations here, while Italy is represented by a consulate.

FISHING BOATS OF DEAL LAND HEAVY CATCH

LONDON, March 22.—One of the largest harvests of sprats ever recorded was caught by Deal fishermen late and is estimated to number 2,500,000 fish. Owing to the recent heavy gales the sprats became massed in abnormal quantities, and the fishermen had great difficulty in hauling their catches, so weighted and choked were the nets. Many of the boats reached shore almost submerged.

Thousands of hungry seagulls swept down on the floating nets and devoured many of the fish, despite the efforts of the fishermen to drive them away. The poor of the district benefited by the generosity of the Deal men.

Girls of school age should play for a shorter period than boys, and hockey, lacrosse, tennis, and cricket are all suitable games for them.

"Now I Am Well and the Mother of Two Children"

Just Another Story About the Goodness of PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 44, Dassel, Meeker County, Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh. Fortunately I saw your advertisement and took Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and the mother of two children. I owe it all to Pe-ru-na. I would not be without that great remedy for twice its cost, for I am well and strong now. I cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

For more than half a century Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just such wonderwork as this. Pe-ru-na is sold everywhere in both tablet and liquid form. Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na.

"MASTER SPY" SAYS WAR THREATS ARE BLUFF

By GENE COHN
NEA Staff Correspondent
DEL MONTE, Calif., March 22.—"Trotzky's threat to send military aid to Germany—or Turkey—is hot air. Trotzky and Lenin are bluffing Russia and are trying to bluff all Europe."

Those words came from the mouth of Sir Paul Dukes, who knows more about Russia than most Russians. Sir Paul is known as a "master spy." He headed the British intelligence department in Russia, watched the soviet revolution, served in the red army and escaped from Russia with a price on his head. For his daring he was knighted.

Today the former British agent is living quietly here with his bride, the former Mrs. Ogden Mills, step-daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt.

Little Bolshevism
There is less bolshevism in Russia today than in any European country with the possible exception of Scandinavia. Sir Paul told me. There are not more than 600,000 bolsheviks in a population of 150,000,000.

"How does a spy work?" I asked Sir Paul.
"Petrograd was my headquarters," Sir Paul said. "I spoke better Russian than some Russians. I affected a number of dialects. First, I spent weeks growing a thick beard, and long hair. A double task faced me: First, to procure information; second, to get it out. Captain Crombie, British naval attaché, was slain and I fell heir to his organization. Also I was warned by his late how carefully I must play."

Known to But Three
"While I had Russians in the military staff, Smolny institute, naval staff and political headquarters, I was known to but three persons in my organization. I believe in small organizations and usually had groups of about a dozen."

"Later I had the fortune to meet an American secret service man who was forced to leave and who turned over his organization."

"I soon found that the Russians used women to track suspects. I learned they were tracking me. I learned before I had left, the London office had taught me tricks with invisible inks and codes. I was able to write a 6000-word report on a bit of tracing."

Iowa Physician Makes Startling Offer to Cataract Sufferers
Found Treatment Which Healed His Own Cataract and Now Offers To Send It Free to Sufferers Anywhere.

DAVENPORT, Iowa.—Dr. W. O. Coffe, Suite 1203, St. James Hotel Bldg., this city, one of the most widely known physicians and surgeons in the central west, announces that he found a treatment which completely healed him of cataract in the head and nose, deafness and head noises, after many years of suffering. He then gave the treatment to a number of other sufferers and they state that they also were completely healed. The doctor is so proud of his achievement and so confident that his treatment will bring other sufferers the same freedom it gave him, that he is offering to send a 10 day supply absolutely free to any reader of this paper who writes him. Dr. Coffe has specialized on eye, ear, nose and throat diseases for more than 15 years and is honored and respected by countless thousands. If you suffer from nose, head or throat catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, send him your name and address today.—Adv.

paper so small that I could carry it under the sole of one foot.

Courier Service
"To get my messages out I built up a secret courier service, operated by men who bribed or fought their way through the fronts of Finland or Estonia."

"Once I sent information by a holshavik emissary, who was ordered by the third international to start a revolution in England. He did not know what he was carrying, of course. My narrowest escape was staged, I believe, while visiting a doctor who had been helping me. The red leaders knew I was in Russia, but they didn't know my identity. A big price was on my head."

"Well, when I went to the doctor's house for some information, the red officers broke in. The doctor had told me how to feign an epileptic fit. When they came to my bed I went through the motions. They left me alone but arrested the doctor and others."

$16,500,000 COST OF A MODERN BATTLESHIP

LONDON, March 22.—The cost of building a first-class battleship in 1914 was approximately 500,000 pounds sterling, or about $2,500,000, but the cost of a similar ship today is about $3,000,000 pounds, or about $15,000,000, according to Commander Eyles-Monell, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty. Explaining this increase the expert says: "It must be borne in mind, however, that a modern capital ship embodies features found necessary in the light of war experience which involve a considerable greater tonnage, offensive and defensive armament, and consequently cost."

Motor traffic is so heavy in London that roadways are now built up on concrete foundations 12 inches thick, instead of six inches, as a few years ago.

MISS THOMPSON COMING

Young Artist of Great Personal Charm Will Appear Here Sunday

The next event in the Moses Greeley Parker lectures is the appearance of Miss Sydney Thompson of New York at the Memorial Auditorium next Sunday, March 25, in an original play, "The Missing Years," and a recital of Old Folk Lore in costume. In this program, she will present Eliduc—a Lay of Marie de France of the Period 1180 A.D., as well as several Old English Ballads, Folk Ballads of Southern Europe and tales from the Court of King Arthur.

Miss Thompson has been characterized by the Metropolitan critics as a young artist of great personal charm, a good voice, and a fine discretion in its use, graceful motions and a remarkable sense of dramatic values. The dramatic critics of the New York Times recently had this to say of her: "The appearance in New York of Miss Sydney Thompson, an entertainer whose work has recently attracted considerable attention elsewhere, took place at the Punch and Judy theatre yesterday afternoon, and was the new idea in dramatic monologues. Miss Thompson presents a play in the form of a monologue, indicating the presence of the other characters, but not speaking for them. This suggests, of course, the work of Miss Beatrice Lifford, but in one important respect the methods of Miss Thompson and Miss Lifford differ. Whereas the latter aims only at the projection of a character, the offerings of Miss Thompson are complete dramatic structures."

DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW

State Senate Refuses to Ask Supreme Court for Ruling on Constitutionality

BOSTON, March 22.—The Massachusetts senate rejected yesterday the order, introduced by Senator Haislis of Montague, asking for an opinion from the supreme court as to the constitutionality of the state daylight-saving law, which varies from the federal act during standard time. The committee on rules had reported against the order; Senator Haislis tried to have the senate substitute the order for the adverse committee report, but substitution was refused, 13 yeas to 19 nays. Senator Haislis had better luck when he asked the senate to substitute for an unfavorable committee report a resolution calling on the state department of public works to investigate supervision and regulation of the business of transporting persons, property, and freight over the public highways. Under a suspension of the rules the order was passed to be engrossed.

Consideration of the unfavorable report of the committee on state administration and counties, sitting jointly, withdrawn of Brookline to transfer to state or municipal officers certain duties of county officers was postponed to today.

The committee on state administration reported "reference to the next annual session" on the petition of the Massachusetts Civic League for the examination, classification and treatment of prisoners.

MAN OF 60 REGAINS VIGOR HE HAD AT 35

New Orleans Resident Tells of Wonderful Result Produced by a Recent Scientific Discovery

D. W. Wood, 60, of New Orleans, La., declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatment" as an invigorator and revitalizer. "It has brought me back to as good health, physical condition as I enjoyed at 35," he writes. "I am apparently as supple as at 25." Mr. Wood says he would not take $5,000 for what the compound has done for him.

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form. Absolutely harmless, yet the most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain blood vessels, it often produces amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours. In nationwide tests, it has won the praises of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, premature age and lack of vital force. Physicians say it gives speedy satisfaction in cases that defy other treatments. Elderly people pronounce it a real "fountain of youth."

Knowing that this news may seem too good to be true, the distributors invite any person needing the compound to take a $2 double-strength treatment, enough for ordinary cases, with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails. If you wish to try this guaranteed invigorator, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 45 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. If you prefer, you may enclose $2, or simply send your name, without money, and pay the postman $2 and postage on delivery. In either case, if you report after one week that the korex compound has not given you satisfaction, the laboratories will return your money immediately. This offer is fully guaranteed, so nobody need hesitate about accepting it.—Adv.

FEDERAL PROBE OF SUGAR PRICES

Demands for Investigation Now Being Made "Month Behind," Says Hoover

Declares Rush on Inquiry Instituted by the Government on March 4

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Demands now being made for an investigation of high prices of sugar and other commodities, Secretary Hoover said today, adding that such an inquiry had been instituted by the government on March 4.

The secretary said he was convinced there was no economic justification for high prices of sugar and that the department of commerce and other governmental departments were investigating conditions in Cuba under authority of a law passed by congress authorizing inquiry into combinations of foreign producers of import commodities.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Demands for an investigation of fluctuations in the sugar market, made during the closing days of congress by western senators, were received today by publication of a letter written by President Harding by Basil Manly, director of the People's Legislative Service, charging that the American people were in a fair way of being robbed of $200,000,000 "for the benefit of sugar gamblers and profiteers."

"It is suggested," Mr. Manly, whose organization was formed by members of the progressive bloc in congress, "that as one of the first witnesses the federal grand jury should hear Claus Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining company, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers, aided by the department of commerce, have been enabled to rob the American people of millions of dollars."

Mr. Manly declared the rise in prices had this sole basis, "so far as the public is informed," in a statement issued by the department of commerce on February 3, which was interpreted by "all the newspapers" as predicting a great shortage of sugar during the coming year, and that although Secretary Hoover had declared the statement was misinterpreted, the opening sentence was so worded as to send prices looking upward.

"Even after this statement had aroused an orgy of speculative activity on the sugar exchange, and its evil effects were known," the statement continued, "the department of commerce further 'balled' the market by issuing a statement particularly directing attention to the increased consumption of sugar in the United States during the past year."

TECHNICAL EXPERTS STUDY PROPOSALS

LONDON, March 22.—(By the Associated Press) Technical experts attached to the allied delegations in conference here on the Near Eastern peace settlement today took up the various problems involved in the Turkish counter proposals to the Lusignan treaty. Following the practice adopted at Lausanne, the committee is considering the political issues, another the economic factors, a third the financial problems and a fourth the military matters involved.

The press bureau of the foreign office announced today that nothing would be given out regarding the deliberations until the conclusion of the experts' conference.

No remedy can cure all ailments of the human body, but an immense number of people suffer from aches, pains and discomforts when their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron your blood merely passes through you without doing you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. There is one universally known tonic that has helped thousands because it contains iron like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood.

KIDNAPPER BLIGHTS BELGIANS TAKE TWO HOMES KRUPP HARBOR

(By N.E.A. Service) VICKSBURG, Miss., March 20.—A woman with bobbed reddish locks, her coat collar turned up high to conceal her features, not long ago boarded a train here and headed north for an unknown destination.

She carried in her arms a three-month-old baby. As she fled, she looked furtively behind her as if fearing pursuit. To those on the train who took a kindly interest in the child she gave suspicious glances and silence.

The woman, according to charges made to the police here, was a kidnapper. She was leaving in her wake the broken hearts of a mother and father and a disrupted home and disillusionment for her own husband.

This woman—she is 30, five feet six inches tall and of sallow complexion—is the central figure in the most unusual true story of love, motherhood and human hearts ever known in this region.

The story: Mrs. R. C. Graham, Cybur, Miss., gave birth to the child in a hospital at Natchez, Miss. Her husband, whose business as a saw-mill man required his almost continual absence from home, at the time was in California.

French Build Large Barracks on Eastern Boundary of the Ruhr

DUESSELDORF, March 22.—(By the Associated Press) Belgian troops have occupied Krupp Harbor at Hoch Emmerich, on the Rhine, near Duisburg, for the purpose of controlling exports from this harbor and the collection of the 10 per cent tax on goods shipped.

French Build Barracks

LONDON, March 22.—A despatch to the Daily Express from Cologne says the French are building a large barracks on the eastern boundary of the Ruhr and that it is interpreted as meaning that they intend to stay there permanently.

Smuggling Tricks By Germans

DUESSELDORF, March 22.—(By the Associated Press) All kinds of smuggling tricks have been resorted to by the Germans in order to bring money from Berlin into the occupied area. In one instance, the French customs authorities at a frontier post discovered bundles of notes hidden under shipments of vegetables. The money was confiscated.

Various German government officials, according to the French, are being used to further the passive resistance measures. The French claim the Germans are using the banks and post offices, as well as individuals, to bring money into the Ruhr. In Dueseldorf the French seized at a post-office 15,000,000 marks which had been sent there for one of the strike leaders to collect and distribute among the workmen under government pay.

REMINGTON SAYS HE GOT NO REST

Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble Made Life Miserable He Declares—Now Well

"A dose of Tanlac in the morning keeps me feeling good all day," enthusiastically states Chas. N. Remington, 317 Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass.

"I haven't very long ago that I didn't feel well at any time during any day. For over two years a part of my days started with a sour, nauseated stomach, and all day long I suffered from indigestion, bloating and palpitation until I was simply groggy. Headaches, dizziness, biliousness and a chronic cough hung on to me with a bullying grip, my arms were stiff with rheumatic pains, and sleep was almost impossible.

"Tanlac worked so fast in my case that I made the mistake of thinking I was completely well, too early and stopped taking it. But I came right back to it, and this time I am going to finish the full treatment of six bottles and make sure of my ground. You can put me down as a Tanlac booster.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Adv.

TROUBLED WITH WORMS

GIRL HAD TWO CONVULSIONS

Signs of worms in children are: Distended stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach with pains, pale face, eyes heavy, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points on tongue, starting during sleep, with troublesome dreams, slow fever. The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. Tru's Elixir.

Mrs. Harry A. Salley, lover, Me., writes: "My daughter has been troubled with worms, had two convulsions and all the symptoms of worms. I began to give her Dr. Tru's Elixir and noticed a decided change for the better. Always have handy a bottle of Dr. Tru's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.—40c.—60c.—$1.20.—Adv.

Wonderful for Piles

Says Peterson

If you received every week a dozen or more letters like the ones below from people who have suffered torments from piles, wouldn't you feel happier than the man whose life is devoted to money grabbing?

"I have been suffering with a fistula for the past 20 years. During that time I have tried numerous remedies, all of which have failed. Two months ago I determined to give Peterson's Ointment a trial. The improvement was so decided after using one box, that I have continued, and on the completion of the fifth box am now entirely cured.

"This is written with the view of passing along the good word to other sufferers." Very truly yours, Chas. E. Peterson, 252 Third Street, Albany, N. Y.

Here's another from Mr. Edgar Thomas, age 76, of Hemlock, N. Y. He writes: "I had the itching piles, also high blood pressure. I saw Peterson's ad in the paper. I used one box and a half of Peterson's Ointment for itching piles, and the piles disappeared, also the high blood pressure." 25 cents a box at all druggists.—Adv.

SIBERIA CO-OPERATES IN SOVIET TRADE

VLADIVOSTOK, March 22.—Mr. I. Serebriakoff, former assistant minister of communications, has been sent here as the representative of the department of labor and defense. This is the highest department of the state and comprises the most highly placed communists.

On January 20, the customs house was closed for all commercial operations, and no goods can be imported until it has been proved that they are not in the category of those whose import has been forbidden by order of the soviet government.

The opinion was expressed at a meeting of the far eastern board of communications that the monopoly of foreign trade by the government as a political weapon against the capitalist countries, would not give the same result in the far east as it would on the western front, owing to the fact that the one nation whose frontiers march with those of Russia is China, and the political opinion of China is dictated by the western world.

CHLOROFORM MYSTERY

Attention Focussed on Effort to Smoke Out Identity of "John Marshall"

NEW YORK, March 22.—With the police apparently as far as they can get on the effort to smoke out the identity of the murderer of Dorothy Keenan, whose tragic death a week ago has become the chloroform mystery, public attention today was focused on the effort to smoke out the identity of "John Marshall," the wealthy man of mystery and intimate of the slain girl.

Several newspapers, Alfred Guimaraes, the other friend of Miss Keenan and, it was reported, Mrs. Anna Keenan, mother of Dorothy, all were asking that "Mr. Marshall" be forced out of the veil of secrecy that the police and district attorney have dropped over his identity.

Guimaraes also showed displeasure at the stories published about his relations with Miss Keenan. He denied that he had beaten her, as Mrs. Keenan and her son, John, the taxidriver, asserted the dead woman had told them and showed displeasure at the unfavorable role in which he has been portrayed.

Acting Dist. Atty. Pecora said he was trying to shield the wife of "Marshall" described as a socially prominent resident of a Boston suburb.

TALK BY DR. ASPINWALL
AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Dr. William B. Aspinwall of the Worcester Normal school gave a very interesting lecture yesterday afternoon at the State Normal school on the subject of "Making Life Acts Instead of School Acts the Basis of the Curriculum." Dr. Aspinwall received a hearty welcome from the students and faculty of the school and a number of visitors from out-of-town.

Mr. Clarence M. Wood, principal, in introducing Dr. Aspinwall, said: "I believe that the two most important things in education are the teacher and the pupil. The next most important thing is the curriculum. Too many of us have an idea that the curriculum is standardized but it cannot be standardized if it is to keep up to the changing times."

After greeting the pupils of the school and stating his pleasure at being given the opportunity to speak in Lowell, Dr. Aspinwall said in part:

"You possibly remember that a very few weeks ago there appeared a report from Dr. Litchard of the Carnegie Foundation in which the question of 'what is a school for?' was brought forward. This question has caused a great deal of talk and criticism throughout the country and many educators have tried to answer it. I do not propose to answer it fully in my talk this afternoon but, in a way, I shall try to answer it."

"I have been considering this matter from the viewpoint of the normal student, for these have a problem that is almost impossible. You have to teach a comprehensive list of studies that are not life-activities such as arithmetic, geography, history, reading, writing, drawing, handwork, spelling, etc. From this it is easily understood that the young teacher has a big program to undertake, she has many grades to teach and she is usually the only teacher in the building."

"This question of Dr. Litchard's reflects an attitude of the public at the present time. The demand is for the practical in education, for that which contributes to the practical life and deals with social conditions as they are now and as they change from year to year. But there seems to be considerable difference of opinion as to what is practical. I think the practical is that which contributes directly to the life of the pupil."

"What is the function of the curriculum? It is to facilitate the adjustment to an environment. If we have the necessary knowledge and training we can adjust ourselves quickly, but if the knowledge is lacking, then the adjustment is awkward and slow but we finally do adjust ourselves."

Dr. Aspinwall told several stories of experiences he had in Germany upon a visit there. He was unable to speak German but he did finally find a way of fitting himself to his environment.

"What is the basis of the curriculum? It is established for the pupil's education, not for what the teachers want for them, but it is good psychology to adapt the instruction and training to actual present conditions of the knowledge, tastes and talents of the pupils and it is also good logic to employ a procedure determined by the pupils' capabilities and needs. The activities of the school should be selected and conducted in their direct relation to the pupils and their appropriate educational effect upon them. It must be remembered that the curriculum will be judged by the pupils' response and sometimes the parents are quite a little to blame for the response in the child. The schools do sometimes get more blame than they should."

"Can we get any help from what the pupils do outside of school? The character of their outdoor activities will help us quite a bit. They are original and personal, not directed and controlled, they are immediately purposeful and to them are worth doing, and they also prove that effort and work are not distasteful when desire and interest are strong. They are concerned only with the present and the individual and they are natural, not artificial."

"What do we learn from these facts? I am not trying to find a panacea for all ills of the school, but I am trying to stimulate in you a different way of looking at the vast problem you have before you." Here Dr. Aspinwall told of the various experiments that have been carried out by educators in an endeavor to give the child a chance to work out his own salvation, teaching him to think, to play, and to learn by observation. He spoke of the experiments carried out by ex-Pres. Hadley, by the Dalton schools, and by the University Elementary school of Columbus, Mo. He also told of the Moraine Park school in Dayton, Ohio, where the subjects taught all came under the head of mastering the arts of life.

"The purpose of these experiments," he said, "was to help the pupils to live more successfully, to permit them to do things in which they normally engage and to provide opportunity for differentiation according to their interests and abilities. These experiments only required a pupil to do all he could to the best of his ability, and that is something that is not as common in our schools as it should be. They also realized that utilizing life activities as motives for study furnished a natural program, whereas the traditional curriculum is arbitrary, and they also realized that the motives of pupils in their out-of-door school activities are the best guides for school work."

"The reason for emphasis on life activities is to give direct and immediate service to the community. It helps the home by directing the play life of the children and develops in them the spirit and habit of helpfulness, and provides the student with better direction through wholesome occupation. It requires as the standard the individual's best, not the average of the group and it trains the pupil to work and to enjoy leisure."

"The final question is how to achieve anything in this direction. The only way is by much child study, a new and different point of view, an active imagination, and in doing less for the children and expecting more from them."

"If you can go out from Normal school carrying the spirit as well as the point of view I have been trying to set before you, you will have a much greater idea of what you have to accomplish and this will help you to accomplish your life's work. I believe it is in this direction that we in the schools are going to find a better means of education and it is the young teachers such as you who are going to bring it to pass. If you have caught the idea of this aim and if you endeavor in some such way as this, then our whole education will become an inspiration bringing about a more abundant life to the children in our care."

The foot value of butter is said to be higher in summer during grass feeding than in winter when cows are given roots and hay.

Fine, Fancy, Feminist Fight

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The feminist fight staged since women won the vote will, it is predicted in inside suffrage circles, develop at the annual convention of the League of Women Voters at Des Moines April 9-14. Chief bones of contention will be:

1.—Whether to maintain aggressively the line of cleavage that has separated the suffrage activities of the league from those of the national women's party.

2.—Whether to give official organization sanction to the league of nations.

3.—What part the organization shall play in the movement for international co-operation to prevent war.

4.—Whether the organization shall hereafter specifically endorse candidates for public office.

In addition to these issues, concerning which there already is much palpitation in league circles, there seems certain to develop a fine factional fight over the election of the seven regional directors. In addition to the regional directors, however, there are also to be elected two vice presidents and a treasurer. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president, holds office for one more year.

Candidates "Chosen"

An official "slate" of "approved" candidates will be presented to the convention by Miss Esther Ogden of New York, chairman of the nominating committee. Miss Ogden's feeling for democratic politics is declared to be strong. She was vice chairman of the woman's bureau at democratic national headquarters during the 1920 campaign.

Other members of the nominating committee, the composition of which is declared to be significant, are: Mrs. H. B. Chamberlain, Atlanta, described as an "idealistic democrat"; Mrs. Chamberlain is not of the old-line suffrage wing.

Mrs. James E. Chasman of Rhode Island, a D.A.R., not active in suffrage circles until after the vote had been won.

Mrs. T. T. Cuthbert of Arkansas, a delegate-at-large to the democratic convention at San Francisco in 1920.

Mrs. Sallie Head Passig, Iowa, who represents the viewpoint of middle-western women as to what the league should do.

Miss Julia G. George, California, social worker and artist.

Mrs. James W. Morrison, Illinois, who says she has "been mugged" in politics since her girlhood in Richmond, Ind., and who succeeded Herbert

Side-Tracking Old-Timers

If the slate to be presented by this committee is put through, it is predicted an entirely new element in the league will be brought into prominence and the majority of the old-time controlling heads in the organization slanted onto a side-track.

If this is effected, it is likely the organization's work will be turned energetically toward certain heretofore controversial questions involving educating women for citizenship, stimulating them to get out and vote and emphasizing more directly the practical rather than the merely theoretical side of suffrage.

Whether this can be accomplished, however, is a question. Almost every state league has at least one candidate to propose, and each state delegation will land in Des Moines ready to battle for its own favorite.

Out of this contest for recognition for new blood and for heretofore unrecognized state leagues, may emerge new leaders and new ideas.

The only thing certain is—before these emerge there will have been one fine and fancy fight, as stated in opening.

GLASS FOR SEDAN CAR

Since plate glass has been holding up the output of sedans in the United States, automobile manufacturers have decided to go into the plate glass business.

In this way, they expect, they will assure themselves a supply of glass sufficient for use on the large number of enclosed cars in demand today.

Henry Ford was the first auto producer to go into this new field of production. His factory, near Pittsburgh, Pa., is being used solely to satisfy his demand for glass for his 100,000 automobiles a month.

Before Ford, the Fisher Body Corp., perhaps, the largest automobile body manufacturer in the country, had control of the entire output of the National Plate Glass Co., but it divided its product among several manufacturers. Now comes W. C. Durant with his announcement that he had bought the entire capital stock of the American Plate Glass Co. at Kane, Pa. The output of this factory is said to be between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 square feet of plate glass a year.

The sudden enormous demand for plate glass by the automobile manufacturers is explained by the fact that the production of enclosed cars has risen in one year from 30 to 60 per cent of the total output of all styles of automobiles. This year, due to the plate glass shortage, manufacturers have been unable to meet an even greater demand for such automobiles. As a result, those who could not get sedans, have been buying open cars and ordering all-weather tops with them as a substitute.

The two automobile manufacturers and the body company now owning plate glass factories, it is estimated, control one-third of the country's total plate glass output. This production is about 125,000,000 square feet a year, of which Fisher body gets between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 feet, Ford about 7,000,000, and Durant 6,000,000 feet.

Other large automobile manufacturers are expected to enter the plate glass field soon, if Fisher body or the independent plate glass companies cannot supply them fast enough.

CHEAP CLOTHED CARS

The predominant feature of the country's automobile shows this year will be the cheap closed car. There will be presented in both four and six-cylinder models.

LIKE PUT-AND-TAKE?

LONDON, March 21.—Five Chinese were arrested and fined for operating gambling resorts. They said the Chinese game of "Pake-Ten" was attractive to many Londoners. The only thing they told about the game is that sometimes odds of 4000 to one are offered.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS TO DEVELOP AVIATION

LONDON, March 22.—Signs that Great Britain is planning to devote a great deal more attention to aviation, both civil and military, were to be noted during the two days' sessions of the Third Air Conference just ended. Although only one resolution was passed, calling upon the government to give immediate consideration to the foundation of an air mail service throughout the Empire, there was a great deal of serious talk about flying possibilities by speakers who knew their subjects, whether technical or political. All of them emphasized the absolute necessity of England's maintaining a pace in aviation equal to that of any other nation, both from the point of view of commercial flying and the part aerial tactics will play in future military affairs.

Phrases such as "regular 12-hour passenger service between London and New York" and "large fleets of electrically directed airplanes carrying high explosives, travelling without pilots at night, perfectly silent both as to their propellers and engines, and carrying death to any town on which they might descend," were used as arguments in favor of government assistance in aerial development. These arguments were advanced no less strongly by government officials than by prominent technicians and persons who might be interested in any government subsidy that may be decided upon.

There are two principal obstacles in the way of aerial development on a large scale; the government's budget is full of necessary items of no mean magnitude, and there has been considerable rivalry between the Royal Air Force and the Admiralty as to which should hold the dominant position in the development of such new schemes.

Besides, as was pointed out by Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for air, there is the obstacle of "after-war confusion" in the fact that Germany is not a signatory to the air convention, which has control over civil aviation in European countries, and until there are amendments to international regulations governing commercial aviation, there will be limitations to its development. These amendments are expected to be effected very shortly.

One of the main factors on the government's aviation program, as was revealed at the conference, is a plan for the training of reserve pilots and mechanics.

Strong arguments were advanced from the point of view of economy. Commander Charles Deniston Hursey, member of parliament for Middlesex, pointed out that 15 training could be produced for the cost of one battleship, that nine airplanes could do the work of 50 cruisers, thereby saving the sum of 5,000,000 pounds sterling, and that for every mile of reconnaissance, airplanes would do 25 shillings what it would take 77 pounds to do with cruisers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon brought out a large number of the directors of the association, and enthusiasm ran high during several of the sessions. The reports of the secretary, treasurer, physical director, the girl reserve department and the international institute were submitted, and other routine business was transacted.

Miss Anna M. Baker, general secretary, in her report, outlined the work accomplished during the past year, explaining the work of each department. The officers and directors elected at yesterday's meeting for the coming year are as follows:

Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, president; Mrs. Arthur Wright, first vice president; Mrs. Nathan Puffer, second vice president; Mrs. David Dewar, secretary; Miss Mary Lough, treasurer; Directors: Mrs. Joseph Barber, Mrs. Helen Barnes, Miss Elsie P. FASCISTI ORGANIZATION

Italian Ambassador Gives Government Views on Branch in This Country

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Commenting on published reports that an attempt was being made to perfect a Fascisti organization in this country, the Italian embassy in a formal statement, said Ambassador Gaetano, had been "approached by young men seeking his advice for the formation of a Fascisti."

He has constantly declared, "that for obvious reasons of correctness towards the United States government the Italian representatives could not have anything to do with the formation of the Fascisti, nor participate in their meetings and manifestations."

The ambassador emphasized that the Fascisti in the United States, if they were to be formed, should not be political, should abstain from parades or any action that might be contrary to the public sentiment and should always conform to the laws and spirit of the country which has extended to them its hospitality, proving thereby that Italians intend to act always towards the United States with perfect loyalty. "He also warned them against certain self-styled Fascisti who, seeking self-interest or notoriety, might be misled by the noble spirit that animates Italy and not be conscious of their duties towards the United States."

THIS EMPLOYER MAKES HELP HIS HEIRS

By N.E.A. Service
KANSAS CITY, March 21.—When death claims Ernest H. Wright, his sole heirs will be—the employees of the industry he founded!

Wright is the inventor and manufacturer of liquid smoke, used in curing hams. He owns a large building here and two manufacturing plants in localities kept carefully secret. It does more than $500,000 worth of business yearly.

More than two years ago Wright made a formal will bequeathing the business to those employed in it. He has no other heirs.

It all started in June, 1919, when Wright went away for a month's vacation and told no one where he was going. It was up to his employees to run the business without direction from him.

Plant's Biggest Month
In that month the company did a bigger business than in any other month of its history!

So upon his return Wright called his workers together and told them any month they duplicated that record he'd add 25 per cent to the pay of each and for every $1000 over the record he'd grant an increase of 5 per cent. In the weeks that followed employees often found as much as 95 per cent added to their wages.

Goes to Japan
Then two years ago, Wright went to Japan for two years, telling no one his address. The business rolled right along and produced profits as usual.

Now says Wright: "I'm satisfied they can carry on the business when I'm dead. I prescribe no form of management in my will. They've watched me run the business for years and they must find a way."

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative for my child?" The answer is, "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." It is a natural, safe, and effective laxative for children and adults alike. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enos S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle is had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!

MOSCOW'S PROSPERITY ONLY SUPERFICIAL

MOSCOW, March 22.—The surface comfort which Moscow now shows to foreign visitors, and the prosperity which her native producers enjoy, is not reflected in the lives of workingmen and the other native residents who make up the bulk of her population.

All are living better than last year, but recent statistics of working districts show that instead of the average 15 square yards of living space which is the legal allotment for each person, many workingmen's families average only one and a half square yards of living space for each person, and that many have to sleep in relays on the basis of one bed for four persons.

In one children's home 80 per cent. of the inmates have lived so long on a scanty diet that they had utterly forsaken even the taste of milk, meat and fats. In one district a survey of these homes showed 85 per cent. of the children suffering from tuberculosis, or predisposed to that malady because of undernourishment and overcrowding.

MOVIE GIRL'S DEATH IS PROBED

Upon testimony of Betty Miller (above), police ordered Ben Bojarquez (below) held pending investigation of the death of his sweetheart, Eileen Zimmerley, movie bathing girl and artists' model. Bojarquez says Miss Zimmerley committed suicide. Miss Miller, chum of the dead girl, claims Bojarquez and Miss Zimmerley quarreled the day before the latter was found dead.

Investigate Method of Drawing Jurors

BOSTON, March 22.—The recommendations made in the recent report of the ruling attorney general, J. Weston Allen, for a new method of drawing jurors, and the matter of extending jury service to women will be investigated by a special commission if the legislature supports the conclusions of its committee on judiciary, which reported today.

Pan-American Conference Meets Sunday

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Expectation that the Fifth Pan-American congress which opens here Sunday, will reach an agreement to reduce armament expenditures, does not appear to be optimistically entertained by arriving delegates. The opinion prevails that after a discussion the question is likely to be referred to a committee for further study.

To Relieve Congestion in Courts

BOSTON, March 22.—As a measure to relieve congestion in the courts and to prevent long delays on appeals, the legislature committee on judiciary today voted in favor of a bill which would require persons accused of misdemeanors to elect whether they should be tried by lower courts or by judge and jury in the superior court. The choice once made, they would have to abide by the verdict given, obviating the present numerous appeals.

GOV. HARDING SPEAKS

Tells N. E. Business Men of Possibilities of So. America For Trade

BOSTON, March 22.—New England business men were directed to the possibilities of South America and Central America as a field for increased commercial relations, and Cuba was pointed to as the key to that trade, in an address by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, at the University club last night. After completing his work as governor of the federal reserve board at Washington, Mr. Harding spent six weeks in Cuba, and he said his observations were the result of study at that time. The United States, he believed, transacted a larger volume of business with Cuba than with any country in Europe, excepting Great Britain. Cuba has maintained a profitable trade balance in every recent year but 1921, he added, and the Cuban people being large consumers of textiles, and of shoes, New England had a splendid opportunity of winning new trade. For that reason, he said, it would be an excellent proposition for New England business men to visit Cuba and cultivate friendly relations.

one-half to six inches in diameter, and showed that when properly applied the screens would halt the flames although the rest of the pipe was filled with a dangerous vapor mixture. Mixtures of ether and air proved the hardest to control, gasoline being next in order, followed by acetone, alcohol, light oil and amyl acetate. The investigation also included benzol, toluol, turpentine, kerosene, amyl alcohol, nectol acid, aniline, nitrobenzol, glycerin, kerosene, cotton-form, lard oil, campher and phenol, seed oil, palm oil, paraffin oil, chloro-

WIRE SCREENS PREVENT GASES EXPLODING

CHICAGO, March 20.—Discoveries of far-reaching importance to industrial concerns and others handling flammable solvents such as gasoline, ether, alcohol, amyl acetate and light oil, have been announced by the Fire Underwriters laboratories as a result of a study of the fire danger from volatile liquids. Screens of fine brass, copper or silver mesh, the chemists discovered, will prevent the spread of flames through vapor filled pipes connecting storage tanks of the highly inflammable liquids. The investigation was undertaken at the request of one of the world's largest explosive manufacturers to reduce the fire hazard in his factories, but the discoveries will be applicable wherever dangerous solvents are handled. The experiments covered flat and cone shaped wire screens in pipes of from

NEW PERMANENT COURT SYSTEM FOR ALL RUSSIA

MOSCOW, March 22.—The revolutionary tribunals which, along with the dreaded "Cheka," were instruments of red terror during the worst period of the bolshevik revolution, passed into history the other day when a new and permanent court system was inaugurated throughout Russia. While founded upon lines not unlike those of the court systems of some other European countries, the new Russian courts have some particularly communistic features all their own.

The supreme court of Russia, which will sit in Moscow, will have three branches. One will be for criminal cases, one for civil, and the other a court of appeal. There will be also district courts to try cases of local importance, and the "People's" courts, corresponding to police magistrates, will operate in each village and city district to try minor offenses.

Peter Stuchka, Lattish lawyer, who gained fame as the bolshevik dictator of Latvia when Riga was in the hands of the communists, has been named as chairman of the supreme court. Another Lett, M. Kariklin, will be his assistant. In the criminal, civil and appeal branches, however, the supreme court judges are mostly men who served in responsible positions on the revolutionary tribunals, all communists tried and true. Jacob Peters, who headed the "Cheka" during the red terror, is one of the judges of the criminal department.

M. Karsky, commissar of justice, will be chief procurator or attorney general in the new court system, but the native prosecutor will be Vladimir Krylenko, formerly chairman of the revolutionary tribunals.

A peculiar feature of the new system is that a species of "juror" is introduced. There will be two of them in each case, sitting beside the judge and having full powers to question witnesses and attorneys. They will retire with the judge to decide upon the guilt or innocence of the accused, a majority vote of the three serving to convict or free the prisoner. Panels of these prospective jurors are now being selected throughout Russia. The various trade unions and professional organizations select them from their own members, and they must be ready to go into court at any time they are called upon. The Moscow quota of jurors is 1000. When they sit in trials the jurymen are paid, not by the government, but by their employers, receiving their regular day's wages for the time spent in court.

YALE EXPECTS A GREAT CREW

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Yale crews that take the water this spring under the direction of Coach Ed Leader will be more like the famous Bob Cook crews of a quarter of a century ago than any at Yale since the Cook stroke was abandoned in 1908.

This is the belief of the men who have been following rowing at Yale for more than 20 years, who have seen Cook crews row to many a brilliant victory, who have watched coaches at Yale come and go with an infinite variety of strokes and theories, who have seen Yale vainly trying to "settle down" with a definite rowing policy, and who now believe that they have in Coach Leader a man who more closely approaches the methods of Cook than any one who has taught at Yale in recent years.

Whether a return to the Cook stroke means a return to the era of Yale supremacy on the water is a question that is arousing keen interest and many hopes in the Blue boat house this year.

Just what significance a return to the methods of Cook crews have at Yale would be hard to realize were it not for an understanding of what his name represents in the rowing history of the Blue.

To all Yale men Bob Cook is a tradition. His age was the "Golden Age" of rowing at Yale, when the Blue crews took the water year after year with a confidence that was unbeatable. That age has long since passed, but the Bulldog ever looks forward with again hope to a renaissance. Whether this year will bring even the beginning of stability to Yale rowing is something that is being eagerly watched.

The stroke that is being taught at Yale today is essentially the same stroke that Cook brought back from England after his now historic trip there in 1872. It may differ in some slight details, as in the finish, but fundamentally it has the same characteristics. It is the same adaptation of the English stroke that Cook developed, and which was later dropped when Yale's successors of English coaches introduced the genuine English stroke that in some way never quite seemed to fit American oarsmen.

One of the first steps that Leader has taken at Yale is to restore the old indoor rowing tank that for several years had been floored over for the use of the wrestling team. Then he had the oarsmen in a straight line over the keel as Cook had done, instead of seating them in the zig-zag English fashion. He requested swift oarlocks instead of the English thick-pin model, though the thick-pin is highly rated by the English because its click at the end of each stroke is a mechanical aid to propulsion.

He has brought his own boat builder with him, discarding the type of shell imported by the English coaches. His model seats the oarsmen higher above the water. All these features of his mechanical equipment were characteristic of Cook's era.

But the parallel does not end here. In his demands on the oarsmen themselves, Leader has followed Cook. He urges the necessity of a greater perfection of inboard work, and precision of the bodies throughout the stroke.

Freckle Face

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.—Adv.

LOCAL MARINE ON PACIFIC BATTLESHIP

Cruising about the Pacific and visiting the various ports along the west coast, Henry Joseph Lapointe, son of Mrs. Florida Lapointe, 467 Moody st., this city, is now a member of the U. S. Marine guard on the dreadnaught, Texas, one of the battleships of the Pacific fleet. His name appears on a list of Marines attached to that vessel.

Henry joined the Marines at their recruiting station in Denver, Colo., April 19, 1921, and for several months was stationed at Mare Island, Cal. Later he was assigned to duty on the Texas, where the Marines are trained to man certain types of guns and to perform guard duties. Occasionally the Marines come ashore for recreation, or visit the larger cities on the Pacific coast when the vessel drops anchor near Los Angeles or San Francisco.

In recent weeks the Texas has been stationed at Bremerton, Wash., but will probably leave shortly for other ports. No doubt the local boy will have many interesting experiences to recount of his life afloat when he returns home.

ESSAY WRITING CONTEST DATE CHANGED

Chamber of commerce officials announced today that at the request of Supt. of Schools Molloy and because of the local Easter observance scheduled, dates for the essay-writing contests at the local schools, will be changed from "Annals" on April 1 to April 6.

It was first suggested to the chamber authorities that the preliminary writings of the essays be held about three days before April 1, and the work completed and filed by April 1. As this breaks into the local Easter Day observance program, it has been thought best to have the pupils begin writing the essays on Tuesday, April 3, and have them completed and turned in by Friday, April 6.

Announcement of the prizes was also made today. The grand prize for the best essay in the Lowell schools this year, in observance of the annual chamber of commerce "Lowell Day," will be a Hamilton gold, full-jeweled watch, suitably engraved. The other prizes for winners in each school class department, will be sterling silver pens.

SCRAMBLE FOR OIL

It is but natural that the powers of Europe are trying to get hold of all the great oil fields of the world. England is the most farsighted of all the nations in planning for her own advantage in all such necessary commodities as oil. She looks out for her own interests in a way that usually leaves other nations asking why they did not use equal foresight.

It is now alleged that England, Holland and France have secured control of all the greatest sources of oil outside the United States, notably in the Asiatic oil fields. The modern changes in the modes of transportation and the use of oil for fuel not only in motor vehicles, but in ships and even instead of coal for factories, make it one of the vital necessities of every progressive nation in peace as well as in war.

In addition to gaining control of most of the foreign fields, it is found that foreign investors have secured control of much of the oil supply of the United States. But there is a law forbidding foreign control of such resources unless the countries to which those investors belong give the United States investors an equal chance in their oil fields.

Secretary Hughes is said to be acting upon this principle, endeavoring to maintain the open door in oil.

It is claimed, however that if the government keeps out of the rivalry altogether, the private American companies will so arrange matters that they will be able to secure for this country all the oil needed at a moderate price. That assumption does not concern with the threat made by some British investors that by jumping the price in oil, they would force the United States to pay the greater part of the war loans to Britain. Formerly it was coal and iron that ruled the mechanical world; but now, it appears that oil will take precedence over coal and become an object of such world-wide demand that the natural oil fields everywhere will be developed to their utmost capacity; and in every progressive country oil will be one of the most important articles of commerce, either as an export or an import.

LIQUOR IN DANCE HALLS

Superintendent Atkinson of the police department does not think that the bootlegging business in connection with local dance halls exists to the extent alleged. We hope the superintendent is correct in his opinion; but what we have said in The Sun was based upon facts obtained from people who had been approached by bootleggers on the floors of dance halls and asked to purchase liquor. We have had additional proof from the fact that empty bottles, pints and half-pints, have been found in the corridors of several dance halls on the morning after.

Inasmuch as the superintendent admits that there is no definite set of regulations covering dance halls in Lowell, it is just possible that the bootleggers have been able to ply their business in those halls more freely than the superintendent is aware. The code of rules for dance halls, which the superintendent furnished to the Sun yesterday, as being now in force in the city of Lynn, is a good one and might well be adopted here. It would abolish the "pass out" custom under which parties can leave the hall and return without extra charge. If that rule were abolished the number leaving the halls during a dance would be greatly reduced, and it would then be less difficult for the police or the matrons to keep an eye upon those who passed out and returned. The Lynn regulations provide that there shall be a matron at every dance, and we understand that such matron is paid by those who run the dance. At the present time our policemen visit the dance halls and as a rule, while they are present the strictest propriety is observed throughout the hall. Somehow the dancers learn very quickly that the policeman has arrived, and they learn just as quickly of her departure. If there was a matron, paid to remain during the entire evening, the case would be different. We are certainly in favor of the adoption of the Lynn regulations for dance halls. We presume it would be the duty of the license commission to put such rules in effect; and we have no doubt that the commission would readily approve the adoption of said rules.

NOW FOR A CLEAN-UP

With the opening of spring the time has arrived for a clean-up and palat-up campaign.

First of all is necessary a general clean-up of the public streets, sidewalks and gutters, many of which show the usual accumulations of the winter. Unfortunately some people have a habit of throwing rubbish and waste paper into the streets. It is highly discreditable to the people living on any street to have it littered with rubbish that should be put out in the proper receptacles to be removed by the department for the collection of waste and ashes. It would be well to have the police officers notify people who offend in this way that there is an ordinance forbidding the practice of using the street as a dumping ground.

On some streets, not only does rubbish line the gutters but broken crates, old barrels and tin cans are not infrequent. That condition should not be tolerated in any decent city. The people responsible for such abuses should be made to understand that such carelessness and misuse of the streets will not be tolerated.

Not only is a clean-up campaign necessary, but it will be incumbent upon the proper authorities to conduct a campaign of education in the interest of public sanitation, public health and civic pride.

If any particular class thinks it is right to use the public street as a dump, they should be taught a lesson that will impress them with the requirements of a modern city. If the street department neglects to provide safe thoroughfares for the people it will soon be severely criticized; but when such streets are provided, but people should be impressed with the necessity of keeping them clean and free from litter of any kind. To accomplish this the police and the board of health will have to use a little of their authority in the way that will do most good.

But the general clean-up should go on and it should apply to every street, alley and back yard in which the winter has left a trace of rubbish or debris.

TO CONTROL CONGRESS

Before the republicans can organize either house or senate of the next congress, it is evident that the leaders will have to do business with Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, whose followers in both houses are now connected to hold the balance of power. John M. Nelson, representative from Wisconsin, and Lieutenant of La Follette, has succeeded in organizing a bloc of 60 progressives or radicals and the work of organizing a senate bloc of the same character is now under way. Nelson's comments on his plans for the organization of the next house are somewhat illuminating. He says "It is not our purpose to disrupt the party; but we do intend to put progressive ideas to the front." The balance of power in the two houses of congress will be in the hands of the progressives. Mr. Nelson expressed the opinion that the president will support their policy and agree with their program.

But should the president oppose this new bloc or keep neutral, they will proceed without his sanction to rule the reactionary republican congress. It is alleged also by Mr. Nelson that there will be no election of speaker until the La Follette forces have approved the committees and they intend to control the Committee on Ways and Means, Interstate Commerce, the Committee on Rules, and the Steering committee. There is nothing of importance left in the line of committees; and if they can accomplish what they are planning, the rest of the membership may as well go home. Speaker Gillett will be elected by the bloc if he endorses their program and otherwise it is planned to defeat him.

In other words Mr. Nelson's bloc will cause no trouble whatsoever if it can be allowed to control legislation. This will call for the complete surrender of the reactionary leadership that held sway in the 67th congress. Is it any wonder that President Harding decides that it is inexpedient to call an extra session of congress?

He has had considerable trouble with congress during the last two years, but all of it put together would be trifling in comparison to what he will encounter if he has the courage to heed the La Follette bloc in the house and senate.

ART

A painting that took Issa Kovas 20 years to finish is exhibited at the Anderson galleries in New York. It is 12 by 18 feet. Some one found it in an old cellar in Budapest. Kovas, Hungarian artist, was famous, but he died almost in poverty.

Twenty years! Meantime, struggling with starvation.

If the average man put into his work as much enthusiasm and earnestness as does the average artist, success would be inevitable. Practical ability and "the sacred fire" rarely go together.

The city council should lose no time in providing better fire protection for Belvidere and the Oakland district. The first step will be the erection of a new firehouse, probably at Oakland square, but that would not increase the pressure which is an important consideration. Eventually it is probable that a stand-pipe will have to be erected in order to afford the pressure necessary for a fire in the higher altitudes of Belvidere.

The C.M.A.C. is to be congratulated upon the splendid club-house it has planned as an extension of its present quarters. The plan is magnificent as appears from an architect's drawing, and that the building will be a credit to the city as well as the owners is guaranteed by the fact that Mr. Blackall, architect of the Auditorium, is the architect employed by the C.M.A.C. to construct the new building.

The election commission may be excused for getting a little nervous over the delay in the enactment of the listing bill inasmuch as the work must be begun by April 1 and it will require some time to get the necessary forms arranged and to instruct the men who are to do the work.

One Question Answered

Uncle Theodore was staying with the Greens family. One day, wishing to see Mr. Green at his office, and not being able to find the number in the telephone directory, he called little Betty Green to him and asked: "Betty, what is your father's telephone number?" "Don't know uncle," was Betty's reply. "What does mother ask for," said uncle, patiently. "When she talks to daddy at the office," "Money," replied the child promptly.

Too Much Hemlock

The lumberjack was directed to proceed from camp to the nearest town and arrange for certain supplies. This entailed a long tramp through a forest composed of hemlock, for miles and miles he trudged through a never-ending growth of hemlock. At night he camped. The hemlock was hard to cut and when it was cut it made a poor fire. Hemlock roasts tripped him and boughs of hemlock scratched his face. So when he finally emerged it was not inappropriately that he remarked: "Josh all hemlock!"

'Twas All Right

After much excitement the Smiths had at last managed to catch the train and were on their way. The last five or six hours had to them been too full of hurry and bustle to think of anything but getting the train. Now, when they could sit quietly for a while, they began to wonder if they had left anything behind. "No," said Mr. Smith, with great satisfaction. "I think we have remembered everything." Mrs. Smith gave a shriek. "O, Harry," she gasped. "I forgot to turn off the electric iron, it's been burning all night." "Nothing to worry about," he replied, "nothing will burn, I forgot to turn off the shower bath."

"In my state," says a Kentuckian, "is a town so full of family feuds and quarrels that the account of any festivity but a peaceable nature. A recent wedding presented such unusual features that it was spoken of with wonder by the inhabitants of the town. I never saw anything pass off so pretty and calm as Bud and Harriet's wedding in all my days. Said one of the invited guests a week after the wedding: 'Why there wasn't a single casualty excepting Bill Thomas' black eye, and we got Henry Morton off him without half trying—you know we did. There didn't seem to be any what you might call family feeling at that wedding, anyhow!'"

Capitol Jokes

U. S. Representative A. P. Nelson from Wisconsin likes a good story and this is one of his favorites: Everybody thinks the other man's job is pretty soft. It's hard to realize the difficulties and hard work involved in a task that different from your own. He told farmer in the city was an example. The doctor had visited his house and one of his neighbors came over to inquire the reason. "My wife is sick," explained the farmer. "Don't know just what's the matter. She got up this morning and got breakfast for me and the kids, and then she had a 'wax' in' and baked some pies and bread—mebbe ten loaves or so—and then she churned and cleaned up the house a little and fed the pigs and chickens and weeded some of the garden and got dinner and was away and mendin' some this afternoon. Like she always does, when all of a sudden she keeled over. I can't think what's the matter, for she's been doin' housework like that without no trouble for nigh onto fifteen years."

Gonks on the Stage

One of Sir Barton Ronald's reminiscences concerns a production of Gluck's "Orfeo" in which real nunny goats were introduced in the scene depicting the elysian fields. "Our expectations were surpassed!" In the middle of Sir Barton's solo the nunny goats began to bleat all over the stage, the audience tittered and laughed, and the dramatic effect was ruined. Harris told me to rush around to Arthur Collins and get the nunny goats off the stage as quietly as ever he could. After much signing and pantomime to the fat Italian chorister, these nunny goats were eventually pulled off, amidst a roar of laughter from the audience. I went back to my seat to find Harris furious. However, things settled down again, but to our horror we heard the bleat in the distance about a quarter of an hour after we had believed the episode to be closed. The goats were back in the stage himself, using unparaphrased language to Arthur Collins, and asking why the nunny goats had not been taken entirely out of the building. Collins assured him that they were out of the building, when another bleat was heard. Harris shouted furiously. "Why I can hear one of those wretched beasts now!" "O, no," said Arthur Collins; "that's Signor Maudie's bleat at some story which Calve has just told him! It was so."

To a Grinch

If you're feeling grinchy
And the world set this all askew,
Don't blame the other fellow,
It's more likely you to you.
Just cultivate a cheerful smile
And say a kindly word;
Don't pass the ugly stick along,
It's really quite absurd.
A hearty heart is a merry heart
And life rolls on like a song
To the fellow who sings and whistles
When everything goes wrong;
Who, with head erect and marching
Majestically, makes living worth the while;
Who buries himself and his troubles,
In the sunshine of a smile.

He knows not of, nor yet cares he
Of the troubles of tomorrow;
He's not one day behind you
In the hurrying of the day,
But always one day ahead in the game
When others are retiring;
That the dark cloud he sees naught Else.

But the glorious silver lining,
REINHOLD D. WARD, 128 South St.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Work is progressing rapidly on the proposed park at the entrance to First street. This week I noticed a large gang of workmen filling in the gravel with ashes and other city debris in order to bring the land to a level. Old Varnum park at the corner of First and Bridge streets has completely lost its splendor, but the new addition will more than make up the temporary state of apparent desolation. When completed, the new park should prove a beautiful spot on the Centralville side of the river.

Holy Cross alumni in Lowell who attended a recent banquet of the American-Irish Historical society in Memorial hall, were disappointed somewhat when it was announced that Gov. William S. Flynn of Rhode Island, who was scheduled as the principal speaker, was unable to appear owing to a home affair which demanded his attention. The committee had arranged a special table for H. C. men in a conspicuous place in the hall, and it was also planned to give a reception to the governor, who was a classmate of Holy Cross with Dr. Francis Pinnegar, Lowell's director of school hygiene.

Not so many years ago, Paul Whiteman who appeared here with his orchestra a few months back, was stranded in Los Angeles. The other day news despatches stated that Paul Whiteman and his orchestra had sailed for London for a 10-weeks' visit. Paul has proved that jazz is the most popular form of music today. Soon after reaching New York from the west, he incorporated himself and now has about 21 bands playing about the country and is said to be earning a salary of $150,000 a year. Not so bad for a gent who was broke a short while ago in the City of the Angels.

An event which has escaped previous notice, took place at the evening lesson service in the Sacred Heart church last Sunday when a specially prepared musical program, under the direction of John J. Kelly, was pleasingly rendered. Among those who contributed to the program were Miss Ellen F. Lynch, soprano, who sang "Miserere," from Stabat Mater; Mr. Timothy Finnegan, "The Procession" by Rosini, and a trio, Mrs. Mary M. Mooney, John H. McMahon and George A. Kirwin in "Jesu Dei Fili." At the immaculate conception church after the high mass service and again in the evening, the choir sang the hymn to St. Patrick with great vim and expression. The solos were well sung and the chorus with the accompaniment of the great organ was truly inspiring.

When the spark of poetic thought, and possibly genius, is found in the breast of a child, it should be fanned and nurtured into life. Hyman Goldfarb, 11-year-old pupil in the 7th grade of the Charles W. Morley school, has been "making up" poems for some time, but not until today has he dared even to submit a specimen to one of them. Today, however, he made such a request in the interest of his poem. "Bedtime," herewith given:

When the clock has struck its eight
over,
And the lark is asleep in the clover,
My head, which feels dreary in want
of sleep,
Sees the road to dreamland so broad
and steep.

The sandman heaves above me,
And gradually sleep settles over me
For I journey to the land of immortals.
To the land that has no portals.

And there in that beautiful fairland,
Where gold is strewn about as sand,
The fairy, the bee, and so swift the fawn,
Never grow old as time flies on.

And there we can see an old, old fortress,
An old, old fortress with uprising
turrets.
My army of soldiers in order about me,
Are ready to stand and to fight for victory.

over,
And the lark is asleep in the clover,
My head, which feels dreary in want
of sleep,
Sees the road to dreamland, so broad
and steep.

SAM WALTER FOSS

LITERARY CLUB

"Gentlemen's Night" was held last night at Page's restaurant by the members of the Sam Walter Foss Literary club and their gentlemen guests. The affair was opened at 7 o'clock with the serving of a delicious turkey supper, and the first hour was given over to the enjoyment of the various courses placed before them by the caterer. After the dishes had been cleared away a musical program was given by the Mendelssohn sextet, Mr. C. Harry Howard leading, and readings were given by Mrs. Gage.

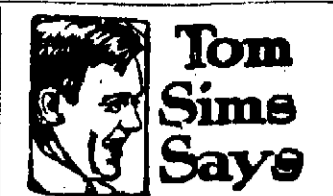

The program was as follows: "Song of the Vikings, sextet;" "Rose of My Heart," Mr. Patten; "Onward," sextet; "The Day of Glory," reading by Mrs. Gage; "The Blue Rose," Miss Thompson; "Uncle Dudley's Party," sextet; "Maymornest," Mr. Paskett; "I Love You," Miss Thompson and Mr. Needham; "Sweet and Low," Mr. Roberts; "Home," reading by Mrs. Gage; "The Bottom of the Sea," Mr. Needham; "Sweetest Story Ever Told," Miss Thompson and Mrs. Roberts; "Lucia," sextet; "Good Night," sextet.

Mrs. C. Harry Howard was in charge of the affair and was assisted by the other officers of the club. George H. Smith accompanied the sextet for the entire program.

U. S. Reclamation Engineers

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Here, where once a desert lay, desolate and bare,
Now a glad green country smiles, opulent and fair;
Floods that thundered madly down, raging through the land,
Now are held and leashed by Man, serving his command.

So a miracle appears,
Where the cactus ruled for half-a-million years,
Over dusty trails forlorn,
Now there's cotton, wheat and corn.

Thanks to U. S. Reclamation Engineers!

Here where lean coyotes howled, where mesquite had spread
Over league on barren league, thirsty, bleak and dead,
There are farms and villages, churches, homes and schools,
All because the engineers learned to use their tools.

So a miracle—a miracle appears,
And the driest land upon the hemispheres
Comes to blossom as the rose,
Growing everything that grows.

Thanks to U. S. Reclamation Engineers!

Manna in the wilderness, water on the plain,
That's what engineers have brought to this broad domain.
Dam and ditch and deep canal where the waters run,
They have wrought their magic under Arizona's sun.

So a miracle—a miracle appears,
And the desert wind that withers up and sears,
Has become a gentle breeze,
Sighing gently through the trees.

Thanks to U. S. Reclamation Engineers!

WOLVES HAUNT DREARY PLAINS

KAZAN, March 22.—The wolves have come back to the steppes. In the cold winter nights on the vast, desolate plains of the Tartar Republic, the nomadic tribes report, more wolves have been seen this year than for decades past. They have grown so bold that they howl at the very doors of the dug-outs or mud houses that the wandering Tchuvash and Bashkir people inhabit in the winter in place of their summer tents.

In the Tartar Republic, the Tchuvash and Bashkir territories, more than 40,000 head of cattle have already been destroyed by the wolves this winter. This destruction among live stock, already depleted by the famine, is so serious that the government has launched a campaign throughout the province to kill the wolves. Huge hunts are being organized. The population has very few rifles, and little or no ammunition on hand, therefore it is considered probable that soldiers of the Red Army will be used in a wolf drive.

MAYS GIVES REASON FOR POOR SHOWING

"I am going to show a lot of big league managers the coming season that I am far from through as a big leaguer. I will win 20 games for the Yankees."

There you have the ultimatum from a pitcher on whom 15 of the 16 major league clubs waived.

The solution offered by Mays for his poor showing last year is logical. The success of Mays' peculiar underhand delivery depends on how low he is able to get with the ball. A wristling that was four or five inches too high last summer seriously handicapped Mays in starting the ball low.

Mays has two distinct deliveries. An underhand curve thrown with fair speed that rises and breaks out as it nears the batter. His fast ball, delivered in much the same way, but with greater speed, breaks down much like a spitball.

As a result, the batsman was constantly at sea as to what to expect. Early last season it was apparent that May's fast ball was missing. That enabled the batters to get for the underhand curve, and hit May's to advantage.

May's promise to be faster than ever this year. If so, he will be bad news to batting averages.

"Yesterday rubbing till you ached—today soaking takes the place of rubbing"
For all wash day methods—soaking, boiling or for washing machines

The suds of this new soap soak the dirt right out

*With this new kind of soap all but actually ground-in dirt comes out
easily - safely*

WITH this new kind of soap, soaking takes the place of rubbing.

Simply soaking in its thick, lasting suds loosens all the dirt. Even the places where dirt gets ground-in—seats and knees of children's play clothes, cuff-edges and neck-bands of men's shirts—need only a light rubbing.

The old way of washing meant ceaseless rubbing—rubbing soap here and there on the clothes and then rubbing the clothes—a long-drawn-out method. It was so tiring, and it was hard on the clothes, too. But it was the only way to get the dirt out.

Now Rinso has changed all this. It is so rich in pure soap, yet so gentle and mild, that soaking in its big lasting suds takes the place of rubbing.

The only places you have to rub the dirt out are where somebody rubbed it in, and even these places you have to rub but lightly.

Where this light rubbing is necessary just sprinkle on a little dry Rinso. The most obstinate spots will disappear at once.

You need no soap powder or other soap with Rinso. It takes the place of bar soap for every washing method. It does the whole job.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap-makers in the world. It is as wonderful for the regular week-in, week-out family wash as Lux is for fine things—just as easy and safe to use.

All grocery and department stores have Rinso in two sizes—in the regular size and the big new package.

Get Rinso today and learn what wonderful results you can get, and how much of the drudgery of wash-day you can do away with. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

If you have a washing machine

These washing machine manufacturers say to use Rinso in their machines—Apex, Bluebird, Coffield, "1900" Cataract, Gainaday, Getz, Haag, Horton, Laundryette, Meadows, One Minute, Rotarex, Sunnysuds, Surf, Trojan, Voss

These men advise the public to use Rinso in their washing machines just as the textile manufacturers advise the public to wash their fabrics in Lux.

"We have tried out Rinso and other soaps—many of them good—in our machine, but for all 'round satisfaction we recommend Rinso." That's what the president of the Rotarex Company says.

The president of the Laundryette Company writes: "We found no little soapy particles floating around in the water in our tests with Rinso as we did with some of the other soaps. Twelve minutes was the average operating period with Rinso and not a single article had to be hand rubbed."

DISSOLVE — USE ENOUGH — SOAK

THESE are the simple directions for using Rinso. Just dissolve Rinso in boiling water in a saucepan. Make a good thick solution. Fill your tub with luke-warm water until tub is half full. Pour your solution into the tub. Then put in your clothes. Be sure that the suds stand up even after the clothes are in; if they do not, add a little more of the Rinso solution. Let the clothes soak an hour—all night if you wish. (Colored clothes, of course, not longer than half an hour.) Then rinse them out.

With Rinso you will find you do not have to boil, but if you like to boil your white cottons, pour enough Rinso solution into your boiler to give you the suds you like.

If you have a washing machine, use enough Rinso solution to give good suds. Rinso suds have just the body needed in the washing machine.

WITH RINSO YOU NEED NO OTHER SOAP

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY THREW HER OUT OF HOUSE

Woman Says Cellar of Head of House of David "Filled With Beer"

GRAND RAPIDS, March 21.—Testimony in a cellar full of beer "to purge the soul" was given in federal court today in the suit against the House of David for an accounting.

Mrs. Emma Loretta, of Newark, N. J., a former preacher of the cult, asserted that the basement of Shiloh, the residence of Benjamin David Purnell, head of the cult, was "filled with beer."

"Benjamin called it foam and said it purged his soul," she declared. "He drank it continually."

The witness also asserted there was drunkenness among the girls at Shiloh. Mrs. Loretta testified she entered the colony from Birmingham, Ala., with her mother in 1906, and asserted that she was subjected to improper advances by Purnell within two months after her entrance.

"One day," she continued, "he called me into the bathroom. He was in the tub and three other girls were there."

"One winter the colony had a hard time keeping body and soul together," Mrs. Loretta testified. "We nearly starved, but Benjamin and his wife, Mary, lived like lords. They drank cream and ate California fruits out of season at a table set with costly silver."

A "spy system" existed in the colony by which Purnell learned of every life of gossip that went the rounds of his followers, the witness testified. She also said a mock trial board was established and that secret punishments were inflicted upon those who failed to abide by Purnell's orders. Women who refused Purnell's advances, Mrs. Loretta testified, were attacked.

WILLARD MACK

ZAZU PITTS, WHO DID SUCH EXCELLENT WORK AS APPLE ANNIE IN "POOR MEN'S WIVES," HAS ANOTHER COMEDY ROLE IN "THE GIRL WHO CAME BACK."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, March 21.—Saw Henry Bell, Mary Fowler and others in "Roger Bloomer," new equity players show. Roger, poor boy, was trying to find himself. In the old days of court reporting I would have diagnosed his case as dementia praecox. If you know what that means... Saw Walter Hiers, Jacqueline Logan and others in "Mr. Billings Spends His Time." Hiers has something more than fat to entitle him to consideration as an entertainer...

When you see "Your Friend and Mine" on the screen you will see what is close to being a one-man picture. Willard Mack wrote it originally as a vaudeville sketch, played in it many years and when it was bought for the screen he was engaged for a leading role and acted as assistant to the director, Clarence Badger.

Noah Beery keeps on the jump these days. He's working simultaneously in "Main Street," "The Spellers," and "Wandering Daughters."

Alice Terry and Norman Navarro will have the leads in Rex Ingram's pictorialization of "Saramouche." Edith Allen, whom Ingram "found" in a Broadway musical comedy, will make her screen debut in an important role.

Majel Coleman, new film actress, recently was adjudged to have the most beautiful hands in California in a Los Angeles contest.

Leo Moran has started a series of comedies based on Aling Lardner's "You Know Me, Al" stories.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

CHICAGO, March 21.—Jack Lannigan, a former friend of Dorothy Keenan, or King, who was found chloroformed in her New York apartment, today categorically denied he had quarrelled with the slain woman three weeks ago. Lannigan, former owner of Broadway cabarets, said he had nothing to conceal.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 21.—The senate today by a vote of 22 to 7 passed over Governor Baxter's veto the act to incorporate the Kennebec Reservoir Co., after a spirited debate.

LONDON, March 21.—(By the Associated Press) The test between labor and the government over Philip Snowden's motion for legislation designed to supersede the capitalist system by a socialist order has been postponed to allow another day of debate after the Easter recess.

MIAMI, Fla., March 21.—While the public today is tired of political talk, according to Attorney General Daugherty, President Harding will be nominated without contest in 1924. Mr. Daugherty so stated last night in commenting on his previous declaration that Mr. Harding would be the party candidate in 1924.

MONTPELIER, Vt., March 21.—The house of representatives today killed a bill to levy a six per cent. tax on income of intangibles and two per cent. on other income. The vote was 112 to 105.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Local agents of the Italian steamship Glia, which was reported in distress yesterday, about 700 miles east of New York, said today that they were without further advice.

HAVERHILL, March 21.—The crew of the Frost & Glynn Co. 21 Hale st., cut sole manufacturers, numbering 10 operatives, was called out on strike this morning by the Shoe Workers' Protective Union. The strike call resulted from the discharge of a worker.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The purpose of the British government in forming the United States that its warships had not been altered by increasing gun range and defensive armament is interpreted in naval quarters here as having probably been intended to answer charges in parliament that the admiralty was violating the Washington treaty.

BOY FATALITY INSURED

NEWPORT, R. I., March 21.—The police are holding John DeWay of Andover, 127011, who held up the jewelry store of Edward O. Zernitz here today, escaping with $5000 worth of rings, watches and other articles. The police sent an alarm to cities and towns north of here. Two hours after the robbery, the Meriden police arrested two men on a trolley car entering that city. This prisoner had revolvers and jewelry in their pockets and were held as the Zernitz holdup men.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Receivers of the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad received permission today from the interstate commerce commission to abandon operations upon the entire line, which with branches includes 234 miles of track in southern Illinois.

NEW YORK, March 21.—A report of the public health committee of the New York Academy of Medicine made public today declared that certain sections of the metropolis have been made dangerous to human health by the exhaust from automobile engines.

DENVER, Colo., March 21.—A deputy United States marshal failed last night to locate the Rev. Walter A. Grace, pastor of the Shrine of St. Anne, at Arvada, a suburb of Denver. The deputy had a warrant for the priest's arrest. Further trace is charged with having forged the name of Sister Germaine, Sister Superior of the Stullen Home for the Aged, to an application for five barrels of whiskey.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 21.—James Kowalski, a miner, was found early today in the Stanton mine after being lost in the underground workings since last Saturday afternoon. He is in a hospital recovering from his experience.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—More cotton spindles were in place and the average number operated was greater during February than in January, the census bureau announced today.

BOSTON, March 21.—Mrs. Ann R. Richards, wife of Calvin A. Richards, who was president of the old Metropolitan Railway Co. of this city, left $25,000 to establish a fund for annual excursions by children of the poor here. In the will which was probated today.

SHAKEUP AMONG DRY AGENTS
WASHINGTON, March 21.—A shakeup among prohibition agents in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to be followed by intensive enforcement campaign in those states, was forecast today, at prohibition headquarters here.

Flu Plays Havoc in This City

Reports from Washington, D. C. have been sent to all points of the country, to the effect that the death rate for the week ending March 18 among children was higher in Lowell than in any other city. And that influenza and pneumonia were the principal factors in the increase of mortality.

If parents would only take the proverbial ounce of prevention in protecting their children from pneumonia, there would be fewer mortalities to report.

There is a preventive for pneumonia that careful mothers and fathers would do well to investigate. It is called Allen's Lung Healer and has accomplished wonders with children and grown-ups alike. It is perfectly safe and harmless for the smallest babe in the cradle. Contains no narcotics whatsoever.

ENGLAND AROUSED BY SNOWDEN'S ATTACK

LONDON, March 21. (By the Associated Press.)—The extraordinary interest aroused by Philip Snowden's attack on capitalism in the house of commons was shown yesterday when Premier Bonar Law conceded, at the suggestion of Sir Laming Worthington Evans, that another day should be given after the Easter recess for further discussion of Mr. Snowden's motion.

In moving his motion, which denounced "The capitalist system" as a failure, and proposed that legislation be directed towards its gradual suppression, by an industrial and social order based upon public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production, Mr. Snowden declared that capitalism had not only failed to give the people a good world to live in, but had failed adequately to utilize natural resources and productive power.

The significance of Mr. Snowden's challenge is that he, with J. Ramsay MacDonald and other leaders of the party, belong to the independent left wing of the parliamentary labor party and numbers as out of a total of 112 labor members of the house. This wing represents, however, not revolutionary socialism, but rather what is generally termed intellectual socialism, aiming at gradual socialism.

EXPLAIN HEATING SYSTEM TO STUDENTS

The students in the physics classes at the Lowell high school were conducted through the heating system of the high school today for the purpose of learning the principles of steam and water and their action. Mr. Harris conducted the tour and he believed that such a trip is worth a whole lot more to them than a week's study of the action and re-action of these elements. As the students passed from the boiler house to the different rooms in the basement of the school, Mr. Harris instructed them as to the reasons for certain installations, and described the work done by the boiler, the pipes and the radiators. The students enjoy such a period much better than a common recital period, and Mr. Harris believes that such instruction teaches them much more than they could learn without actually seeing a plant in operation.

TO FREE VAN BUSKIRK

BOSTON, March 21.—The release of Ambrose Van Buskirk, a prisoner at the Bridgewater State hospital for the insane under life commitment for the killing of Mrs. Katherine Gray at Andover in 1913, was voted by the governor's council today. Dr. George M. Kline, commissioner of mental diseases, made the request for release, explaining that Van Buskirk, who was found to be insane at the time of the assault, had since recovered.

COUNTERFEITERS SENTENCED

BOSTON, March 21.—William Heppolous, who had passed so many $5 bills raised in $20 denominations in New England that he had half a dozen secret service agents on his trail at one time, pleaded guilty in the federal court today and was sentenced to two years in Plymouth jail. Manchester, N. H., Springfield and Worcester were cons for his operations.

John Christopoulos, confederate of William Heppolous, was convicted as a counterfeiter, was found guilty of conspiracy by a federal jury and sentenced to three years at Atlanta.

APPRENTICESHIP COMMISSION

BOSTON, March 21.—The report of a joint committee on apprenticeship upon whose recommendation establishment of an apprenticeship commission has been authorized by the Building Trades Council and the Boston Building Congress, was made public today. The commission will have in its membership representatives of labor, contractors, architects, engineers and material interests.

The committee finds that there is a definite shortage of young men being trained in the various building trades. The commission is designed to devise a general scheme of apprenticeship through co-operation between mechanics and employers.

Jack Daw in Balloon Land. Chapter 19

Of course, you won't be surprised to know that Jack Daw, the little adventurer, is very fond of candy. That's why we find him looking in a candy store window, admiring the various chocolates, bonbons, and other sweets. Jack is trying to decide what kind of candy he will buy.

There were so many different kinds that Jack finally decided that he would buy a big box with a little of everything in it. Entering the store he handed the candy man his money and told him what he wanted. Soon Jack was out on the street again. Wonder where I'll go now, he thought.

Suddenly an idea came to him. I'll just walk over into the woods, find a big tree and sit down and eat my candy, said Jack to himself. He called to his dog, Flip, to follow him and was soon seated beneath a large oak tree. Then he started to unwrap his fine box of sweets. (Continued.)

Adventures of The Twins

THE SCHOOLMASTER WAS RINGING HIS BELL AS THE TWINS PASSED AND HE ASKED THEM IN.

And you can imagine, my dears, day, Wednesday, Tuesday, Monday," how the schools got mixed up in Mix-up Land.

The schoolmaster was ringing his bell as the twins passed and he asked them in.

So they thanked him and went inside.

"The scholars sat with their backs to the teacher, the writing on the blackboards was upside down, and the stove was on the ceiling. Instead of taking their wraps off, the children put them on, and instead of taking their books out to study, they hid them away. Everybody talked at once and nobody learned a thing.

"What shape is the earth?" asked the schoolmaster.

"Square!" answered the school.

"Good! Now spell 'boy,'" commanded the master.

"G-I-L-L!" spelled the school.

"Name the days of the week!" was the next thing.

"Sunday, Saturday, Friday, Thurs-

"How many eggs in a dozen?" "Eleven."

"Where is the north pole?" "In the middle of the earth."

"Where's the moon?" "At the bottom of the sea?"

"What is five and five?" "Nothing."

"Say our A B C's."

"Z Y X W V U T S R Q P O N M L K J I H G F E D C B A," answered the school promptly.

"Fine!" declared the schoolmaster proudly. "You are smart children and have nothing more to learn. There is no use having school any more. You are dismissed for good."

"Don't you mean until Mix-Up Land turns back into Apple-Pie land?" asked Nick.

"Yes," said the schoolmaster. "But it doesn't look much like it."

Here, too, the first ambassador from Japan was entertained. Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, and all the presidents from Lincoln to McKinley registered at the Continental. Other noted guests included Clara Louise Kellogg, grand opera star; Mme. Melba, Lilian Russell and Joseph Jefferson.

J. R. Kinney, a manager of the Continental, once averted a situation that might have proved embarrassing for President Andrew Johnson. The mayor of Philadelphia had refused to receive the nation's chief executive, and Mr. Johnson was welcomed in Parlor C of the hotel through the courtesy of the manager. A committee of citizens extended the city's hospitality.

In Parlor C important meetings and conventions were later held. These included the Pan-American Congress of 30 years ago.

FIXED DATE FOR EASTER
LONDON, March 22.—An effort is being made by a number of Englishmen led by Lord Desborough to obtain a general agreement on the question of a fixed date for Easter.

Lord Desborough recently stated that a motion to this effect will be offered at the next meeting of the international chamber of commerce on the ground that the variance of Easter is inconvenient not only to business people, but also to the legal profession and to schools and universities. He will leave next month for Rome to ask the Pope to consider the matter.

It is understood that the heads of the church of England have already been approached on the subject, but have answered that they had not the power to change the present system.

It has been suggested that the second Sunday in April should be fixed as the immovable date.

MORTGAGES—SALE OF REAL ESTATE
By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale vested in a certain mortgage given by William F. Salmon to John J. Gardner dated Nov. 19, 1921, and recorded with Middlesex North District Clerk, Book 452, Page 23, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction on eleven o'clock in the forenoon on the fourteenth day of April, A. D. 1923, on the premises, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit: The land in said Lowell with buildings thereon situated on the southerly side of Ludlum street, in said Lowell, and being lot number 13 on a plan of land entitled Plan of Land in Lowell, Mass., belonging to Charles S. Lilley, Trustee, Smith and Brooks, C. E. March, 1894, recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of Middlesex.

Said lot is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northeast corner of the premises at lot 12 on said plan; thence southeasterly by said lot 12 one hundred seven and 89-100 feet; thence northeasterly thirty-nine and 1-10 feet to lot 14 on said plan; thence northwesterly by said lot 14 about one hundred six and 90-100 feet to said Ludlum street; thence westerly by said Ludlum street about thirty-nine feet to the point of beginning.

Containing four thousand one hundred eighty-four square feet, more or less, and being the same premises to the said Salmon conveyed by the said John J. Gardner by his deed recorded with said Registry.

The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to a mortgage to the City Institution for Savings for the principal sum of fifteen hundred dollars and accumulated interest, and subject also to any and all taxes, municipal assessments and regulations of record if any shall hereafter be levied or assessed.

The purchaser will be required to pay $200 in cash at the time and place of sale, and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at 12 o'clock noon.

BACK FROM BERMUDA MUSIC OF SCANDINAVIA

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Conway Had Delightful Trip to Island of Flowers

Pleasing Lecture Recital by the Crescendo Club in Liberty Hall

Master lilacs, English tea roses, palm trees, banana trees and paw-paws were but incidentals in the delightful itinerary of exotic charm provided in abundance for Mr. and Mrs. John T. Conway, of this city, who have just returned from a visit to the island of Bermuda refreshed and invigorated after a brief sojourn filled with rare attractions and novel incidents.

The ocean voyage to Bermuda started from New York early this month, accommodations of tip-top quality being secured on the steamship S. S. George. Hamilton was reached in 48 hours, after a somewhat tempestuous voyage across the briny. The hotel was filled, as always, with Americans. The temperature each day averaged about 75 degrees above the zero mark, and the nights were always warm with 65 being the normal glass registration. Although Bermuda has had a recent rainy season, the sun shone every day the Conways were there.

Bathing in the ocean waters was the rule—three times a day. Visits along the wonderfully smooth, white roads of the island to other resorts including St. George's, were the rule. Interesting visits were paid, also, to places of unusual charm, including "Devil's Hole," "Crystal Cove" and other varied attractions that excite wonder and curiosity on the part of all vacationists.

The beaches for miles are white and smooth and "hard-pressed," forming a floor that is pleasant to walk upon and stretching away into charming vistas along the ocean blue waters.

Wonderful and strangely formed fish abound in Bermudian waters, the angel fish being popular attractions, also flying fish, that appeared to be putting on a special performance every time Mr. and Mrs. Conway strolled away from the Hamilton to get a closer view of the English water scenery.

Bermuda farmers are busy raising parsley—immense acres of it—kale, mulberries, bananas and carrots. Onion beds are also wide in acreage, the Bermuda onion being far different than the alleged "Bermuda" raised and shipped from Florida farmlands. A Bermuda onion, in fact—that is, a genuine Bermuda—is a delicious past session and a health-producing, the bargain. In fact, eating onions is one of the best little appetite exciters of all American foods.

The orange crops in Bermuda today are passing out. A few small orchards are found here and there, but since the terrible disease blight hit the Bermuda orchards about five years ago, the dirt farmers living outside the chief cities and towns, are turning their field agricultural pursuits to other lines of production, with parsley beds in the lead at present.

Flowers of the exotic kind, brilliant hues, quick-growing and wonderful withal, provide pictures of rare beauty for American vacationists. Easter lilies are everywhere, growing under simple cultivation and appearing in beautiful array in battalions of formation, all over the English island. The lilies in Bermuda are not costly. They make a beautiful journey both north and south, and the sight of great fields of lilies demanding attention from the first.

The Conways saw one whale about a mile away from the tourist ship while going to Bermuda. A few spots, or four huge somersaults and the ocean monster was gone on the road to Davy Jones' hand.

Moving picture kings and queens through the hotels and labyrinths of old Bermuda. The lasky families were all there. The big pool and ocean cove where Appette Kellerman, water man, and movie artist, "made" her famous movie picture, "A Daughter of the Gods," was pointed out by all excursionists as a place of historic note.

Several American tourists arrived in Bermuda from extended voyages through the West Indies, when the Conways were at the Hamilton. They were in Bermuda, and the private yacht that carried them around the islands, appeared to be painted in golden colors to make the voyage of the Conways family difficult proper and representative in the usual advertising way.

Crops in Bermuda flourish exceedingly all the year around. The rule is to have at least three crops of Bermuda potatoes each twelve-month.

To make a long story short, Mr. and Mrs. Conway are very much in love with Bermuda.

Sponsors of a delightful and artistic lecture recital on "Music of Scandinavia," the Crescendo club, an organization of Lowell young women, all greatly interested in good music as well as being expert musicians, gave an excellent entertainment last evening in Liberty hall. Mrs. Mary G. Reed of Boston, pianist, being the attraction. The entertainer is well known here, having numerous pupils in Lowell and vicinity. Mrs. Reed was assisted last evening in her splendid program by Miss Edna Shinn of this city, mezzo soprano, and Miss Margaret Martin, also of Lowell, who accompanied Miss Shinn.

Miss Reed first told of recent travels through Norway, in order that the audience might better understand the mood and characteristics of the music that she played. Numerous presentations of the work of great Scandinavian composers were then given. Mrs. Reed played two of Composer Torjus's shorter pieces and followed with one by Lassen. Miss Shinn sang a group of old folk songs. Mrs. Reed afterward gave delightful accounts of the life and compositions of Edward Grieg, and played several characteristic numbers written by this composer, the list including "Butterfly," "Ich Liebe Dich" and "Walk on the Hillsides." The last composer whom Mrs. Reed spoke of was Jan Sibellius, whose works are now popular in this country although the composer is not widely known. One of the Sibellius pieces that charmed last evening was "From the Land of a Thousand Lakes."

The ushers last evening were Misses Dorothy Farley, Mildred Rock, Mildred Denver and Ellen Martin. The officers of the Crescendo club are President Leonia Chiff, Vice-President Margaret Martin, Secretary Mildred Denver and Treasurer Dorothy Farley.

ICE AND SNOW IS GETTING A MOVE ON

Continued warm temperatures today resulted in more snow and ice disappearances by the air lines, the spring breezes downtown streets today are more cleanly with less ice, mud and water to be found that has been the case on previous days.

Workers continue to clean up large banks of ice and snow on the highways leading from the centre of the city. The work is progressing well along Western and Chestnut sts. and other busy thoroughfares. Con- traville has its workmen, too, and last night the final load was removed from Bridge street in the immediate business section.

Conditions are favorable for further quick melting of snow and ice, if the rain comes on the way to Lowell, arrives on time and remains for 48 hours, as predicted. Cloudiness steadily increased all day, with indications of rain tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures will remain fairly normal until tomorrow evening, when a tiny cold wave, said to be on the way from the northwest, may reach Lowell and vicinity. Saturday will be fair with temperatures affected by southerly winds shifting to west and northwest.

WHO OWNS THIS CARRIER PIGEON

A pure white carrier pigeon, evidently a young bird of value, and wearing one of its legs a brass circlet on which the number 23 is inscribed, has been taken in and is being cared for by a Fort Hill avenue family. The bird has been in that neighborhood since last Friday and when taken it seemed to be suffering from exposure and lack of food.

Daniel B. Hogan, chairman of the city board of assessors, has taken an interest in the bird and will be glad to receive any information regarding it, that arrangements may be made to return it to its owner or station, if it is the property of the government. Mr. Hogan may be reached at his home by telephone No. 4875.

WERE TOO CLOSE TO GAMING IMPLEMENTS

Fines of $5 each were imposed on James Collins, Pike Mahler, Apostolis Souleates, George Fondas, James Apostolis, Demetrius Prolos and George James, when they were found guilty in the district court this morning of being present where gaming implements were found. John Pappas failed to appear and was defaulted.

The men were arrested last night at 72 Jefferson street by Sgt. Whit and Officers Moore, Conney and Noonan.

VETERANS PLAN ANNUAL SUMMER OUTING

Plans for the annual summer outing of the Grand Army Veterans of Massachusetts were announced today at headquarters of local Post 120. Lowell veterans of the Civil war will go to the Weirs, N. H., for at least two weeks in August.

In preparation for the gathering of funds with which to send several aged and needy comrades to The Weirs this season and pay all expenses, Women's Relief Corps members of the Lowell district will hold a "veterans' supper" in Post 120 hall on the night of Thursday, March 29, at 8 o'clock.

Ladies of the Woman's Relief corps branches will serve the meal and all funds will be devoted to swelling the coffers of the veterans' association, in order that every local Grand Army man who needs assistance and desires to go to New Hampshire for two weeks in August, may go there and be well taken care of.

The March 29 supper will be served in James A. Garfield banquet hall under the direction of Mrs. John Daniels and Mrs. Frances Coburn, aided by Mrs. Ada Myrick. The first two ladies are deeply interested in The Weirs' outing program, and other events of a similar kind will be held later on to increase the amount of funds required to pay for the veterans' trip to Lake Winnepesaukee.

There will be whist in the afternoon and evening on the day of the supper.

Deut. Charles H. Stickney, quartermaster of Post 120, who has been ill with pneumonia and a complication of diseases at his Lowell home for the past five weeks, made his first appearance since his recovery by walking down town today and meeting old comrades. He has had the toughest fight of his career, he says, but admits that he has an unparalleled constitution that is still vigorous with a

LOWELL MEN SENTENCED IN SUPERIOR COURT

George Lampos, who appealed a fine of $150 and a sentence of three months to the house of correction for illegal gaming, when the case was called in the local district court some time ago, changed his plea to that of guilty in the superior court at East Cambridge on March 20 and received the same fine and sentence.

Charles Zardonouice, of 18 Bent's street, was fined $100 and sentenced to one month in the house of correction. He previously appealed a like disposition of the case in the district court here.

THINKS OTHER MILLS WILL FOLLOW SUIT

When informed yesterday of the action of the American Woolen Co. in granting a 12 1/2 per cent wage increase to its employees, President Thomas P. McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America, who is now in Providence, R. I., said the action of the company will soon be followed by other mills, woolen, worsted and cotton, throughout New England, including Lowell.

Mr. McMahon stated that he was very pleased to hear of the announcement. He said he thought it would come, but expected it would be more. "We have gained the first link in our chain," he continued, "but this will make no difference in the plans of the United Textile Workers of America. We shall insist on fighting for an advance of 25 per cent, for an advance recently demanded in Fall River and elsewhere." Mr. McMahon further stated that he had heard reports that a meeting of the manufacturers had recently been held in Boston, and such a plan for advanced wages decided upon, long time to go. The lieutenant is more than 80 years of age and looks considerably younger.

RIVER IS LOWER AT THE PAWTUCKET DAM

Two feet lower at the Pawtucket dam. Spring water-rush records on the Merrimack at Pawtucket dam were running backwards again today, with the actual height of the stream above the rap of the big dam two feet lower than the level reached several days ago.

The lowering of the depth of the stream so suddenly has caused town talk, to the great dismay of the utility-mate disaster prophets and high-water reporters looking for first page stuff.

The Merrimack broke all records this morning in unexpected fashion by refusing to get into the news columns under double-column heads and declining also to maintain its speed of yesterday.

This noon the waters still clear and free from broken ice floes and dangerous debris, was pulling softly down the valley above Pawtucket dam under their ice, trimming its softening top as it went along without causing blockades or moving pictures.

The big measurement blackboard hanging in the water on the far and near the thick cap of the dam, showed a water depth of just four feet and one inch at noon.

No section of the big solid field of thick ice up river has shown indication of breaking up. The field starts directly from the edge of Pawtucket dam on the Varnum avenue side, and is only open spot in the river above the dam is a space about one acre in size, which is smooth and free from ice floes. From the open space backward all the way up the Merrimack the river is a huge ice house loaded with ice, the river can be crossed safely by anyone desiring to take the risk, which is of course not advised.

The ice close to the river-creased open spot close to the river-creased open spot, just seven inches in thickness. Up by the ice houses and behind measurements show the depth of the ice blanket to run anywhere from 11 to 12 inches.

Large masses of "chalk" ice, so-called by river men, came down the river from the north "acre" of about a water this side of the stream, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, did a whirlpool for a few minutes above the flashboards on the east side of the dam and then plunged overboard down onto the rocks below. The ice was a bit too heavy for the top flashboards to hold when the rush started, and the result was a slither of two long 16-foot sections bent "south" that looked this morning like a big piece of India rubber bulging out as it actually stretching.

Walter Courtney, gate-keeper, says he never saw flashboards hold so firmly, the board now bent outward down stream, having a curve of at least two feet, indicating quality lumber and staunch iron staples as well as good workmanship in installation of same. With the exception of these two lengths of bulging flashboards, the remainder of the "wooden line" is holding firm for the present.

A little research work this morning in the official records of high and low waters at Pawtucket dam by the courteous Mr. Courtney, provided the fact that the height of the water just a year ago today was exactly the same as this morning's registration. The highest water last year on the river's "first rise," came on March 31, but the depth above the cap of the dam was then but six feet. The highest last season was on the river's "second rise" on April 13, when the big measuring rule was wet seven feet and one, one-half inch over the cap line.

LOWELL RETAIL JEWELERS MEET

The Lowell Retail Jeweler's association held an informal meeting this morning with the secretary, Frank J. Ricard, presiding. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the proposed opening of a jewelry auction store here by a firm that is not known. As the president, was out of town, no definite action was taken.

Mr. Ricard stated that whatever action held an informal meeting this morning with the secretary, Frank J. Ricard, presiding. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the proposed opening of a jewelry auction store here by a firm that is not known. As the president, was out of town, no definite action was taken.

Some time ago the association drew up an ordinance regulating such auctioneers and presented it to the city council. This was about a year ago and since that time they have had nothing further in regard to it. They do not think that they should do anything more than bring the matter to the attention of the council and leave whatever action is taken up to the city government.

Today was deferred until the mayor had an opportunity to discuss the entire matter with the civil service commissioner.

Mayor Donovan said before leaving for Boston that he is prepared to submit certain evidence to the commissioner which he feels would make Mr. MacKenzie ineligible for the position he seeks and for which he has been certified along with Messrs. Sullivan and Preston.

"If the commissioner wants this information, I will present it to him," stated the mayor, "and if he then feels that such information does not affect Mr. MacKenzie's eligibility, the latter will remain in third place on the list." The mayor made it clear also that whatever information he has concerning Mr. MacKenzie, has been given to him by a member of the election commission and is not his by personal knowledge.

MAYOR AND CITY SOLICITOR IN BOSTON

Mayor John J. Donovan and City Solicitor Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan are in Boston this afternoon, conferring with the civil service commissioner relative to certain information the mayor has and which he feels should have some bearing upon the eligibility of Collin H. MacKenzie as a candidate for the position of custodian and building manager of the Memorial Auditorium.

SMALL GARDEN DRIVE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Miss Lee Will Endeavor to Interest Children in Home Gardens

Miss Alice T. Lee, supervisor of primary schools and director of school gardens, is just starting a campaign to work up interest among the school children for home gardens. The first part of her campaign will be to visit the schools and talk with the different classes about these gardens and to find out how many have home plots that they can use and are willing to use for this purpose. Each group that agrees to plant this year will have a president who will act as chairman of their meetings and take care of any questions that arise.

As soon as the weather permits, these children will be given supplies of flower and vegetable seeds and will be instructed as to how to plant them and their heads after they show their buds above the ground. Methods and kinds of fertilizers will be discussed and the kind chosen that best fits the needs of each individual. Miss Lee already has on hand about 5000 packages of seeds, but whether or not this will be enough cannot be told until the complete enrollment of all the schools is made up.

Home gardening has been a voluntary subject in the school curriculum for the past several years, it receiving its greatest impulse during war times when everyone was urged to plant seed for the food they would need later in the year. This subject has proved to be exceedingly popular in the past and Miss Lee hopes that just as many or more will plant this year as did last year. Co-operation with the parents is necessary if the best results are to be obtained from this home gardening as in most instances the father of the child can help considerably with advice as to when and how to cultivate the young shoots.

The idea of the home-gardening is to create interest among the children for gardening and to give them some thing that will keep their interest during the summer months when there is no school. It also keeps them outdoors in the warm weather and makes them better physically, and finally their work is rewarded when the plants bear fruit and they are able to eat of the things that they have grown.

Boston Firm Buys Mansur Block

CENTRAL AUTOMOBILE TIRE COMPANY BUYS ONE OF CITY'S OLDEST AND BEST KNOWN BLOCKS

Big Real Estate Deal Announced Today

—Sale Price Reported to Be About $190,000—Building and Land Assessed for Over $182,000

The Mansur block at 97 Central street, one of the oldest downtown buildings, was sold today to the Central Automobile Tire Co., a Boston concern, which is operating a chain of stores in various cities of New England. The sale, which is considered one of the largest in this city in a long time, was effected through the office of Walter E. Guyette, and it is said the sale price was in the vicinity of $190,000. It is the intent of the purchaser to improve the building at a cost of approximately $50,000.

The Mansur block stands on land originally known as the Aaron Mansur tract and on a spot formerly occupied by a saw mill. It was one of the first commercial buildings erected in this city, having been built in 1838. Some 35 years ago when the Mansur estate was divided between the Nesmith and the Mason heirs, the building was remodeled by the Nesmith estate.

William Braxer opened a hat store in the original building and upon his death the business was taken over by his family and in 1911 by Dickerman & McQuade, who have still a lease on the ground floor and basement of the property. In the early days of the building its third floor which is now occupied by a saw mill.

HERDED 40 GIRLS IN HIS ATTIC

Witness Says Purnell Hid Women When He Feared Visit of Authorities

Put Men's Clothes in Girls' Rooms to Give Impression They Had Husbands

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 22.—(By the Associated Press) How Benjamin Purnell, head of the Israelite House of David colony at Benton Harbor, is alleged to have herded 40 girls in Shiloh, his home, into the attic of the residence when he feared a visit by federal investigators, was revealed in federal court today during trial of the suit against the colony instigated by John and Margaret Hansell.

The testimony was given by Mrs. Hazel Wuerth, former high priestess and preacher in the cult, who is a witness for the plaintiffs.

"Benjamin told the girls in Shiloh that there was to be a special investigation and that officers were coming to make medical examinations of us," Mrs. Wuerth testified. "He put a coat, a pair of men's trousers and a vest in the room of each girl to give the impression that we had husbands living with us."

"After we had been in the attic two or three hours, Mary brought us down Benjamin said 'That's the time we fooled them.'"

CITIZENS TO BE INVITED

Textile Council Accepts Suggestions Made by Cotton Manufacturers' Association

Conference Tomorrow Afternoon to Discuss Demand for Wage Increase

FALL RIVER, March 22.—The Fall River Textile Council today forwarded to the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association, a letter adopting the suggestion made to the council by the Manufacturers' Association that a committee of citizens, not to exceed five, be present at the conference tomorrow afternoon for a discussion of the demand of the operatives for a general wage increase of 15 per cent. The council reached a decision at its meeting last night, but no announcement was made until this morning. The identity of the citizens to be invited has not yet been revealed.

It is possible that the council and the Manufacturers' Association will today select the personnel of the citizens' committee. Several names have been suggested but no committee has been officially designated. James Tansley, president of the Textile Council, stated today that the committee of citizens will not participate in any way in the wage deliberations. They will simply listen to the arguments advanced.

The committee of disinterested citizens to attend the wage discussion tomorrow afternoon will consist of Mr. Rev. Mr. James E. Cassidy, Mr. Rev. Mr. Jean A. Prevost, Mr. Rev. Mr. Herrick, Mr. Manuel A. Silva, and Judge Edward F. Hanly. This selection was mutually agreed upon today by the Manufacturers' Association and the Textile Council.

MAINE WILL NOT SELL BIRTHRIGHT

Invades Privacy of Homes, Infers State Will Not Care for Mothers and Babies

AUGUSTA, Me., March 22.—"Maine will not sell its birthright for a mess of pottage," Governor Percival P. Baxter declared today in a message to the legislature, vetoing the resolve to accept the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner law for the protection of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy and for other purposes.

He protested against its passage "because it is an unwarranted invasion by the federal government of the sovereign rights of the state of Maine, because it establishes in Washington a federal bureaucracy that is not likely to be in sympathy with the government of this state and the citizens thereof, because it invades the privacy of our homes, because it infers that the state of Maine cannot and will not properly care for those of its mothers and children who need assistance, and because it pauperizes our state."

"If the state of Maine refuses federal aid and sends forth a strong protest against the expansion of this dangerous and undermining doctrine, all lovers of liberty throughout the nation will take heart," he said. "The state of Maine then will be hailed as the leader in the movement to return to the fundamental doctrine of our forefathers that a state is sovereign and will brook no interference in its own internal affairs."

LOWELL MEN INQUIRE INTO MODUS OPERANDI OF LISTING BOARDS

Members of New Lowell Listing Board Visit Boston and Cambridge—Lowell Listing Bill Was Signed by Governor Cox at 5 O'Clock Last Evening

Members of the Lowell election commission, including Hugh C. McOsker, J. Omar Allard, Joseph H. Maguire, and Thomas H. Braden and Thomas R. Atkinson, superintendent of police, the five men comprising the new Lowell listing board, created by the bill signed by Governor Cox late yesterday afternoon, went to Boston and Cambridge today to obtain first-hand information as to the operation of listing boards in those cities.

The board particularly is anxious to learn how much preliminary work is necessary before the listing of the polls begins on April 1 and how police officers are assigned to obtain the names of all persons, male and female, of the age of 20 years and over, in Boston. It is said the city police force is put to work for one day and the complete list is obtained in 24 hours, but the system has been in operation there for some time and it is not expected that Lowell will be able to move with such alacrity in its first attempt.

The bill, which reached the governor's desk last Monday night was signed by him at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and became law upon this morning.

Men Taken Off Italian Steamship in Stormy Weather—One Member of Crew Lost

BOSTON, March 22.—The rescue of the men of the Italian freighter "Ginila" by boat's crew from the "President Wilson" and the freighter "Westlake," reported by radio last night, was accomplished in stormy weather, with the loss of one life, according to a description of the rescue work by Arthur J. Bean, financial editor of the Boston Post, published today. Mr. Bean, a passenger on the President Wilson, said 35 men were saved, 24 by the passenger liner and 12 by the "Westlake." The man who lost his life was one of the three seamen who, apparently in fear, jumped overboard from the "Ginila," disobeying orders to stick by the ship.

UNUSUAL CASE OPENS IN DISTRICT COURT

The first local instance of a landlord being brought into court for alleged failure to provide heat for a tenant, claimed the foremost attention of the district court this morning when Michael M. Quenley was arraigned before Judge Fisher on the complaint of Henry J. Root, charging the landlord with failure to properly supply heat in the rooms occupied by complainant at 43 Nesmith street. J. Stuart Murphy filed the charge "that on August 1, 1922, and divers other days and times in Lowell, the defendant did wilfully and intentionally fail to furnish heat when said heat was necessary to the proper and customary use of that part of a building occupied by Henry J. Root in certain premises known as No. 43 Nesmith street in violation of the implied terms of a certain contract entered into between Michael M. Quenley, landlord of the property, and Henry J. Root as tenant, on the first day of last August."

It was claimed by the complainant that he was interested in the property and that he had been paying the rent to the defendant since August 1, 1922, and that the defendant had been receiving the rent since that time.

FUNERAL TODAY OF LATE MR. M. J. MONAHAN DEAD ANOTHER GRAND OLD MAN PASSES AWAY

The funeral of James H. McDermott, one of the first undertakers of this city and a man well known throughout the community, took place this morning and was largely attended. The funeral cortege, headed by two automobiles filled with floral offerings, left the home of the deceased, 74 Gorham street at 9:45 o'clock and went to St. Peter's church, where at 10 o'clock solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Peter Linahan, assisted by Rev. Francis Shea as sub-deacon and Rev. Francis Shea as sub-deacon. The choir, augmented for the occasion, rendered the Gregorian chant.

Respected Citizen and Prominent A. O. H. Leader Died After Brief Illness

To the friends of Michael J. Monahan—and they were legion—the news of his sudden death will bring sincere sorrow. Wherever known Mr. Monahan was highly respected for his many character traits, his uniform courtesy, his sound common sense and devotion to every good cause. It was chiefly in the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the religious work of St. Peter's parish, that his devotion to charitable and

MICHAEL J. MONAHAN

Native of England and member of one of the oldest fraternal orders in Europe, Thomas H. Nelson, a resident of Lowell for the past 25 years, who with his wife celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage a few weeks ago, died yesterday at his home, 15 Madison street. He was 83 years, 9 months and 9 days old.

Mr. Nelson was a staunch American and loved the land of liberty sincerely, being very proud of the many friendships he made after arriving in the United States and loyally supporting all good things American to the best of his ability. With all his devotion to the U.S.A., of course, the English-born citizen never forgot the home land across the ocean, and up to the day of his death, was proud of his splendid English ancestry, English fraternal associations and an admirer of many English nobles.

During his life in Lowell, Mr. Nelson was somewhat incapacitated as a result of a severe accident received many years ago, which kept him from performing arduous labors. He was always cheerful, however, a splendid under the direction of James E. Donnelly, the notes being sustained by Mr. Donnelly and Joseph Egan. At the offertory Mr. Egan sang "Pie Jesu," and as the body was being borne from the church the choir rendered "De Profundis," the solo being sustained by Mr. Donnelly, Miss Gertrude Quigley presided at the organ.

The honorary bearers were the following undertakers: John P. Rogers, John J. Higgins, George H. McKinnon, John L. McDonough, Joseph Albert, Thomas J. O'Donnell, Walter McKinnon, Amadeo Archambault and William Rogers. The actual bearers were James E. Donnelly, Joseph O'Connell, John Donohue, Jeremiah McGlinchey, John Callahan and Charles Gispin.

The ushers at the house and church were James H. Gilbride, Ralph Chapman, Stephen Henry. In attendance were delegations from the National Basket Co. of Boston and the Boyertown Basket Co. of Philadelphia, while John Shanley of San Diego, Cal., a close friend of the deceased, was also present. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Peter Linahan, assisted by Rev. Fr. Hoffmann. Funeral arrangements were in charge of James H. Gilbride, while burial was under the direction of Funeral Director William A. Mack.

Patriotic movements was exerted. Coming from Ireland as a young man twenty-five years ago, he soon made many warm friends in various Irish organizations. In the work for the freedom of Ireland, he was always active and enthusiastic, but never an extremist. As a member of Div. 8, A.O.H., he soon became popular and was elected to the office of president which he held for the past six years. He had also been president of the central council for the past four years; and by both organizations as by the order in general and by the clergy, members and fraternalists of St. Peter's parish, his loss will be deeply deplored. He was about 60 years of age.

He was president of the St. Vincent de Paul society of St. Peter's church and marshal of the Holy Name society of that church. He leaves his wife, Katherine (Markham) Monahan; one daughter, Ellen; one sister, Bridget Monahan and two nieces and one nephew.

A severe case of pneumonia, developed from a cold was the cause of his untimely passing. He had worked in the face-Lovell shops for 20 years, and there as elsewhere, the news of his death has caused profound sorrow among his associates.

Acting President James J. McMahon of the Central Council, A.O.H., has called a meeting of the three divisions of the order and the central council for tonight to take action on the death of Mr. Monahan. John Barrett, secretary of the central council, a close friend of the deceased, spoke of him as a loyal citizen, calm and conservative and a man who was a recognized leader in A.O.H. affairs in Middlesex county. Division 8, A.O.H., of which Mr. Monahan was president will meet also tonight.

SUN'S STORY CORRECT IN EVERY DETAIL

The exclusive announcement of Lowell Bleachery's plans for expansion at the Carter street plant, together with the installation of machinery for a new department, at an estimated cost around $100,000, was given to The Sun by an official of the Bleachery, and is absolutely correct in every detail.

As proof of the accuracy of the story, The Sun can affirm that after the announcement affecting the new plans for the Lowell Bleachery, was put into typewritten form, the article that appeared in last night's Sun was reviewed by an official of the Lowell Bleachery, who not only approved the story after personally checking a short statement covering possible ventures of the future.

The story was printed after being carefully perused and "O. K."ed.

This answers the "squeal" in the local morning paper in which it was intimated that the Bleachery story in The Sun was inaccurate and untruthful.

DEATHS

WIGGIN—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wiggin, formerly of Lowell, and now residing in River side, Conn., will sympathize with them in the loss of their only daughter, Shirley, who died yesterday at the age of 11 months and 14 days. She is survived by her father and mother, Leon M. and Stella H. Wiggin, who is survived by her brothers, Glenn, Stanley and Charles.

BARBER—Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Barber, a well known resident of this city, passed away early this morning at her home, 38 Crosby street, at the age of 70 years, 10 months and 2 days. She is survived by her husband, Thomas W. Barber of this city; two sisters, Mrs. David Walker of New York, Mass., and Mrs. Lillian Stephens of Bailey, England; two nephews, Geo. Fox of Cambridge and Fred Walker of Lowell; three nieces, Louisa Walker of Natick, Mrs. Willie Fox and Ada Talbot of Bailey, England. Her body was removed to Saunders' funeral home, 217 Appleton street. Funeral notice later.

SHIFFIN—Mr. James Shiffin, a well known resident of this city, passed away at the Lowell Corporation hospital after a brief illness at the age of 50 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Shiffin of Arlington, Mass. The body was removed to the funeral home of William A. Mack, 70-76 Gorham street. Boston papers please copy.

ADAMS—Died at St. John's hospital, March 22, Carolyn H. Adams, daughter of Adolph H. and Olive E. Adams, aged 25 years, 1 month, 25 days. She leaves beside her father and mother four sisters, Gladys Adams, Mrs. E. H. Huntley, Irene Adams, Catherine Adams, one brother, Arthur M. Adams, all of Lowell. The body will be removed to her home, 193 Pleasant street. Funeral Director John A. Weinbeck.

GILBERT—Died March 22nd at the Lowell Corporation hospital, Mrs. Emma Gilbert, aged 73 years. She is survived by her sons, Mr. E. H. Gilbert and Mr. Nello E. Putnam, both of Lowell, Mr. Fred D. Rolfe, of Quincy, Mrs. George Hutchinson of Paterson, N. J., and Mrs. Grant Hopkins of Chicago, one nephew, William England of Lowell. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, 236 Westford street.

MASS NOTICE—There will be an anniversary mass of requiem Saturday morning at quarter of eight at St. Patrick's church in the repose of the soul of Mrs. Ellen (Davine) Gallagher.

FUNERALS

ST. MARTIN—The funeral of Edward St. Martin took place this morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. Wallace Langell, 23 Cambridge road. High funeral mass was sung in St. Louis church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Francis X. Gauthier. The choir, under the direction of Oliver J. David sang the Gregorian chant. The soloists of the choir were: Andrew David and Edward E. Gauthier. At the offertory Cornelius E. Cahill sang "Domine Jesu Christe." Miss Ida Monaghan sang "Ave Maria." The choir were: Charles Noel Bernier, Daniel Andrew, Alphonse Demers, Leo Callan and Wallace Langell. A delegation was present from the Massachusetts State Workshop for the Blind consisting of: Frank Casey, Leo Laupret, Arthur Martin and Joseph O'Brien. There were many flowers. At the offertory Miss Blanche Levesque sang "O Meritum Passionis" and as the body was taken from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were: Samuel, Edward and Henri Fortin, Albert Lallier, Arthur Doucet and Felix Bussault. There were many flowers. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

VILLANCOURT—The funeral of Louis Villancourt took place this morning from her home, 186 Perkins street. Solemn high funeral mass was sung in St. Jean Baptiste church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Eugene Thibault, O.M.I., as deacon, Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Louis Villancourt, sang "Domine Jesu Christe." The soloists were: Maria Jacques, Arthur G. Leveille and Geo. B. Caluso. The bearers were: Hippolyte Labrie, Joseph Villancourt, Alphonse Joly, Elzear Goyette, Alex. Kline and Henri Neault. There were many flowers. Burial was in the family lot in St. John's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

citizen to meet in home and on the street, and he had many friends.

It was the former Briton's cherished possession, the 217 Appleton street, a framed, dusty charter membership in Court Commendable, No. 355, Ancient Order of Foresters, of Preston, England. The Lowell man treasured the framed engraving with its fraternal emblems and official seals. He once told the writer that the English Foresters were the very oldest fraternal organization in the world, going originally back much farther than even the first days of Masonic heraldry and institution.

Mr. Nelson was also a charter member of Elks Lodge, No. 102, and also of the American fraternal order of Buffaloes, which also antedates the American fraternal order of Buffaloes, all of English origin.

Mr. Nelson is survived by his wife, Anne (Lee) Nelson; five sons, John C. Nelson, Walter H. Nelson, Ernest Nelson of Selma, Ala.; one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth N. Caswell of Seattle, Wash.; one sister, Mrs. Susannah Brewer of Preston, Eng., and five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

SMITH—The funeral of Helen M. Smith took place yesterday from Saunders' funeral home, 217 Appleton street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Harold Dale, pastor of the Orthodox Congregational church of Billerica Centre. The loved ones were beautiful. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

PEDNEAULT—The funeral of Jeanne Pedneault, daughter of George and the late Corinne (Josselin) Pedneault, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her father, 38 Ford street. Service was conducted in St. Jean Baptiste church by Rev. Alphonse Archambault, O.M.I. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

GOVEIA—The funeral of Luiz Goveia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Goveia, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 1111 Fifth street. Service was conducted by Rev. John S. Perry. The body was placed in the receiving tomb in St. Patrick's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

MARCHAND—The funeral of Therese Marchand took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Marchand, 13 Francis street. The services were conducted at St. Jean Baptiste church by Rev. Alphonse Archambault, O.M.I. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amadeo Archambault and Sons.

WREN—The funeral of David Wren took place yesterday afternoon from the chapel of Undertakers O'Donnell and Sons, and was private. Services were held in St. Bridget's church, Rev. John S. Perry, pastor of St. Patrick's church officiating. The body was placed in the receiving tomb in St. Patrick's cemetery.

ZUKOWSKI—The funeral of Monica Zukowska took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her parents, 50 Kim street. The body was placed in the receiving tomb in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Jos. J. Sadowski.

SOPEL—The funeral of Stanislaw Sopol took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of his parents, 85 Common street. The body was placed in the receiving tomb in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Jos. J. Sadowski.

ALEXANDER—The funeral of John Alexander took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from funeral parlors of Undertaker Sadowski, 50 Tyler street. The body was placed in the receiving tomb in charge of Undertaker Jos. J. Sadowski.

ANOTHER HEAVY MORTALITY RATE

This week will be marked by one of the highest mortality rates the city has experienced for some time, based upon the number of deaths already recorded at the office of the health department. So far this week there have been 44 deaths, or only two less than last week's total and the reports of today, Friday and Saturday morning yet are to be added.

Although there seems to be a let-up in the extent of the new cases have been reported to the health authorities since last Saturday noon.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to the many relatives, neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy, floral and spiritual offerings, during the bereavement in the death of our brother, John E. O'Brien. We deeply appreciate their kind efforts and will ever hold them in loving and grateful remembrance.

(Signed) Mrs. THOMAS SPELACREY, Mrs. MARY SPELACREY, EDWARD E. O'BRIEN.

STOCKS OF POTATOES ON HAND

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Stocks of white potatoes in the hands of growers and dealers March 1, were reported by the department of agriculture to total 11,665,000 bushels. Of this total 2,665,000 bushels were planted as seed for food or seed on farms needed for food and seed on farms grown, and 27,218,000 bushels for consumption in local markets, leaving 69,795,000 bushels available for movement out of production areas.

INTERESTING TALK ON AFFAIRS IN AFRICA

Politics in Africa, a somewhat unusual subject but one of interesting possibilities always when handled by one able to discuss southern hemisphere affairs of human interest and welfare, offered Mrs. Claude U. Gilson an opportunity to deliver before the members of All Souls' parish yesterday afternoon a very entertaining address full of disarming facts, figures and relatively new versions of lands that contain little that is modern, yet much that is attractive and worth while to modern travelers and students. It was the sixth and final talk of a series on "Current Events," to Liberia, a journey from Egypt through Africa for the education of the church women. She declared that Lord Carnahan will probably not be able to remove one-half of the value of the Tutsi-Khannu tomb that he has discovered. "For political reasons," at the present time Egypt is under British rule, but the so-called nationalist movement goes on with the leader in exile and most of the students in jail.

In Liberia, the speaker said, "everybody's New England grandfathers have been made to educate." Negroes there, but the university established some time ago, is now practically in ruins. The proposal to extend a loan to Liberia, the speaker continued, could easily be done, but there must be some responsible management to take care of it. The "color line" does not exist down in that country.

The speaker declared Africa today to be a land of tremendous interest, because it is the center of rubber and of gums and oils, that are very important to the world's progress and do not exist elsewhere.

Referring to the world races of today, Mrs. Gilson declared emphatically that whatever may be the method of settling the racial problems of the world, moving people around whole-

Lowell Men Inquire Into Operation of Listing Boards

Final stage in its legislative passage, although the new listing board will take over all the work of listing polls in other years by assistant assessors, this does not mean that assistant assessors will be done away with altogether. A certain number of them—80 were employed last year—will be appointed to make the personal property assessments.

The 30 assistant assessors employed last year were paid approximately $1700 for compiling lists of polls and were reimbursed at the rate of 3 cents per name. To make assessments of personal property they received $1300, but were paid at the rate of $4 per day. This year the board of assessors is considering the proposition to that employed with respect to listing polls, or so much for each person assessed for personal property, but no decision has been made as yet.

By transferring the work of listing polls to the new listing board, the assessing department saves an expenditure of approximately $1700, but does not feel that the actual amount of the election commission will be lessened by the change.

By the provisions of this act, the work of listing the names, occupations, addresses and other data concerning every male and female person in the city of 20 years of age or upwards, or in other words, the preparation of the polling lists, will be done by and under the direct supervision of the election commission, in the past this work has been done by assistant assessors, appointed by the regular board of assessors.

Silent provisions in the bill include: Daily sessions in the rooms of the election commission for registration of voters.

Each election commissioner shall receive a salary of $2000 or a salary not to exceed that amount as the mayor and city council may by ordinance prescribe.

The work of compiling the polling lists shall be done within the first seven week-days in April by the members of the listing board or by police officers.

Opposite the name of every person listed shall appear a designation showing whether or not they are American citizens.

Although the measure is called the Lowell listing bill, it has been amplified and amended from its original form so as to be applicable to all cities in which listing boards are in operation and to all cities, which, in the future, may desire such boards. Cities in which this plan of listing has worked out successfully include Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea and Watertown.

SENATOR BORAH URGES FEARLESS PROGRAM

AKRON, O., March 22.—Inviting his party to "quit gumshoeing" for votes and adopt a clear-cut and fearless program, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, declared in an address here last night that by such a course republican leaders could put an end to a third party movement which now appears "not improbable."

"Political conditions are distressingly unsatisfactory to both political parties," said Senator Borah, speaking at a banquet held in honor of Abraham Lincoln, by the republican county committee. "The voter is alarmingly independent. Party leaders seem confused. The rank and file are distrustful. And yet, the people are deeply and profoundly interested in public questions and eager for information upon all political problems."

"If I were to suggest the underlying fundamental vice of American politics at this time I would unhesitatingly declare that it consists in playing for the game on too low a standard—far below the level of both the intelligence and patriotism of the voter. The problems now pressing for attention are in many ways the most difficult ever presented to the American electorate . . .

BABY TALK CONDEMNED BY EXPERT

CHICAGO, March 22.—Baby talk, defined as "an expression of self-bravado with parenthood," is condemned as a dangerous and ludicrous practice by Miss Marion Laupheimer, Ph.D., instructor in essentials of speaking at the National Kindergarten and Elementary College.

Exhorting young fathers and mothers to "wring of 'tita darlin'" and "with wankins" and hindered terms of parental endearment, Miss Laupheimer points out that only six out of every ten children escape detrimental

Swamp-Root For Kidney Ailments

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

impressions "from the absurd language of their parents' affections."

Says Miss Laupheimer: "There is a serious side to baby talk which is forcefully presented to the students at the National Kindergarten and Elementary College. During the first six years of the average child's life he passes from the isolated syllable stage to the full sentence stage of language development. From there on the process is an intricate elaboration of all the twists and idiosyncracies of English expression.

"Woe to the child who has been a bit weak in language development and who has had in his ears incorrect auditory imagery from early babyhood to the primary grade periods. There is constant danger that this child may be either weak in his language development or so precocious in some other development that the language process, not weak in itself, is simply retarded before the stronger growth mentally or physically. In either case the practice of baby talk is a distinct danger. Furthermore, baby talk is frequently groundwork for a development in stammering, a handicap which may continue throughout life."

POPE MAKES PROTEST

LONDON, March 22.—A Milan dispatch to the Times says that Pope Pius, receiving members of the Academy of St. Thomas Aquinas, protested against the recent commemoration of the centenary of the birth of Ernest Renan, "whose name sounds as a blasphemy against Jesus Christ."

The dispatch says that the Observatore Romano has printed a letter from the pope to Cardinal Pompili, protesting that the anniversary of the Breton historian's birth should have been commemorated in Rome and ordering an expiatory mass for March 24.

CLIFF DWELLERS HAVE BEEN DWARFS

PRESCOTT, Ariz., March 22.—Scientists who will visit Prescott next summer to attempt to fathom the mystery of the ancient cliff dwellings on the Verde river will be asked to give their attention to a skeleton found recently by Morris and Howell Payne, ranchers living a few miles north of this city.

Although the skeleton is apparently no larger than that of a child of four or five years the skull contains a fully developed set of mature teeth. The Payne brothers unearthed the skeleton while excavating for a road in Granite Dell, a vast granite formation near Prescott. Digging carefully they were able to extricate practically all the bones without breaking them.

The skeleton has excited lively interest on account of the size and the maturity of the teeth and skull bones which one physician said showed none of the evidences of immaturity of an infant's cranium.

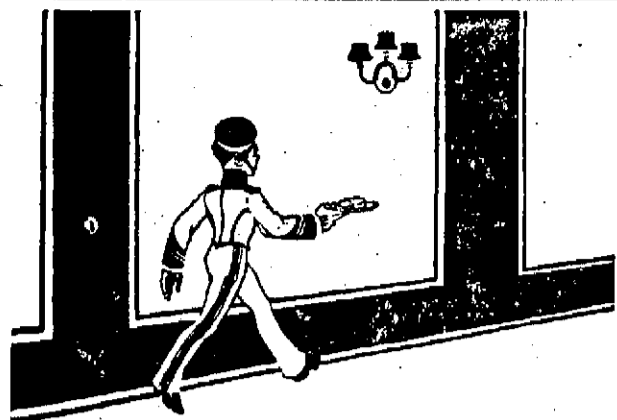

Prints of the hands of the builders of the well preserved prehistoric dwelling known as Montezuma's castle are still seen in the mud-like mortar holding the stones together, and these prints indicate that the dwellers were persons with very small hands.

The tiny doorways and low ceilings seem to bear out the theory that the people living there were of small stature, but the dwarf-like skeleton is so much smaller than that of the man of today that it has created another of those archeological problems which it is the purpose of the National Geographic society to solve if possible in a series of expeditions next summer.

SMOKED WHILE TAKING ALCOHOL MASSAGE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 22.—The combination of a quiet smoke and an alcohol massage may cost Minister of Commerce Obot his life.

While a masseur was at work the minister lit a cigaret. The alcohol took fire and he was badly burned. His condition is serious. He was appointed to the ministerial post in the recent reorganization of the cabinet.

Model at Murder Trial To Rely on Sketches To Free Her

By GENE COHN
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The sketchy little pen-and-ink people, with whom she was surrounded in her art life, will be called upon by Grace Baratti to aid in her defense at her trial here soon on a charge of husband murder.

Through these faithful little ink-well folk, the slim and lovely ex-model expects to clear herself.

For when the little black-and-white exhibits appear in court they will show, she hopes, how Harry Baratti, her musician-husband, committed suicide.

How Baratti Died

The circumstances were these: Baratti was found shot to death. A bullet had penetrated his right hand and two had entered his head. He and his wife had been alone.

Mrs. Baratti declared she had been lying on the couch. She heard the shots and rushed in to find him dying.

He said, "He had been despondent," she added.

The police laughed.

There were intimations of "another man." How could a man shoot himself through the right hand and still shoot himself through the right side of the head?

And if he did it with the left hand, why should he shoot himself through the hand at all? These questions seemed difficult to answer.

"Ink Folks" Aid

And there's where Grace Baratti's years of artist modeling came in. She was accustomed to poses of all sorts, graceful or contorted. With her lawyer, J. B. Zandars, she called on the "little inkwell people" to aid.

Dozens of sketches were made, showing every possible variety of posture in which a man might commit suicide. Portfolios fairly danced with gruesome suicide scenes.

TUT'S VAULT MAY DISCLOSE VULGE WRITTEN STORY STUDENTS MUST FIGHT FOR CHANCE TO LIVE

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, LIXOR, Egypt, March 22.—(By the Associated Press.) Among the wealth of antiquities found in the tomb of Tutankhamun no trace has yet been discovered of a single scrap of papyrus that will throw a light on the obscure history of Egypt during the monarch's reign. Indeed, not even the hieroglyphic inscriptions and pictorial legends on the walls of the mortuary chamber reveal any intelligible facts concerning the life and achievements of the king who ruled the Nile 1,350 years before Christ.

Most of the 30 or more other royal tombs in the Valley of the Kings are adorned with innumerable sculptures, bas-reliefs, paintings and tablets illustrative of the periods in which the Pharaohs reigned. These inscriptions and paintings are, moreover, of a much higher merit than the few which have been found in Tutankhamun's death chamber. They have been of invaluable service to the American and British archaeologists in piecing together with the aid of papyrus documents found in the tombs, the fragmentary history of the Old and New Empire.

Perhaps next in value to the mummy and sarcophagus of Tutankhamun, himself are some thirty-five sycamore chests found in the funeral repository. The archaeologists are hopeful that some of these may contain documents of papyrus which will reveal some new facts regarding the little known events of the departed sovereign's short reign. If found, they will be given to Professor James Breasted, the great Egyptian scholar of the University of Chicago, for decipherment and interpretation.

Opposite the aperture to Tutankhamun's burial vault is a large painting of the king drawn in the style of the reign of Akhnaton, the heretic sovereign, with high sloping head and wearing a helmet and a leopard skin. This has formed the subject of much study and speculation by Howard Carter and his American associates. There is no indication that Tutankhamun adhered to Akhnaton's new faith—the worship of Aton, the god of the solar disk—nor anything to controvert the known fact that he led Egypt back to the old faith—the worship of Amen, the great god of Thebes. Tutankhamun is represented in the painting as worshipping Osiris, god of life and resurrection, in the traditional manner.

The news from London that the influence of the British government may be exerted to prevent the removal of Tutankhamun's body from its burial place to a museum was received here with satisfaction and relief by Egyptians and others who are averse to foreign invaders "body snatching" what they term "holy" remains. There is as little justification for disturbing the ashes of the ancient Pharaoh as there would be in removing the dead from one of the royal tombs in Westminster Abbey.

LOWELL MEN SENTENCED

Charles Zandowicz and Hypolite Bielewicz of this city were found guilty of liquor law violations by Judge Sisk in the superior court in East Cambridge yesterday. Zandowicz was fined $100 and sentenced to one month in the house of correction. Bielewicz was fined $15 and sentenced for one month.

Manacles are being adopted by leading professional and society women in London, in preference to horn spection is declared to have been found. And this will be the defense contention.

Baratti had determined upon suicide. He lay upon the couch. He wished to take no chances of failure. He was left-handed. So he gripped the weapon in his left hand, using his thumb to pull the trigger. He held the barrel close against his temple in the crotch between his thumb and forefinger of his right hand.

But when came the moment to fire he grew nervous. His hand shook. The barrel slid slightly upward toward the upper part of the right hand.

Then—the explosion! The shot had struck a bone in the hand and entered the head. This had slightly halted the force of the bullet and shattered the hand. So a second shot was sent, this one fatal.

Such is the picture the little pen-and-ink people will draw for a jury and, by a poetic justice, it may be that these inanimate figures, to the drawing of which Grace Baratti so often lent her form, will be the means of saving her from prison.

In any event they will form a defense background without parallel in criminal history.

MOSCOW, March 22.—American college students, who frequently complain that their allowances are too small, would learn what roughing it means were they to come to Moscow. Investigators for the American Relief Administration have come across tragic comedy or comic tragedy in every nook and corner of the bare, cold dormitories which the soviet government provides for Russian youths at the big universities in Moscow and in the provinces. Last September, when the college term opened, there were approximately 30,000 students registered in the higher institutions of Moscow. Approximately 10,000 of these were capable of caring for themselves; another 10,000 were to be taken care of by the government, but many of the other 30,000 literally had to sleep in the streets, because no quarters could be found for them in the overcrowded city.

One member of the committee found the task of relieving needy students almost hopeless because of the indefinite addresses given by the applicants. Peter Popoff, who was given a pair of shoes and was to receive a food package later, informed the committee that he was rather a difficult person to find, because he slept in a different doorway every night. Two young men from the electrical college were perfectly willing to be called upon, they said, but doubted that they could be found in the crowd at the railway station, where they slept.

So much time and energy is spent trying to obtain food and shelter that many of the students find study impossible. They are always on the lookout for odd jobs that will give them a bed, a meal or a few million rubles. Three girls in one of the universities saw four hours a day for a corner to sleep in. After a meal at the student kitchen at 5 o'clock in the evening, they attend their first class. Russian universities always ran to night work, for even in the old days the terms "student" and "poor" were synonymous.

Conditions in the universities of Moscow today are said to be infinitely worse than those endured by the poorest students before the revolution. Sleeping 40 in a room, some with and some without beds, many of these earnest young seekers after the truth about science, philosophy or medicine play hinkies and sing songs even when they are hungry. They have no beds, owning one suit of clothes between them were lucky enough to find a small room by themselves. They arranged their classes so that one could stay in bed and study while the other wore the suit to the lectures. Another youngster had three useful possessions, a blanket, a sack of potatoes and a geometry. Wrapped in one, he used another for a pillow, while he read the third.

Two girls, taking a mathematical course, had persistently guarded their room, but one evening they went out for a moment to buy some food. When they returned they found their belongings in the corridor and a new lock on the door. Two young men had moved in.

The urge for education is stronger throughout Russia these days, particularly among sons and daughters of the working classes, than it has ever been before, and registration in the higher schools in some cases has increased more than 200 per cent.

In the old days at the Russian universities there were no dormitories, the students renting rooms and paying for their own board. Now the government is attempting both to feed and house students, and pays them monthly subsidy, amounting approximately to two dollars in American money. In pre-revolution days, ten dollars a month would keep a Russian student in ragged but happy comfort.

THREE END THEIR LIVES

Woman of 73, Her Daughter, 32, and Grandchild, 19, Carry Out Suicide Pact

BOSTON, March 22.—The Boston police were confronted last night with the most unusual suicide pact that ever came to its attention.

Two women and a 5-year-old girl decided to leave the world. They lay down together on a bed and turned on gas from four jets and died.

Their names are Mrs. Isadore Galligan, aged 73; her daughter, Ida I. Galligan, aged 32; and her grand-daughter, Jessie I. Galligan, 5 years old. They all lived and died, at suite 16, 24 St. Mary's street, on the Brookline line.

Mrs. Galligan notified a relative of their intention to commit suicide. She wrote a letter and sent it special delivery to James H. Galligan of 649 Beach street, Beverly, notifying him of the whereabouts of the deeds to the grave which she wished to shelter herself, her mother and her daughter.

As soon as Mr. Galligan received the letter he hurried to Boston and out to the apartment house on St. Mary's street. He rushed up to the door of suite 16, and, after ringing the bell, rattled the knob of the door and then, getting no response, started to look up the janitor.

As he turned away he smelled gas. He ran into the basement, calling for the janitor. The janitor, Samuel Kosonowitz, replied to his shouts. Galligan told him of his fears and they both returned to the door of suite 16. The janitor, too, caught the smell of gas. He advised notifying the police. Two patrolmen responded.

The door was forced and all entered the suite, to be faced with the picture of the three dead persons in the same bed. The windows were thrown open and the gas turned off. Two of the jets were in a chandelier and the other two in a gas stove, which had been pulled up beside the bed and attached to a nozzle on the chandelier.

Dr. George N. Nichols of 722 Commonwealth avenue was called. He examined the women and the child and said they all were dead. The presence of the gas stove beside the bed, the police held, showed that the suicide was carefully arranged and with the consent of all three persons, differing so widely in age as to make the thing almost fantastic.

Beside the bed was found a note written to the medical examiner. At midnight the contents of the note had not been made public.

A lot of curious persons collected around the house during the evening, arriving on foot and in automobiles.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
B. P. KELLY'S THEATRE
The stories of Tom Kelly, who appears at the B. P. Kelly Theatre, this week are infatigable. Try to tell them and you fall short of the art which Kelly uses in his work, and they are new. He has the unusual faculty of getting together a bundle of stories and like those given by any other comedian. One of the funniest, practical, most original of dancing acts to visit this season is that of Lee Rose and Kathryn Moon. Their work favors of the bigger class, and as a matter of fact, they come here from long runs in and around New York. They are at the B. P. Kelly Theatre, this week. In "Ahead of the Times" is full of good fun and Mr. Ryan does a real old shakedown at the close. Patricia & Sullivan present a pretty musical act and Moher & Birdridge are comedians. Al Libby is a cyclist of dancing. The latest Chaplin picture, "The Pilgrim," is arousing lots of interest at every performance.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

RIALTO THEATRE
"The Streets of New York," the great screen production which has Edward Earle starting in the leading role, is drawing to a close at the Rialto theatre today and if you have not already seen it you have missed a big production. The picture is brimming over with interesting scenes and carries a delightful love story which leads up to a great climax. "The Innocent Cheat" is another good attraction on the same program.

THE STRAND
A so-called society party with all of its attendant gaieties and its disregard for conventional standards of decorum is one of the many interesting scenes depicted in "Wildness of Youth," which opens a three days' engagement at the Strand today. Whether or not youngsters are to be wholly blamed for their attitude towards the serious phases of life, may be indicated in a forceful and striking manner in the story. You must see it as presented by a cast including Virginia Pearson, Mary Anderson, Harry T. Morey and others. It's a great picture story and carries conviction with it.

Charles (Buck) Jones is always interesting in western photoplays. That's why "Bells of San Juan" will prove mighty entertaining to all patrons. It's the second feature for the week-end. See both pictures and be entertained to the fullest.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Jack Holt, Paramount star, opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon in "Nobody's Money," a genuine comedy in which Mr. Holt is seen as a book agent who becomes involved in a love story.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up
This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cleanly made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three or four times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

startling situations. Wanda Hawley heads a strong supporting cast. The other feature is "Drums of Fate," an out-of-the-ordinary dramatic feature starring Mary Miles Minter.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
"The Bad Man," Porter Emerson Browne's immortal travesty, is enjoying an unusually successful run at the Lowell Opera House this week. Capacity houses have applauded Richard Morgan's realistic portrayal of Pecos Lopez, with real enthusiasm, and the play has proved to be the most successful yet to be presented by The Al Lutteringer Stock company. The story tells with rare vividness, life on the Mexican border, is filled with tense moments relieved here and there with bits of real humor that call forth laughter of the hilarious variety. Panchito, the border ruffian who shoots to kill has a naive philosophy and a genial disposition that wins the sympathies of his audience despite his consistent habits of law breaking.

HARDING TO RETURN TO CAPITAL APRIL 7

COCOA, Fla., March 22.—Tentative plans for the remainder of President Harding's vacation trip as disclosed today, contemplate a return to Washington between April 7 and 10th. The vacation party today cruised on northward with the houseboat Pioneer making good progress. It was certain, however, that St. Augustine, the end of the cruise, would not be reached before tomorrow evening at the earliest and possibly not before Saturday morning.

On arriving at St. Augustine, President and Mrs. Harding, with most of the other members of the party will leave the Pioneer and take quarters at the Hotel Ponce de Leon. The visit to St. Augustine, where Mr. and Mrs. Harding have been spending several weeks each year for about 18 winters, is expected to extend over next week and probably until after Easter.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING TUESDAY

The date for the special town meeting in Dracut has been set as next Tuesday night, March 27, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. The warrant contains several articles among which are those calling for the abolition of the highway commission, and the erection of a new Parker avenue school. The meeting will be held in Grange hall, Centre village.

The thinnest camera in the world has just been invented by an American; it measures half an inch in thickness and weighs 12 ounces.

HOLSTEINS MAKE NEW PRODUCTION RECORDS

CHICAGO, March 22.—The 1922 leaders in the seven classes of different ages of pure-bred Holstein cows produced an average of 29,955 pounds of milk and 1,260 pounds of butter in one year. In the full age and senior four-year classes previous records were broken, according to a report of the national association of the Holstein-Friesian Association.

During the year, 18,000 cows were tested for production and since the establishment of the official test, 95,000 cows have passed the production requirement for their age, the report stated. All tests are supervised by state colleges of agriculture. Last year, 113,772 Holsteins were registered with the association.

In the full age class, May Walker Oille Homestead, owned by the Minnesota Holstein Company at Austin, displaced Dutchess Skylark Ormsby, a Washington state cow, with a production of 31,610 pounds milk and 1,233 pounds butter. Grahamstein Colantha Pauline Segis, a Minnesota cow, displaced another Minnesota cow in the senior four-year class with a record of 34,291 pounds milk and 1,426 pounds butter.

In the junior four-year class, Margaret Johanna, owned by C. L. Spaulding of Warren, Minnesota, stood highest for the year with a record of 31,515 pounds milk and 1,317 pounds butter. Countess Mathador Segis, the senior three-year champion from Washington produced 25,317 pounds milk and 1,159 pounds butter. Junior three-year champion, Princess Maiba Veeman, owned by Earl Graham of Campbell, California, produced 29,923 pounds milk and 1,154 pounds butter. Colony Grehega Valdesa, senior two-year champion, produced 28,371 pounds milk and 1,095 pounds butter. She is owned by Colony farm, Essendon, B. C. In the junior two-year class, Daisy Auricle Ormsby, owned by John Erickson of Wapacota, Wisconsin, was high cow for the year. She produced 22,151 pounds milk and 1,088 pounds butter.

ALBANIA TURNS TOWARD WEST

TIRANA, Albania, March 22.—Little Albania, with her narrow strip of mountainous territory and her scant one million people, rebels against paying any of the debt of Turkey for the reason that the former Ottoman empire, after collecting its tribute here, never so much as built a bridge, constructed a road, or erected a school, according to members of the newly constituted Albanian parliament, which has been meeting in laborious sittings since the new year.

The sum assigned to Albania for payment was 750,000 gold francs, or about $150,000, but this sum, the deputies say, would make a very serious drain on the public finances.

Albania is still the wild and undeveloped country she has always been, without a mile of railroad, almost impassable roads and but one or two schools at most. The government, constituted on the order of a republic, is bending every effort to collect sufficient revenue to meet the annual expenditures, figured at 18,000,000 gold francs, or about $3,600,000, which represents but a fraction of what the United States government spends in a single day.

Though there is a great deal of Turkish influence left in this small and primitive country, the present tendency is to throw off all of the Ottoman bonds and head toward western civilization. Instead of sending their sons to Constantinople for their professional training, the well-to-do now send them to Paris, London and Rome. Even in dress the tendency is to turn to the west for leadership.

The toy capital, located here, is now putting on the airs of its mission by the establishment of legations and consulates. Both England and America maintain legations here, while Italy is represented by a consulate.

FISHING BOATS OF DEAL LAND HEAVY CATCH

LONDON, March 22.—One of the largest harvests of sprats ever recorded was caught by Deal fishermen late and is estimated to number 2,500,000 fish. Owing to the recent heavy gales the sprats became massed in abnormal quantities, and the fishermen had great difficulty in landing their catches, no weight and choked were the nets. Many of the boats reached shore almost submerged.

Thousands of hungry seagulls swept down on the flooding nets and devoured many of the fish, despite the efforts of the fishermen to drive them away. The poor of the district benefited by the generosity of the Deal men.

Girls of school age should play for a shorter period than boys, and hockey, lacrosse, tennis, and cricket are all suitable games for them.

"Now I Am Well and the Mother of Two Children"

Just Another Story About the Goodness of PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 44, Dassel, Meeker County, Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh. Fortunately I saw your advertisement and took Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and the mother of two children. I owe it all to Pe-ru-na. I would not be without that great remedy for twice its cost, for I am well and strong now. I cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

For more than half a century Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just such wonderwork as this.

Pe-ru-na is sold everywhere in both tablet and liquid form. Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na.

"MASTER SPY" SAYS WAR THREATS ARE BLUFF

By GENE COHN
NBA Staff Correspondent
DEL MONTE, Calif., March 22.—"Trotsky's threat to send military aid to Germany—or Turkey—is hot air. Trotsky and Lenin are bluffing Russia and are trying to bluff all Europe. Those words came from the mouth of Sir Paul Dukes, who knows more about Russia than most Russians. Sir Paul is known as a 'master spy.' He headed the British intelligence department in Russia, watched the soviet revolution, served in the red army and escaped from Russia with a price on his head. For his daring he was knighted."

Today the former British agent is living quietly here with his bride, the former Mrs. Ogden Mills, step-daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt. Little Bolshevism

"There is less bolshevism in Russia today than in any European country with the possible exception of Scandinavia," Sir Paul told me. "There are not more than 600,000 bolsheviks in a population of 150,000,000."

"How does a spy work?" I asked Sir Paul.

"Petrograd was my headquarters," Sir Paul said. "I spoke better Russian than some Russians. I affected a number of disguises. First, I spent weeks growing a thick beard, and long hair. 'A double task faced me first, to procure information; second, to get it out. Captain Crombie, British naval attaché, was slain and I fell heir to his organization. Also I was warned by his fate how carefully I must play."

Known to But Three

"While I had Russians in the military staff, Smolny Institute, naval staff and political headquarters, I was known to but three persons in my organizations. I believe in small organizations and usually had groups of about a dozen."

"Later I had the fortune to meet an American secret service man who was forced to leave and who turned over his organization."

"I soon found that the Russians used women to track suspects. I learned they were tracking me. I learned that I had left the London office had taught me tricks with invisible inks and codes. I was able to write a 6000-word report on a bit of tracing."

Iowa Physician Makes Startling Offer to Cataract Sufferers

Found Treatment Which Healed His Own Cataract and Now Offers To Send It Free to Sufferers Anywhere.

DAYTONPORT, Iowa.—Dr. W. O. Coffey, Suite 1293, St. James Hotel Bldg., this city, one of the most widely known physicians and surgeons in the central west, announces that he found a treatment which completely healed him of cataract in the head and nose, deafness and head noises, after many years of suffering. He then gave the treatment to a number of other sufferers and they state that they also were completely healed. The doctor is so proud of his achievement and so confident that his treatment will bring other sufferers the same freedom it gave him, that he is offering to send a 10 day supply absolutely free to any reader of this paper who writes him. Dr. Coffey has specialized on eye, ear, nose and throat diseases for more than 25 years and is honored and respected by countless thousands. If you suffer from nose, head or throat cataract, catarrhal deafness or head noises, send him your name and address today.—Adv.

paper so small that I could carry it under the sole of one boot."

Courier Service

"To get my messages out I built up a secret courier service, operated by men who bribed or fought their way through the fronts of Finland or Estonia."

"Once I sent information by a bolshevik emissary who was ordered by the third international to start a revolution in England. He did not know what he was carrying, of course. 'Also I later joined the red army. 'My narrowest escape was staged. I believe, while visiting a doctor who had been helping me. The red leaders knew I was in Russia. But they didn't know my identity. A big price was on my head."

"Well, when I went to the doctor's house for some information, the red officers broke in. The doctor had told me how to feign an epileptic fit. When they came to my bed I went through the motions."

"They left me alone but arrested the doctor and others."

$16,500,000 COST OF A MODERN BATTLESHIP

LONDON, March 22.—The cost of building a first-class battleship in 1914 was approximately 600,000 pounds sterling, or about $3,000,000, but the cost of a similar ship today is about 2,300,000 pounds, or about $16,500,000, according to Commander Eyles-Monson, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty.

Explaining this increase the expert says: "It must be borne in mind, however, that a modern capital ship embodies features found necessary in the light of war experience which involve a considerable greater tonnage, offensive and defensive armament, and consequently cost."

Motor traffic is so heavy in London that roadways are now built up on concrete foundations 12 inches thick, instead of six inches, as a few years ago.

MISS THOMPSON COMING

Young Artist of Great Personal Charm Will Appear Here Sunday

The next event in the Moses Greeley Parker lectures is the appearance of Miss Sydney Thompson of New York at the Memorial Auditorium next Sunday, March 25, in an original play, "The Missing Years," and a recital of Old Folk Lore in costume. In this program, she will present Elidua—a Lay of Marie de France of the Period 1150 A.D., as well as several Old English Ballads, Folk Ballads of Southern Europe and tales from the Court of King Arthur.

Miss Thompson has been characterized by the Metropolitan critics as a young artist of great personal charm, of public voice, and a fine discretion in its use, graceful motions and a remarkable sense of dramatic values. The dramatic critics of the New York Times recently had this to say of her: "The appearance in New York of Miss Sydney Thompson, an entertainer whose work has recently attracted considerable attention elsewhere, took place at the Punch and Judy theatre yesterday afternoon, and was the means of introducing to this city a new idea in dramatic monologues."

Miss Thompson presents a play in the form of a monologue, indicating the presence of the other characters, but not speaking for them. This suggests, of course, the work of Miss Beatrice Herford, but in one important respect the methods of Miss Thompson and Miss Herford differ. Whereas, the latter aims only at the projection of a character, the offerings of Miss Thompson are complete dramatic structures.

DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW

State Senate Refuses to Ask Supreme Court for Ruling on Constitutionality

BOSTON, March 22.—The Massachusetts senate rejected yesterday the order, introduced by Senator Halkis of Montague, asking for an opinion from the supreme court as to the constitutionality of the state daylight-saving law, which varies from the federal act fixing standard time. The committee on rules had reported against the order; Senator Halkis tried to have the senate substitute the order for the adverse committee report, but substitution was refused, 19 yeas to 10 nays. Senator Halkis had better luck when he asked the senate to substitute for an unfavorable committee report a resolution calling on the state department of public works to investigate supervision and regulation of the business of transporting persons, property, and freight over the public highways. Under a suspension of the rules the order was passed by yeas 20 to 10.

Consideration of the unfavorable report of the committee on state administration and counties, sitting jointly, on the petition of Representative Whidden of Brookline to transfer to state or municipal officers certain duties of county officers was postponed to today.

The committee on state administration reported "reference to the next annual session" on the petition of the Massachusetts Civic League for the examination, classification and treatment of prisoners.

MAN OF 60 REGAINS VIGOR HE HAD AT 35

New Orleans Resident Tells of Wonderful Result Produced by a Recent Scientific Discovery

D. W. Wood, 59, of New Orleans, La., declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered Kortex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatment" as an invigorator and revitalizer. "It has brought me back to as good healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35," he writes. "I am apparently as supple as at 25." Mr. Wood says he would not take $5,000 for what the compound has done for him.

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet the most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain blood vessels, it often produces amazing benefits in 24 to 48 hours. In nationwide tests, it has won the praises of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, premature age and lack of vital force. Physicians say it gives speedy satisfaction in cases that defy other treatments. Elderly people pronounce it a real "fountain of youth."

Knowing that this news may seem "too good to be true," the distributors invite any person needing the compound to take a $2 double-strength treatment, enough for ordinary cases, with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails. If you wish to try this guaranteed invigorator, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 45 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. If you prefer, you may enclose $2, or simply send your name, without money, and pay the postman $2 and postage on delivery. In either case, if you report after one week that the Kortex compound has not given you satisfaction, the laboratories will return your money immediately. This offer is fully guaranteed, so nobody need hesitate about accepting it.—Adv.

DAVID E. LONERGAN DEAD

Prominent Cambridge Real Estate Man Dies in Atlantic City

BOSTON, March 22.—Word was received in Cambridge yesterday of the death at Atlantic City, N. J., of David E. Loneragan, 55 years ago, spent his life in Cambridge, graduated at Cambridge high and Latin school, was for many years in the real estate business and for 25 years ending a year ago he was confidential business advisor to the Boston Elevated railway company.

He was a democrat. Though a political power in Cambridge and outside of it, he had always declined any sort of political office. He was a business man and close friend of Col. William A. Barker.

Mr. Loneragan owned some of the finest apartment houses and business blocks in Cambridge and had property in various other communities within this state.

He was a man of domestic tastes, but belonged to the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church and the Cambridge Catholic union. His charities were many.

He is survived by his wife, who was Adeline J. McCarthy, formerly of Lowell; a son, Thomas, in the insurance business, who will carry on his father's real estate business; one daughter, Catherine, and two sisters, Misses Catherine and Mary Loneragan, both of Cambridge. Thomas Loneragan was graduated at Boston university last June.

UNEASINESS IN BRITAIN BELGIANS TAKE KRUPP HARBOR

Inequality in Air Defense Too Dangerous to Continue, Says Paper

LONDON, March 22.—(By the Associated Press.) The debate on air defense in the house of lords last evening attracted much notice from the press, most of the morning newspapers giving it great prominence, while some comment approvingly upon the concern voiced by various speakers over Great Britain's inferiority in the air.

The newspapers point out that this anxiety does not imply a hostile or suspicious attitude toward France, although the extreme vulnerability of Great Britain to an attack by a French air fleet and the great disparity in the respective air forces of the two nations makes comparison inevitable.

The general conclusion of the commentators is that there is ample justification for uneasiness over the country's defenselessness and that the inequality is too dangerous to be allowed to continue.

SECTARIAN AID BILL

Measure to Shut Off Aid to Sectarian Institutions in Maine Beaten by House

AUGUSTA, Me., March 22.—The Bill to shut off state appropriations to sectarian institutions, on its final passage requiring a two-thirds vote, was defeated in the house 90 to 10, yesterday.

The bill now goes to the senate for final passage. Should the senate fail to give the necessary two-thirds vote, the bill will be dead on the legislative hand, should it get the two-thirds vote, there will be opportunity for a conference between the two houses.

Representative Holmes of Lewiston in speaking against its passage, said: "If this resolve passes, its effect will be to submit to the people of Maine the question of sectarianism, or non-sectarianism, or rather the question of one kind of sectarianism, against another—an entirely new issue in this state. The true non-sectarian is the individual without faith, and we are being told by some people in this great country of ours that the ideal state is the infidel state."

Representative Davis of Portland said the issue was not the giving of public funds to private institutions but whether a constitutional amendment should be submitted to the state. He had heard no reason advanced, which would seem to make such a submission necessary.

"Would the gentleman from Bangor, Mr. Barlow, and those who support him want to go up into the St. John's river valley next summer, and say to those God-fearing people, 'You are Catholics, we cannot trust you.' He hardly thought they would. He said that the resolve had been conceived in intolerance against the Roman Catholic church and he had no patience with such a course."

FEDERAL PROBE OF SUGAR PRICES

Demands for Investigation Now Being Made "Month Behind," Says Hoover

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(By the Associated Press.) All of the six defendants on trial for the murder of Antonio Mulevich of Erie, Pa., today had been identified with the Harrin riots of last June by testimony given by state's witnesses.

The last man, Oscar Howard, was connected with the riot during yesterday's testimony when George Nelson, a farmer, said Howard was one of two men who escorted C. K. McDowell, one of the 27 victims, to the spot where his body was found.

Declares Rush on Inquiry Instituted by the Government on March 4

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Demands now being made for an investigation of sugar price fluctuations "are about a month behind," Secretary Hoover said today, adding that such an inquiry had been instituted by the government on March 4.

The secretary said he was convinced there was no economic justification for high prices of sugar and that the department of commerce and other governmental departments were investigating conditions in Cuba under authority of a law passed by congress authorizing inquiry into combinations of foreign producers of import commodities.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Demands for an investigation of fluctuations in the sugar market, made during the closing days of congress by western senators, were received today by publication of a letter written to President Harding by Basil Manly, director of the People's Legislative Service, charging that the American people were in a fair way of being robbed of $500,000,000 for the benefit of sugar gamblers and profiteers.

"It is suggested," said Mr. Manly, whose organization was formed by members of the progressive bloc in congress, "that as one of the first witnesses the federal grand jury should hear Claus Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining company, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers, aided by the department of commerce, have been enabled to rob the American people of millions of dollars."

Mr. Manly declared the rise in prices had their sole basis, "so far as the public is informed," in a statement issued by the department of commerce on February 9, which was interpreted by the newspapers as predicting a great shortage of sugar during the coming year, and that although Secretary Hoover had declared the statement was misinterpreted, the opening sentence was so worded as to send prices looking upward.

Even after this statement had aroused an orgy of speculative activity on the sugar exchange, and its evil effects were known, the statement continued, "the department of commerce further 'baited' the market by issuing a statement particularly directing attention to the increased consumption of sugar in the United States during the past year."

STEAMER RUNS AGROUND OFF CLAY HEAD

SIBERIA CO-OPERATES IN SOVIET TRADE

VLADIVOSTOK, March 22.—Mr. L. Serbiakoff, former assistant minister of communications, has been sent here as the representative of the department of labor and defense. This is the highest department of the state and comprises the most highly placed communists.

On January 30, the customs house was closed for all commercial operations, and no goods can be imported until it has been proved that they are not in the category of those whose import has been forbidden by order of the soviet government.

The opinion was expressed at a meeting of the far eastern board of communications that the monopoly of foreign trade by the government as a political weapon against the capitalist countries, would not give the same result in the far east as it would on the western front, owing to the fact that the one nation whose frontiers march with those of Russia is China, and "the political opinion of China is dictated by the western world."

HOLBROOK BLINN'S BROADWAY HIT

TALK BY DR. ASPINWALL
AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Dr. William B. Aspinwall of the Worcester Normal school gave a very interesting lecture yesterday afternoon at the State Normal school on the subject of "Making Life Acts Instead of School Acts the Basis of the Curriculum." Dr. Aspinwall received a hearty welcome from the students and faculty of the school and a number of visitors from out-of-town.

Mr. Clarence M. Weed, principal, in introducing Dr. Aspinwall, said: "I believe that the two most important things in education are the teacher and the pupil. The next most important thing is the curriculum. Too many of us have an idea that the curriculum is standardized but it cannot be standardized if it is to keep up to the changing times."

After greeting the pupils of the school and stating his pleasure at being given the opportunity to speak in Lowell, Dr. Aspinwall said in part: "You possibly remember that a very few weeks ago there appeared a report from Dr. Pritchard of the Carnegie Foundation in which the question of 'What is a school for?' was brought forward. This question has caused a great deal of talk and criticism throughout the country and many educators have tried to answer it. I do not propose to answer it fully in my talk this afternoon but, in a way, I shall try to answer it."

"I have been considering this matter from the viewpoint of the normal student, for these have a problem that is almost impossible. You have to teach a comprehensive list of studies that are not life-activities such as arithmetic, geography, history, reading, writing, drawing, handwork, spelling, etc. From this it is easily understood that the young teacher has a big program to undertake, she has many grades to teach and she is usually the only teacher in the building."

"This question of Dr. Pritchard's reflects an attitude of the public at the present time. The demand is for the practical in education, for that which contributes to the practical life and deals with social conditions as they are now and as they change from year to year. But there seems to be considerable difference of opinion as to what is practical. I think the practical is that which contributes directly to the life of the pupil."

"What is the function of the curriculum? It is to facilitate the adjustment to an environment. If we have the necessary knowledge and training we can adjust ourselves quickly, but if the knowledge is lacking, then the adjustment is awkward and slow but we finally do adjust ourselves."

Dr. Aspinwall told several stories of experiences in his German school upon a visit there. He was unable to speak German but he did finally find a way of fitting himself to his environment.

"What is the basis of the curriculum? It is established for the pupil's education, not for what the teachers want for them but it is good psychology to adapt the instruction and training to actual present conditions of the knowledge, tastes and talents of the pupils and it is also good logic to employ a procedure determined by the pupils' capabilities and needs. The activities of the school should be selected and conducted in their direct relation to the pupils and their appropriate educational effect upon them. It must be remembered that the curriculum will be judged by the pupils' response and sometimes the parents are quite a little to blame for the response in the child. The schools do sometimes get more blame than they should."

"Can we get any help from what the pupils do outside of school? The character of their outdoor activities will help us quite a bit. They are original and personal, not directed and controlled, they are immediately purposeful and to them are worth doing, and they also prove that effort and work are not distasteful when desire and interest are strong. They are concerned only with the present and the individual and they are natural, not artificial."

"What do we learn from these facts? I am not trying to find a panacea for all ills of the school, but I am trying to stimulate in you a different way of looking at the vast problem you have before you." Here Dr. Aspinwall told of the various experiments that have been carried out by educators in an endeavor to give the child a chance to work out his own salvation, teaching him to think, to plan, and to learn by observation. He spoke of the experiments carried out by ex-Pres. Hadley, by the Dalton schools, and by the University Elementary school of Columbus, Mo. He also told of the Moraine Park school in Dayton, Ohio, where the subjects taught all came under the head of mastering the arts of life.

"The purpose of these experiments," he said, "was to help the pupils to live more successfully, to permit them to do things in which they normally engage and to provide opportunity for differentiation according to their interests and abilities. These experiments only required a pupil to do all he could to the best of his ability, and that is something that is not as common in our schools as it should be. They also realized that utilizing life activities as topics for study furnished natural program, whereas the traditional curriculum is arbitrary, and they also realized that the motives of pupils in their out-of-door school activities are the best guides for school work."

"The reason for emphasis on life activities is to give direct and immediate service to the community. It helps the home in directing the play life of the children and develops in them the spirit and habit of helpfulness, and provides the student with better direction through wholesome occupation. It requires as the standard the individual's best, not the average of the group, and it trains the pupil to work and to enjoy leisure."

"The final question is how to achieve anything in this direction. The only way is by much child study, a new and different point of view, an active imagination, and in doing less for the children and expecting more from them."

"If you can go out from Normal school carrying the spirit as well as the point of view I have been trying to set before you, you will have a much greater idea of what you have to accomplish and this will help you to accomplish your life's work. I believe it is in this direction that we in the schools are going to find a better means of education and it is the young teachers such as you who are going to bring it to pass. If you have caught the idea of this aim and if you endeavor in some such way as this, then our whole influence will become an inspiration bringing about a more abundant life to the children in our care."

Fine, Fancy, Feminist Fight

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The finest feminist fight staged since women won the vote will, it is predicted in inside suffrage circles, develop at the annual convention of the league of women voters at Des Moines April 6-14. Chief points of contention will be:

1.—Whether to maintain aggressively the line of cleavage that has separated the suffrage activities of the league from those of the national woman's party.

2.—Whether to give official organizational sanction to the league of nations.

3.—What part the organization shall play in the movement for international co-operation to prevent war.

4.—Whether the organization shall hereafter specifically endorse candidates for public office.

In addition to these issues, concerning which there already is much palpitating in league circles, there seems certain to develop a fine factional fight over the election of the several regional directors. In addition to the regional directors, however, there are also to be elected two vice presidents and a treasurer. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president, holds office for one more year.

Candidates "Chosen"

An official "state" of "approved" candidates will be presented to the convention by Miss Esther Ogden of New York, chairman of the nominating committee. Miss Ogden's feeling for democratic policies is declared to be strong. She was vice chairman of the woman's bureau at democratic national headquarters during the 1920 campaign.

Other members of the nominating committee, the composition of which is declared to be significant, are: Mrs. H. B. Chamberlain, Atlanta, described as an "idealistic democrat"; Mrs. Chamberlain is not of the old-line suffrage wing.

Mrs. James E. Chesman of Rhode Island, a D.A.R., not active in suffrage circles until after the vote had been won.

Mrs. T. T. Colman of Arkansas, a delegate-at-large to the democratic convention at San Francisco in 1920.

Mrs. Sadie Hood Passig, Iowa, who represents the viewpoint of middle western women as to what the league should do.

Miss Julia P. George, California, social worker and artist.

Mrs. James W. Morrison, Illinois, who says she has "been muddled in politics" since her girlhood in Richmond, Ind., and who seconded Herbert

Hoover's nomination at Chicago in 1920.

Side-Tracking Old-Timers

If the slate to be presented by this committee is put through, it is predicted an entirely new element in the league will be brought into prominence and the majority of the old-time controlling heads in the organization shifted onto a side-track.

If this is effected, it is likely the organization's work will be turned energetically toward certain heretofore controversial questions involving educating women for citizenship, stimulating them to get out and vote and emphasizing more directly the practical rather than the merely theoretical side of suffrage.

Whether this can be accomplished, however, is a question. Almost every state league has at least one candidate to propose and each state delegation will land in Des Moines ready to battle for its own favorite.

Out of this contest for recognition for new blood and for heretofore unrecognized state leagues, may emerge new leaders and new ideals.

The only thing certain is—before these emerge there will have been one fine and fancy fight, as stated in opening.

GLASS FOR SEDAN CAR

Since plate glass has been holding up the output of sedans in the United States, automobile manufacturers have decided to go into the plate glass business.

In this way, they expect, they will assure themselves a supply of glass sufficient for use on the large number of enclosed cars in demand today.

Henry Ford was the first auto producer to go into this new field of production. His factory, near Pittsburgh, Pa., is being used solely to satisfy his demand for glass for his 100,000 automobiles a month.

Before Ford, the Fisher Body Co., perhaps the largest automobile body manufacturer in the country, had control of the entire output of the National Plate Glass Co., but it divided its product among several manufacturers.

Now comes W. C. Durant with his announcement that he had bought the entire capital stock of the American Plate Glass Co., of Kane, Pa.

The capacity of this factory is said to be between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 square feet of plate glass a year.

The sudden enormous demand for plate glass by the automobile manufacturers is explained by the fact that the production of enclosed cars has risen in one year from 30 to 60 per cent of the total output of all styles of automobiles. This year, due to the plate glass shortage, manufacturers have been unable to meet an even greater demand for such automobiles.

As a result, those who could not get sedans, have been buying open cars and ordering aluminum tops with them as a substitute.

The two automobile manufacturers and the body company now owning plate glass factories, it is estimated, control one-third of the country's total plate glass output. This production is about 120,000,000 square feet a year, of which Fisher body gets between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 feet, Ford about 7,000,000, and Durant 6,000,000 feet.

Other large automobile manufacturers are expected to enter the plate glass field soon, if Fisher body or the independent plate glass companies cannot supply them fast enough.

CHEAP CLOSED CARS

The predominant feature of the country's automobile shows this year will be the cheap closed car. These will be presented in both four and six-cylinder models.

LIKE PUTS AND TAKES

LONDON, March 21.—Five Chinese were arrested and fined for operating gambling resorts. They said the Chinese game of Pak-a-Poi was attracting many Londoners. The only thing they told about the game is that sometimes odds of 4000 to one are offered.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS TO DEVELOP AVIATION

LONDON, March 22.—Signs that Great Britain is planning to devote a great deal more attention to aviation, both civil and military, were to be noted during the two days' sessions of the Third Air Conference just ended. Although only one resolution was passed, calling upon the government to give immediate consideration to the formation of an air mail service throughout the Empire, there was a great deal of serious talk about flying possibilities by speakers who knew their subjects, whether technical or political aspects of aviation's maintenance. A piece in aviation equal to that of any other nation, both from the point of view of commercial flying and the part aerial tactics will play in future military affairs.

Phrases such as "regular 12-hour passenger service between London and New York" and "large fleets of electrically directed airplanes carrying pilots at night, perfectly silent both as to their propellers and engines, carrying them to any town or airport they might descend," were used as arguments in favor of government assistance in aerial development. These arguments were advanced no less strongly by government officials than by prominent technicians and persons who might be interested in any government subsidy that may be decided upon.

There are two principal obstacles in the way of aerial development on a large scale: the government's lack of full of necessary items of no mean magnitude, and there has been considerable rivalry between the Royal Air Force and the Admiralty as to which should hold the dominant position in the development of such new schemes.

Besides, as was pointed out by Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for air, there is the obstacle of "after-war confusion in the world." He had reference particularly to the fact that Germany is not a signatory to the air convention, which has control over civil aviation in European countries, and until there are amendments to international regulations governing commercial aviation, there will be limitations to its development.

Amendments are expected to be effected very shortly.

One of the main factors on the government's aviation program, as was revealed at the conference, is a plan for the training of reserve pilots and mechanics.

Strong arguments were advanced from the point of view of economy. Commander Charles Dennistoun Burney, member of parliament for Middlesex, pointed out that 15 airships could be produced for the cost of one battleship, that 60 airships could do the work of 60 cruisers, thereby saving the sum of 5,000,000 pounds sterling, and that the cost of each of his airships would be 77 pounds to do with cruisers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon brought out a large number of the directors of the association, and enthusiasm ran high during several of the sessions. The reports of the secretary, treasurer, physical director, and the Girl Reserve department, and the Girl Reserve department, were submitted, and other routine business was transacted.

Miss Anna M. Baker, general secretary, in her report, outlined the work accomplished during the past year, explaining the work of each department.

The officers and directors elected at yesterday's meeting for the coming year are as follows:

Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, president; Mrs. Arthur Wright, first vice president; Miss Nathan Puffer, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Landon, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Barber, Miss Helen Barnes, Miss Elsie P. Bradt, Mrs. Royal K. Dexter, Mrs. Charles Drew, Mrs. James Fleming, Mrs. E. J. Holden, Mrs. Charles E. Loney, Mrs. Walter L. Muzzey, Mrs. Louis Olney, Mrs. D. L. Page, Mrs. William L. Roberts, Mrs. Carl J. Sittler, Miss Emily Skilton, Mrs. John A. Stevens, Mrs. Gunner Talbot, Mrs. A. E. Taylor, Miss Rita Thompson, Mrs. Charles T. Upton, Mrs. George Upton, Mrs. William J. ## FASCIST ORGANIZATION

Italian Ambassador Gives Government Views on Branch in This Country

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Commenting on published reports that an attempt was being made to perfect a Fascist organization in this country, the Italian ambassador in a formal statement, said Ambassador Gaetani, had been "approached by young men seeking his advice for the formation of a Fascist."

"He has constantly declared," the statement continued, "that for obvious reasons of correctness towards the United States government the Italian representatives could not have anything to do with the formation of the Fascist, nor participate in their meetings and manifestations."

The ambassador emphasized that the Fascist in the United States, if they were to be formed, should not be political, should abstain from parades or any action that might be contrary to the public sentiment and should always conform to the laws and spirit of the country which has extended to them its hospitality, proving thereby that Italians intend to act always towards the United States with perfect loyalty.

"He also warned them against certain self-styled Fascists who, seeking self-interests or notoriety, might not be imbued with the noble spirit that animates Italy and not be conscious of their duties towards the United States."

THIS EMPLOYER MAKES HELP HIS HEIRS

KANSAS CITY, March 21.—When death claims Ernest H. Wright, his sole heirs will be the employees of the industry he founded.

Wright is the inventor and manufacturer of liquid smoke, used in curing hams. He owns a large building here and two manufacturing plants in localities.

Wright kept carefully secret. He does more than $500,000 worth of business yearly.

More than two years ago Wright made a formal will bequeathing the business to those employed in it. He has no other heirs.

It started in June, 1912, when Wright went away for a month's vacation and told no one where he was going. It was up to his employees to run the business without direction from him.

In that month the company did a bigger business than in any other month of its history!

So upon his return Wright called his workers together and told them any month they duplicated that record he'd add 25 per cent to the pay of each and for every $1000 over the record he'd grant an increase of 8 per cent.

In the weeks that followed employees often found as much as 95 per cent added to their wages.

Then two years ago, Wright went to Japan for two years, telling no one his address. The business rolled right along and produced profits as usual.

Now says Wright: "I'm satisfied they can carry on the business when I'm dead. I prescribe no form of management in my will. They've watched me run this business for years and they must find a way."

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "What can I do to keep my child healthy?"

I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 815 Washington St., Mendota, Illinois. Do it now!

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards.

As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures," over-effective, weakening and griping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enas S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly.

Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!

ONLY SUPERFICIAL

ONLY SUPERFICIAL

MOSCOW, March 22.—The surface comfort which Moscow now shows to foreign visitors, and the prosperity which her native producers enjoy, is not reflected in the lives of workingmen and the other native residents who make up the bulk of her population.

All are living better than last year, but recent statistics of workers' districts show that instead of the approximately 16 square yards of living space which is the legal allotment for each person, many workmen's families have only one and a half square yards of living space for each person, and that many have to sleep in relay on the basis of one bed for four persons.

In one children's home 50 per cent of the inmates have lived so long on a scanty diet that they had utterly forgotten even the taste of milk, meat and fats. In one district a survey of these homes showed 85 per cent of the children suffering from tuberculosis, or predisposed to that malady because of undernourishment and overcrowding.

TOO WEAK TO WALK

Lost All Strength After Years of Suffering

"I suffered for years with non-assimilation of food, nervousness, nervous chills, and irregular and weak heart action. I lost flesh and strength until I was scarcely able to walk. My limbs got so numb and weak that when I tried to walk even a short distance I felt I must sit down at once if I didn't want to fall down. A friend told me that Wincarnis would be the best thing in the world for me. I took Wincarnis and such it proved to be in my case. It helped me in every way and did it quickly. I soon gained new flesh and blood, strength and vim. I feel alive once more. I always keep Wincarnis on hand for I found it a friend, tried and true."

ARTISTS MAKE PROTEST

Radio Broadcasting Proving Disastrous For Composers and Singers

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Radio broadcasting is proving disastrous financially for many composers and singers, J. G. Rosenthal, counsel for the American society of composers, authors and publishers said yesterday at the national radio conference called by the department of commerce. He said copyrights of his clients were infringed by the radio operations and that steps were in preparation for legal action to protect them.

Reproduction of musical compositions in the radio stations constituted public performance, Mr. Rosenthal contended. He assured representatives of educational institutions and others that their musical program would not be affected, adding, however, that the large commercial stations would be asked to make amends.

"This radio use of our members' compositions is already making great inroads upon the sale of phonographs and records," Mr. Rosenthal declared, "and reducing the royalties which our members are entitled to receive. We anticipate the encroachment of the radio upon the phonograph field will be further since it is now announced that new apartment houses going up in New York have radio installations and people are dancing to the music transmitted. It is probable that from things we hear, the extension of the art will go further and the telephone and telegraph companies will install instruments and render regular service."

PROTEST WEEK PLANNED
BY COMMUNISTS

FRANKFURT-ON-THINE-MAIN, Germany, March 22. (By One Associated Press.)—Communist demonstrations are to be held in all the countries of the world from April 15 to 22, as part of an international protest week program directed primarily against the occupation of the Ruhr, according to a resolution adopted at the closing session of the international communist conference here. The protest week, the resolution says, will also include demonstrations against the treaty of Versailles, the danger of war and against Fascism.

The resolution embodies 18 general points with supplementary individual programs for the communists of the various European countries. It provides for an international committee of action consisting of 21 members. To this committee is assigned the task of uniting all political and economic organizations.

Radio Wipes Out Scar of Heredity

DEAF BOYS AND GIRLS TAKING THE SUN'S TEST TO DETERMINE VALUE OF RADIO IN CURING DEAFNESS. BELOW, MARY JONES, DEAF FROM BIRTH, "LISTENING IN."

By N. E. A. SERVICE
COLUMBIUS, O., March 21.—Radio can wipe out hereditary deafness.

Mary Jones of Akron, O., is living proof. Mary Jones' parents are deaf. They loved; they married. They knew that if they were to have children, those children might never hear their parents' voices. For the chances were hereditary would predestine them to deafness.

Mary Jones is now 17. During those 17 years she had heard no sound until the other day when an experiment was tried at the behest of NEA Service.

Mary was one of nine pupils—six girls and three boys—who were taken tested to hearing sounds and recognizing the changing sounds when organizations of laborers for "the battle against international imperialism" and the eventual summoning of an international congress of workers. The German communists are instructed to work particularly for the downfall of Premier Poincare of France and the overthrow of the Cuno government in Germany.

Clara Zetkin denounced the Fascist movement and advocated boycotting the Italian Fascist. She declared that within a few weeks past 8000 workers had been sent to jail by the Fascist. The most effective offensive weapon, she argued, would be the prevention of Italian imports entering the United States and England, "without which Italy cannot exist."

from the Ohio School for the Deaf by Superintendent J. W. Jones to the radio studio of the Superior Radio and Telephone Equipment company.

Each was of a high degree of mentality and the group included others deaf from birth, some who once heard but had become deaf and two with a small degree of hearing.

Each pupil was given a turn at "listening in" while the reactions of each was carefully ascertained by Jones.

When Mary Jones' turn came, she listened attentively a moment, by turns eagerness, puzzlement, realization illumined her face.

"I do hear!" she exclaimed. She instrumental music and vocal music were alternated.

Mary Jones now has hopes of hearing her parents' voices. She believes that if they speak into a radio she will hear them—for the first time in her life!

Leora Sutton, 14, Newark, totally deaf but with training in rhythm on the piano, recognized changes in sounds of the different instruments, but could not differentiate between the instruments and the human voice.

Sarah Fowler, 15, Platts, who has approximately 20 per cent of hearing could differentiate among singing announcements and the playing of an orchestra.

Mary Kelch, 20, Cincinnati, with 10 per cent of hearing, recognized music and the voice and knew changes in sound.

Fred Sutton, 15, Newark, and Gus Strauss, 16, Cincinnati, could hear nothing.

"Radio can never restore complete hearing to the deaf," asserted Superintendent Jones. "The most that can be hoped for, I believe, is that it may have teaching and educational possibilities."

"There seems to be no doubt that the vibrations of the radio receivers stimulate the hearing of several of the pupils."

"Deaf persons can feel vibrations from musical instruments, but the pupils said that in this case they actually heard, rather than felt the sounds."

Merrimack Valley
MOTOR TRUCK CLUB

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 22.—Motor truckmen of Lowell are being invited to join in the newly organized Merrimack Valley Motor Truck club, a temporary organization which was formed a short time ago. A meeting has been announced for next Monday night, the 26th, at 8 o'clock, in the Lawrence chamber of commerce offices.

Need for this organization has long been felt by Lawrence truckmen. This feeling was crystallized into a definite organization several weeks ago when motor truck interests in the state joined in protest against the proposed regulatory measure for motor trucks on state highways. At that time

EXPECT RADIO DECISION IN A FEW DAYS

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Informed by two days of discussion of other conflicts and obstacles now hampering wireless use, radio experts and government officials attending the radio conference here went into executive session late yesterday to consider action, which may lead to betterment of conditions.

Communications Commissioner Carson of the commerce department's bureau of navigation, acting chairman of the conference, said a day or more might be necessary before the conferees could solve all of its problems.

The primary object will be to parcel out among users new and less conflicting bands of wave lengths, and to prescribe operating conditions which will allow commercial services, broadcasters, navigators, the army and navy and amateurs to be less hampered in their operations.

Problems put before the conference yesterday ranged from the direct noise given by American composers, through J. G. Rosenthal, as counsel for the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, that they would strive to extend the copyright laws to give them royalties from radio broadcast concerts, to the plea of Texas cattlemen for protection in the wireless launching of stockyards reports to give them knowledge as to whether packing centers were ready for their livestock shipments.

Spokesmen for commercial companies and manufacturers asked that special arrangements be made in wireless wave allocations to high class, high powered broadcasting of expensive entertainment and informative programs, by separating their wave bands from those of less efficient transmitters. Amateur representatives likewise sought scope in the ether less congested by vibrations of other users.

Mr. Rosenthal, painting a pathetic picture of the straits of average American music composers, of whom he said "only 12 are making an income," declared his society regarded radio concerts as public performances.

Operators of broadcasting stations, whose conflicts are considered most serious, argued for various rulings. "Newspapers have a hard by the fall which they can't let loose," Leo Fitzpatrick, radio director of the Kansas City Star, declared. "There are no monetary returns from the installations. There isn't one of them which is self-supporting. Yet we consider it a duty to give first to the public any new thing, and to pioneer in its utilization."

Commissioner Carson indicated that the conference considered that voluntary agreement of radio users to its decisions would be depended upon after its work is finished. It is possible, however, that President Harding will be asked to frame an executive order as to some of the wave-length dispositions contemplated.

Pan-American Conference Meets Sunday

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Expectation that the Fifth Pan-American congress which opens here Sunday, will reach an agreement to reduce armament expenditures, does not appear to be optimistically entertained by arriving delegates. The opinion prevails that after a discussion the question is likely to be referred to a committee for further study.

To Relieve Congestion in Courts

BOSTON, March 22.—As a measure to relieve congestion in the courts and to prevent long delays on appeals, the legislature committee on judiciary today voted in favor of a bill which would require persons accused of misdemeanors to elect whether they should be tried by lower courts or by judge and jury in the superior court. The choice once made, they would have to abide by the verdict given, obviating the present numerous appeals.

WIRE SCREENS PREVENT GASES EXPLODING

CHICAGO, March 20.—Discoveries of far-reaching importance to industrial concerns and others handling flammable solvents such as gasoline, ether, alcohol, amyl acetate and light oils, have been announced by the Fire Underwriters Laboratories as a result of a study of the fire hazard from volatile liquids.

Screens of fine brass, copper or silver mesh, the chemists discovered, will prevent the spread of flames through vapor filled pipes connecting storage tanks of the highly inflammable liquids. The investigation was undertaken at the request of one of the world's largest explosive manufacturers to reduce the fire hazard in his factories, but the discovery will be applicable wherever dangerous solvents are handled.

The experiments covered flat and cone shaped wire screens in pipes of iron

GOV. HARDING SPEAKS

Tells N. E. Business Men of Possibilities of So. America For Trade

BOSTON, March 22.—New England business men were directed to the possibilities of South America and Central America as a field for increased commercial relations, and Cuba was pointed to as the key to that trade, in an address by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, at the University club last night. After completing his work as governor of the Federal Reserve board at Washington, Mr. Harding spent six weeks in Cuba, and he said his observations were the result of study at that time.

The United States, he believed, transacted a larger volume of business with Cuba than with any country in Europe, excepting Great Britain. Cuba has maintained a profitable trade balance in every recent year but 1921, he added, and the Cuban people being large consumers of textiles and of shoes, New England had a splendid opportunity of winning new trade. For that reason, he said, it would be an excellent proposition for New England business men to visit Cuba and cultivate friendly relations.

one-half to six inches in diameter, and showed that when properly applied the screens would halt the flames although the rest of the pipe was filled with a dangerous vapor mixture. Mixtures of ether and alcohol, alcohol, light oil and amyl acetate. The investigation also included benzol, toluol, turpentine, kerosene, and alcohol, acetone, amyl acetate, naphthalene, glycerine, linseed oil, cottonseed oil, lamp oil, paraffin oil, etc.

HELD SECOND ANNUAL SOCIAL AND DANCE

The Junior Y.M.H.A. conducted its second annual social and dance at Lincoln hall last evening and the affair was a big success. The hall was beautifully decorated with the club colors, purple and gold, while ferns added to the beauty of the scene. In the early part of the evening concert numbers were given by the orchestra and later general dancing was started and continued till a reasonable hour. Those responsible for the success of the affair were E. Freedman, M. Cohen, M. Weiss, B. Rosenfeld and H. Kaplan, general committee; H. Brand, G. Bloom, N. Kaplan and Preenbaum, checking; H. Kaplan, G. Bloom, H. Brand and H. Greenbaum, refreshments; G. Bloom, publicity; H. Kaplan

NEW PERMANENT COURT SYSTEM FOR ALL RUSSIA

MOSCOW, March 22.—The revolutionary tribunals which, along with the dreaded "Cheka," were instruments of red terror during the worst period of the bolshevik revolution, passed into history the other day when a new and permanent court system was inaugurated throughout Russia. While founded upon lines not unlike those of the court systems of some other European countries, the new Russian courts have some particularly communist features all their own.

The supreme court of Russia, which will sit in Moscow, will have three branches. One will be for criminal cases, one for civil and the other a court of appeal. There will be also district courts to try cases of local importance, and the "Peoples" courts, corresponding to police magistrates, will operate in each village and city district to try minor offenses.

Peter Stuchka, Latvian lawyer, who gained fame as the bolshevik dictator of Latvia when Riga was in the hands of the communists, has been named as chairman of the supreme court. Another Lett, M. Karklin, will be his assistant. In the criminal, civil and appeal branches, however, the supreme court judges are mostly men who served in responsible positions in the revolutionary tribunals. All communists tried and true. Jacob Peters, who headed the "Cheka" at Petrograd during the red terror, is one of the judges of the criminal department. M. Kutsky, commissar of justice, will be chief prosecutor or attorney general in the new court system. The active prosecutor will be Vladimir Krylenko, formerly chairman of the revolutionary tribunals.

A peculiar feature of the new system is that a species of "juror" is introduced. There will be two of them in each case, sitting beside the judge and having full powers to question witnesses and attorneys. They will retire with the judge to decide upon the guilt or innocence of the accused, a majority vote of the three serving to convict or free the prisoner. Panels of these prospective jurymen are now being selected throughout Russia. The various trade unions and professional organizations select them from their own numbers, and they must be ready to go into court at any time they are called upon. The Moscow quota of jurors is 4000. When they sit in trials the jurymen are paid not by the government, but by their employers, receiving their regular day's wages for the time spent in court.

When the new court system is in full swing, it is expected that most of the lawyers appearing will be men trained in the law courts of the old regime. Professional unions of lawyers are being organized, subject to the approval of the soviet authorities.

YALE EXPECTS A GREAT CREW

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Yale crews that take the water this spring under the direction of Coach Ed Leader will be more like the famous Bob Cook crews of a quarter of a century ago than any at Yale since the Cook stroke was abandoned in 1903.

This is the belief of the men who have been following rowing at Yale for more than 50 years, who have seen Cook crews row to many a brilliant victory, who have watched coaches at Yale come and go with an infinite variety of strokes and theories, who have seen Yale vainly trying to "settle down" with a definite rowing policy, and who now believe that the Yale in a Coach Leader a man who more closely approaches the methods of Cook than any one who has taught at Yale in recent years.

Whether a return to the Cook stroke means a return to the era of Yale supremacy on the water is a question that is arousing much interest, and many hopes in the Blue boathouse this year.

Just what significance a return to the methods of Cook can have at Yale would be hard to realize were it not for an understanding of what his name represents in the rowing history of the Blue.

To all Yale men Bob Cook is a tradition. His age was the "Golden Age" of rowing at Yale, when the Blue crews took the water year after year with a confidence that was unbeatable. That age has long since passed, but the Bulldog ever looks forward with grim hope to a renaissance. Whether this year will bring even the beginning of stability to Yale rowing is something that is being eagerly watched.

The stroke that is being taught at Yale today is essentially the same stroke that Cook brought back from England after his now historic trip there in 1873. It may differ in some slight details, as in the finish, but fundamentally it has the same characteristics. It is the same adaptation of the English stroke that Cook developed, and which was later dropped when Yale's succession of English coaches introduced the genuine English stroke that in some way never quite seemed to fit American oarsmen.

One of the first steps that Leader has taken at Yale is to restore the old indoor rowing tank that for several years had been hoisted over for the use of the wrestling team. Then he put the oarsmen in a straight line over the keel as Cook had done, instead of seating them in the zig-zag English fashion. He requested swivel oarlocks instead of the English thole-pin model, though the thole-pin is highly rated by the English because its click at the end of each stroke is a mechanical aid to precision.

He has brought his own boat builder with him, discarding the type of shell imported by the English coaches. His model seats the oarsmen higher above the water. All these features of his mechanical equipment were characteristic of Cook's era.

But the parallel does not end here. In his demands on the oarsmen themselves, Leader has followed Cook. He urges the necessity of a greater perfection of inboard work, and precision of the bodies throughout the stroke.

LOCAL MARINE ON PACIFIC BATTLESHIP

Cruising about the Pacific and visiting the various ports along the west coast, Henry Joseph Lapointe, son of Mrs. Florida Lapointe, 447 Moody st., this city, is now a member of the U. S. Marine guard on the dreadnaught, Texas, one of the battleships of the Pacific fleet. His name appears on a list of Marines attached to that vessel.

Henry joined the Marines at their recruiting station in Denver, Colo., April 10, 1921, and for several months was stationed at Mare Island, Cal. Later he was assigned to duty on the Texas, where the Marines are trained to man certain types of guns and to perform guard duties. Occasionally the Marines come ashore for practice marches, or visit the larger cities on the Pacific coast when the vessel drops anchor near Los Angeles or San Francisco.

In recent weeks the Texas has been stationed at Bremerton, Wash., but will probably leave shortly for other ports. No doubt the local boy will have many interesting experiences to recount of his life afloat when he returns home.

ESSAY WRITING CONTEST DATE CHANGED

Chamber of commerce officials announced today that at the request of Supt. of Schools Molloy and because of the local Easter observances scheduled, dates for the essay-writing contests at the local schools, will be changed from "Egals" on April 1 to April 6.

It was first suggested to the chamber authorities that the preliminary writings of the essays be held about three days before April 1, and the work completed and filed by April 1. As this breaks into the local Easter Day observance programs, it has been thought best to have the pupils begin writing the essays on Tuesday, April 3, and have them completed and turned in by Friday, April 6.

Announcement of the prizes was also made today. The grand prize for the best essay in the Lowell schools this year, in observance of the annual chamber of commerce "Lowell Day," will be a Hamilton gold, full-jeweled watch, suitably engraved. The other prizes for winners in each school class department, will be sterling silver Bv-ersharp pencils.

SCRAMBLE FOR OIL

It is but natural that the powers of Europe are trying to get hold of all the great oil fields of the world. England is the most farsighted of all the nations in planning for her own advantage in all such necessary commodities as oil. She looks out for her own interests in a way that usually leaves other nations asking why they did not use equal foresight.

It is now alleged that England, Holland and France have secured control of all the greatest sources of oil outside the United States, notably in the Asiatic oil fields. The modern changes in the modes of transportation and the use of oil for fuel not only in motor vehicles, but in ships and even instead of coal for factories, make it one of the vital necessities of every progressive nation in peace as well as in war.

In addition to gaining control of most of the foreign fields, it is found that foreign investors have secured control of much of the oil supply of the United States. But there is a law forbidding foreign control of such resources unless the countries to which those investors belong give the United States investors an equal chance in their oil fields.

Secretary Hughes is said to be acting upon this principle, endeavoring to maintain the open door in oil.

It is claimed, however that if the government keeps out of the rivalry altogether, the private American companies will so arrange matters that they will be able to secure for this country all the oil needed at a moderate price. That assumption does not concure with the threat made by some British investors that by jumping the price in oil, they would force the United States to pay the greater part of the war loans to Britain. Formerly it was coal and iron that ruled the mechanical world; but now, it appears that oil will take precedence over coal and become an object of such world-wide demand that the natural oil fields everywhere will be developed to their utmost capacity; and in every progressive country oil will be one of the most important articles of commerce, either as an export or an import.

One Question Answered

Uncle Theodore was staying with the Greens family. One day, wishing to speak to Mr. Green at his office, and not being able to find the number in the telephone directory, he called Little Betty Greene to him and asked, "Betty, what is your father's telephone number?" "Don't know," replied Betty's reply. "What does mother ask for," said Uncle, patiently, "when she talks to daddy at the office?" "Money," replied the child promptly.

Too Much Hemlock

The lumberjack was directed to proceed from camp to the nearest town and arrange for certain supplies. This entailed a long tramp through a forest composed of hemlock. For miles and miles he trudged through a never-ending growth of hemlock. At night he camped. The hemlock was hard to cut and when it was cut it made a poor fire. Hemlock roots tripped him and boughs of hemlock scratched his face. So when he finally emerged it was not inappropriately that he remarked: "Gosh all hemlock!"

Twins All Right

After much excitement the Smiths had at last managed to catch the train and were on their way. The last five or six hours had to them been too full of hurry and bustle to think of anything but catching the train. Now, when they could sit quietly for a while, they began to wonder if they had left anything behind. "No," said Mr. Smith, with great satisfaction, "I think we have remembered everything." Mrs. Smith gave a shriek. "O, Harry," she gasped, "I forgot to turn off the electric iron. Don't worry, darling," he replied, "nothing will happen. I forgot to turn off the shower bath."

Very Quiet Wedding

"In my state," says a Kentuckian, "is a town so full of family feuds and quarrels that the account of any festivity is sure to contain items of anything but a pleasant nature. A recent wedding presented such unusual features that it was spoken of with wonder by the inhabitants of the town. I never saw anything pass off so pretty and calm as Bud and Harriet's wedding in all my days," said one of the invited guests a week after the wedding. "Why, there wasn't a single customer excepting the Thomas black eyes, and we got Henry Morton off him without half trying—you know we did. There didn't seem to be any what you might call family feeling at that wedding, anyhow."

Capitol Jokes

U. S. Representative A. P. Nelson from Wisconsin takes a lot of fun out of his office. Everybody and this is one of his favorites: Everybody thinks the other man's job is pretty soft. It's hard to realize the difficulties and hard work involved in a task that's different from your own. The old custom of carrying a cane, for example, the doctor had visited his house and one of his neighbors came over to inquire the reason. "My wife is sick," explained the farmer. "Don't know just what's the matter. She got up this morning and got breakfast for me and the hands, at the same time, and washed and baked some pies and bread—mebbe ten loaves or so—and then she churned and cleaned up the house a little and fed the pigs and chickens and weeded some of the garden and mended some of the clothes and she always does, when all of a sudden she keeled over. I can't think what's the matter, for she's been doing housework like that without no trouble for nigh onto fifteen years."

Gents on the Stage

One of Sir Randon Ronald's reminiscences concerns a production of Gluck's "Orfeo," in which real natty gents were introduced in the scene depicting the elysian fields. "Our expectations were surpassed," in the middle of Sofia Kovakoff's solo the natty gents began to beat all over the stage, the audience uttered a roar of laughter, and the dramatic effect was ruined. Harris told me to rush around to Arthur Collins and get the natty gents off the stage as quietly as ever he could. After much signing and pantomime to the fat Italian choristers, these wretched animals were eventually pulled and pushed and hauled back to my seat to find Harris furious. However, things settled down again, but to our horror we heard the beat in the distance about a quarter of an hour after we had believed the episode to be closed. Harris got up and went to the stage himself, using unparliamentary language to Arthur Collins, and asking why the natty gents had not been taken entirely out of the building. Collins assured him that they were out of the building, when another beat was heard. Harris shouted furiously, "Why, I can hear one of those wretched beasts now!" "O, no," said Arthur Collins, "I went to the balcony and saw the natty gents. Signor Mancinelli laughing at some story which Calve has just told him. It was so."

To a Grouch

If you're feeling grouchy the world seems all askew. Don't blame the other fellow. It's more likely you to you. Just cultivate a cheerful smile. And say a kindly word. Don't pass the ugly gloom along. It's really quite absurd. A hearty heart is a merry heart. And life rolls on like a song. To the fellow who sings and whistles to. When everything goes wrong; Who, with head erect and marching air. Makes living worth the while; Who battles himself and his troubles, too. In the sunshine of a smile. He knows not of, nor yet cares he Of the troubles of tomorrow; He's just one day behind you see In the borrow of tomorrow. But always one day ahead of the game. When others are repining. That the darkest cloud he sees naught else But his glorious silver lining. REINHARD D. WARD, 198 South St.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Work is progressing rapidly on the proposed park at the entrance to First street. This week I noticed a large gang of workmen filling in the crevices with earth and other dry debris in order to bring the land to a level. Old Varnum park at the corner of First and Bridge streets has completely lost its splendor, but the new addition will more than repay for the temporary state of apparent desolation. When completed, the new park should prove a beautiful spot on the Centralville side of the river.

Holy Cross alumni in Lowell who attended the recent banquet of the American-Irish Historical society in Memorial hall, were disappointed somewhat when it was announced that Gov. William S. Flynn of Rhode Island, who was scheduled as the principal speaker, was unable to appear. Owing to home affairs which demanded his attention. The committee had arranged a special table for H. C. men in a conspicuous place in the hall, and it was also planned to give a reception to the visiting governor, who was a classmate at Holy Cross with D. F. Finnegan, Lowell's director of school hygiene.

Not so many years ago, Paul Whitehead who appeared here with his orchestra a few months back, was stranded in Los Angeles. The other day news despatches stated that Paul Whitehead and his orchestra had sailed for London for a 10-weeks' visit. Paul has proved that jazz is the most popular form of music today. Soon after reaching New York from the west, he incorporated himself and now has about 21 bands playing about the country and is said to be earning a salary of $150,000 a year. Not so bad for a gent who was broke a short while ago in the City of the Angels.

An event which has escaped previous notice, took place at the evening church last Sunday when a specialty prepared musical program, under the direction of John J. Kelly, was pleasingly rendered. Among those who contributed to the program were Miss Ellen P. Lynch, soprano, who sang "Immaculate Conception," Mr. Timothy Finnegan, tenor, who sang by Rosini, and a trio, Mrs. MacCallister, Mrs. John H. McMahon and George A. Kirwin in "Jesu Del Vini." At the Immaculate Conception church after the high mass Sunday and again in the evening the choir sang the hymn to St. Patrick with great vim and expression. The solos were well sung and the chorus with the accompaniment of the great organ was truly inspiring.

When the spark of poetic thought, and possibly genius, is found in the breast of a child, should be carefully and nurtured into life. Hyman Goldfarb, 11-year-old pupil in the 7th grade of the Charles W. Morey school, has been "making up" poems for some time, but not until today has he dared even to submit a publication to use one of them. Today, however, he made such a request in the interest of his poem, "Bedtime," herewith given:

Bedtime
When the clock has struck its eight over,
And the lark is asleep in the clover,
My head, which feels dreary in want of sleep,
Sees the road to Dreamland so broad and steep.

The sandman hovers above me,
And gradually sleep settles over me.
For I journey to the land of immortals,
To the land that has no portals.

And there in that beautiful fairyland,
Where gold is strewn about as sand,
The fairy, the bee, and so swift the fawn,
Never grow old as time flies on.

An old, old fortress with uprising turrets,
My army of soldiers in order about me,
Are ready to stand and to fight for victory.

When the clock has struck its eight over,
And the lark is asleep in the clover,
My head, which feels dreary in want of sleep,

SAM WALTER FOSS LITERARY CLUB

"Gentlemen's Night" was held last night at Page's restaurant by the members of the Sam Walter Foss Literary club and their gentlemen guests. The affair was opened at 7 o'clock with the serving of a delicious turkey supper, and the first hour was given to the enjoyment of the various courses placed before them by the caterer. After the dishes had been cleared away a musical program was given by the Mandelsohn sextet, Mr. C. Harry Howard leading, and readings were given by Mrs. Gage. The program was as follows: "Song of the Vikings," sextet; "The Heart," Mr. Patton; "Onward," sextet; "The Day of Glory," reading by Mrs. Gage; "The Blue Rose," Miss Thompson; "Uncle Dudley's Party," sextet; "Mourning," Mr. Paskell; "I Love You," Miss Thompson and Mr. Needham; "Sweet and Low," Mrs. Roberts; "Home," reading by Mrs. Gage; "The Bottom of the Sea," Mr. Needham; "Sweetest Story Ever Told," Miss Thompson and Mrs. Roberts; "Lucia," sextet; "Good Night," sextet. Mrs. C. Harry Howard was in charge of the affair and was assisted by the other officers of the club. George H. Thompson announced the sextet for the entire program.

KAZAN, March 22.—The wolves have come back to the steppes. In the cold winter nights on the wind-swept plains of the Tatar Republic, the nomadic tribes report, more wolves have been seen this year than for decades past. They have grown so bold that they howl at the very doors of the dug-outs or mud houses that the wandering Tschuvash and Bashkir people inhabit in the winter in place of their summer tents.

In the Tatar Republic, the Tschuvash and Bashkir territories, more than 10,000 head of cattle have already been destroyed by the wolves this winter. This destruction among live stock, already depleted by the famine, is so serious that the government has launched a campaign throughout the province to kill the wolves. Huge bounties are being organized. The population has very few rifles, and little or no ammunition on hand, therefore it is considered probable that soldiers of the Red Army will be used in a wolf drive.

"Yesterday rubbing till you ached - today soaking takes the place of rubbing"
For all wash day methods - soaking, boiling or for washing machines

The suds of this new soap soak the dirt right out

*With this new kind of soap all but actually ground-in dirt comes out
easily - safely*

WITH this new kind of soap, soaking takes the place of rubbing.

Simply soaking in its thick, lasting suds loosens all the dirt. Even the places where dirt gets ground-in—seats and knees of children's play clothes, cuff-edges and neck-bands of men's shirts—need only a light rubbing.

The old way of washing meant ceaseless rubbing—rubbing soap here and there on the clothes and then rubbing the clothes—a long-drawn-out method. It was so tiring, and it was hard on the clothes, too. But it was the only way to get the dirt out.

Now Rinso has changed all this. It is so rich in pure soap, yet so gentle and mild, that soaking in its big lasting suds takes the place of rubbing.

The only places you have to rub the dirt out are where somebody rubbed it in, and even these places you have to rub but lightly.

Where this light rubbing is necessary just sprinkle on a little dry Rinso. The most obstinate spots will disappear at once.

You need no soap powder or other soap with Rinso. It takes the place of bar soap for every washing method. It does the whole job.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap-makers in the world. It is as wonderful for the regular week-in, week-out family wash as Lux is for fine things—just as easy and safe to use.

All grocery and department stores have Rinso in two sizes—in the regular size and the big new package.

Get Rinso today and learn what wonderful results you can get, and how much of the drudgery of wash-day you can do away with. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

If you have a washing machine

These washing machine manufacturers say to use Rinso in their machines—Apex, Bluebird, Coffield, "1900" Cataract, Gainaday, Getz, Haag, Horton, Laundryette, Meadows, One Minute, Rotarex, Sunnysuds, Surf, Trojan, Voss

These men advise the public to use Rinso in their washing machines just as the textile manufacturers advise the public to wash their fabrics in Lux.

"We have tried out Rinso and other soaps—many of them good—in our machine, but for all 'round satisfaction we recommend Rinso." That's what the president of the Rotarex Company says.

The president of the Laundryette Company writes: "We found no little soapy particles floating around in the water in our tests with Rinso as we did with some of the other soaps. Twelve minutes was the average operating period with Rinso and not a single article had to be hand rubbed."

DISSOLVE — USE ENOUGH — SOAK

THESE are the simple directions for using Rinso. Just dissolve Rinso in boiling water in a saucepan. Make a good thick solution. Fill your tub with luke-warm water until tub is half full. Pour your solution into the tub. Then put in your clothes. Be sure that the suds stand up even after the clothes are in; if they do not, add a little more of the Rinso solution. Let the clothes soak an hour—all night if you wish. (Colored clothes, of course, not longer than half an hour.) Then rinse them out.

With Rinso you will find you do not have to boil, but if you like to boil your white cottons, pour enough Rinso solution into your boiler to give you the suds you like.

If you have a washing machine, use enough Rinso solution to give good suds. Rinso suds have just the body needed in the washing machine.

Rinso

that does the whole job*

Jack Daw in Balloon Land. Chapter 19

Of course, you won't be surprised to know that Jack Daw, the little adventurer, is very fond of candy. That's why we find him looking in a candy store window, admiring the various chocolates, bonbons, and other sweets. Jack is trying to decide what kind of candy he will buy.

There were so many different kinds that Jack finally decided that he would buy a big box with a little of everything in it. Entering the store he handed the candy man his money and told him what he wanted. Soon Jack was out on the street again. Wonder where I'll go now, he thought.

Suddenly an idea came to him. I'll just walk over into the woods, find a big tree and sit down and eat my candy, said Jack to himself. He called to his dog, Flip, to follow him and was soon seated beneath a large oak tree. Then he started to unwrap his fine box of sweets. (Continued.)

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—The old Continental Hotel, a landmark in Philadelphia, which has sheltered presidents, emperors, princes, generals, authors and grand opera stars, to say nothing of others of prominence in the heyday of its activity, will soon be razed.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of George U. Gott, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased, Intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Paul M. Gott, of Lowell, in said County; or to some other suitable person.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the third day of April, A. D. 1923, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

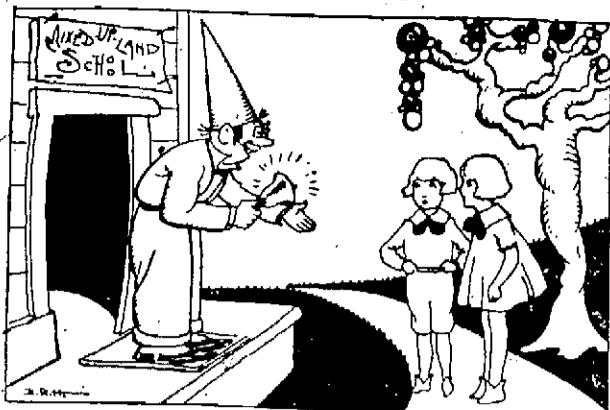

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to the heirs-at-law and next of kin of said deceased seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, first judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three. F. M. ESTY, Registrar.

Adventures of The Twins

A MIXED-UP SCHOOL

THE SCHOOLMASTER WAS RINGING HIS BELL AS THE TWINS PASSED AND HE ASKED THEM IN.

And you can imagine, my dears, day, Wednesday, Tuesday, Monday," how the schools got mixed up in Mix-Up Land.

The schoolmaster was ringing his bell as the twins passed and he asked them in.

So they thanked him and went inside.

The scholars sat with their backs to the teacher, the writing on the boards was upside down, and the stove was on the ceiling. Instead of taking their wraps off, the children put them on, and instead of taking their books out to study, they hid them away. Everybody talked at once and nobody listened a thing.

"What shape is the earth?" asked the schoolmaster.

"Square!" answered the school.

"Good! Now spell 'boy,'" commanded the master.

"G-I-L-I," spelled the school.

"Same the days of the week?" was the next thing.

"Sunday, Saturday, Friday, Thursday, Wednesday, Tuesday, Monday," was the answer.

"How many eggs in a dozen?"

"Eleven."

"Where is the north pole?"

"In the middle of the earth."

"Where's the moon?"

"At the bottom of the sea?"

"What is five and five?"

"Nothing."

"Say our A B C's."

"Z Y X V U T S R Q P O N M L K J I H G F E D C B A," answered the school promptly.

"Fine," declared the schoolmaster proudly. "You are smart children and have nothing more to learn. There is no use having school any more. You are dismissed for good."

"Don't you mean until Mix-Up Land turns back into Apple-Pie Land?" asked Nick.

"Yes," said the schoolmaster. "But it doesn't look much like it."

IN FOREIGN LANDS
TINTED TRAVELS

MISS LIBERTY

While steaming out for foreign lands
A statue nice to see—
Stands in the New York harbor, and We hail Miss Liberty—

used its rooms as a headquarters in the campaign for President Abraham Lincoln's reelection. General Grant was an occasional visitor after the Civil war.

Here, too, the first ambassador from Japan was entertained. Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, and all the presidents from Lincoln to McKinley registered at the Continental. Other noted guests included Clara Louise Kellogg, grand opera star; Mme. Melba, Lillian Russell and Joseph Jefferson.

J. B. Kinsley, a manager of the Continental, once averted a situation that might have proved embarrassing for President Andrew Johnson. The mayor of Philadelphia had refused to receive the nation's chief executive, and Mr. Johnson was welcomed in Parlor C of the hotel through the courtesy of the manager. A committee of citizens extended the city's hospitality.

In Parlor C important meetings and conventions were later held. These included the Pan-American Congress of 30 years ago.

FIXED DATE FOR EASTER
LONDON, March 22.—An effort is being made by a number of Englishmen led by Lord Desborough to obtain a general agreement on the question of a fixed date for Easter.

Lord Desborough recently stated that a motion to this effect will be offered at the next meeting of the international chamber of commerce on the ground that the variance of Easter is inconvenient not only to business people, but also to the legal profession and to schools and universities. He will leave next month for Rome to ask the Pope to consider the matter.

It is understood that the heads of the church of England have already been approached on the subject, but answered that they had not the power to change the present system.

It has been suggested that the second Sunday in April should be fixed as the immovable date.

BACK FROM BERMUDA MUSIC OF SCANDINAVIA

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Conway Had Delightful Trip to Island of Flowers

Pleasing Lecture Recital by the Crescendo Club in Liberty Hall

Boston, English tea roses, palm trees, banana trees and paw-paws were but incidentals in the delightful itinerary of exotic charm provided in abundance for Mr. and Mrs. John T. Conway, of this city, who have just returned from a visit to the island of Bermuda refreshed and invigorated after a brief sojourn filled with rare attractions and novel incidents.

The ocean voyage to Bermuda started from New York early this month, accommodations of tip-top quality being secured on the steamship St. George. Hamilton was reached in 48 hours, after a somewhat tempestuous voyage across the briny. The hotel was filled, as always, with Americans. The temperature each day averaged about 76 degrees above the zero mark, and the nights were always warm with 68 being the normal glass registration. Although Bermuda had a recent rainy season, the sun shone every day the Conways were there.

Bathing in the ocean waters was the rule—three times a day. Visits along the wonderfully smooth, white roads of the island to other resorts including St. George's, were the rule. Interesting visits were paid, also, to places of unusual charm, including "Devil's Hole," "Crystal Cove" and other varied attractions that excite wonder and curiosity on the part of all vacationists.

The beaches for miles are white and smooth and "hard-pressed," forming a floor that is pleasant to walk upon and stretching away into charming vistas along the ocean blue waters.

Wonderful and strangely formed fish abound in Bermudian waters, the anglo fish being popular attractions, also flying fish, that appeared to be putting on a special performance every time Mr. and Mrs. Conway strolled away from the Hamilton to get a closer view of the English water scenery.

Bermuda farmers are busy raising parsley—immense acres of it—kale, mulberries, bananas and carrots. Onion beds are also wide in acreage, the Bermuda onion being far different than the alleged "Bermuda" raised and shipped from Florida farmlands. A Bermuda onion, in fact—that is, a genuine Bermuda—is a priceless possession and a health producer in the bargain. In fact, eating onions is one of the best little appetite exciters of all American tourists.

The orange crops in Bermuda today are passing out. A few small orchards are found here and there, but since the terrible blight hit the Bermudian orchards about five years ago, the dirt farmers living outside the chief cities and towns, are turning their field agricultural pursuits to other lines of production, with parsley beds in the lead at present.

Flowers of the exotic kind, brilliant hued, large, quick-growing and wonderful, provide pictures of rare beauty for American vacationists. Easter lilies are everywhere, growing under simple cultivation and appearing in beautiful array in battalions of formation, all over the English land. The lilies in Bermuda are not costly. They make a roadside journey both novel and attractive. The sight of great fields of lilies demanding attention from the first.

The Conways saw one whale about a mile away from the tourist ship while going to Bermuda. A few spots, three or four large humpbacks and the ocean mammals as gone on the road to Davy Jones' bottom.

Moving picture kings and queens through the hotels and byways of old Bermuda. The Laskey families were all there. The big pool and ocean cove where Annette Kellerman, water queen and movie actress, "made" her famous motion picture, "A Daughter of the Gods" was watered in all excursionists as a place of historic note.

Several American tourists arrived in Bermuda from extended voyages through the West Indies, when the Conways were at the Hamilton. They were ultra-millionaires and the private yacht that carried them around the islands, appeared to make the voyage in golden colors to make the voyage of the Conways family fittingly proper and representative in the usual advertising way.

Crops in Bermuda flourish exceedingly in the year around. The rule is to have at least three crops of Bermuda potatoes each twelve-month.

To make a long story short, Mr. and Mrs. Conway are very much in love with Bermuda.

Sponsors of a delightful and artistic lecture recital on "Music of Scandinavia," the Crescendo club, an organization of Lowell young women, all greatly interested in good music as well as being expert musicians, gave an excellent entertainment last evening in Liberty hall, Mrs. Mary G. Reed of Boston, pianist, being the attraction. The entertainer is well known here, having numerous pupils in Lowell and vicinity. Mrs. Reed was assisted last evening in her splendid program by Miss Edna Sinnott of this city, mezzo soprano, and Miss Margaret Martin, also of Lowell, who accompanied Miss Sinnott.

Miss Reed first told of recent travels through Norway, in order that the audience might better understand the mood and characteristics of the music that she played. Numerous Scandinavian composers were then given. Mrs. Reed played two of Composer Torjusson's shorter pieces and followed with one by Lassen. Miss Sinnott sang a group of old folk songs. Mrs. Reed afterward gave delightful accounts of the life and compositions of Edvard Grieg, and played several characteristic numbers written in by this composer, the list including "Rustic Song," "Ich Liebe Dich" and "Fall on the Hillsides." The last composer whom Mrs. Reed spoke of was Jan Sibellus, whose works are now popular in this country although the composer is not widely known. One of the Sibellus pieces that charmed the audience was "From the Land of a Thousand Lakes."

The ushers last evening were Misses Dorothy Farley, Mildred Rock, Mildred Denver and Ellen Martin.

The officers of the Crescendo club are President Jeana Cuff, Vice-President Margaret Martin, Secretary Mildred Denver and Treasurer Dorothy Farley.

Plans for the annual summer outing of the Grand Army Veterans of Massachusetts were announced today at headquarters of local Post 120, Lowell veterans of the Civil war will go to the Wells, N. H., for at least two weeks in August.

In preparation for the gathering of funds with which to send several aged and needy comrades to The Wells this season and pay all expenses, Women's Relief Corps members of the Lowell district will hold a "veterans' supper" in Post 120 hall on the night of Thursday, March 29, at 6 o'clock.

Ladies of the Women's Relief Corps branches will serve the meal and all funds will be devoted to swelling the coffers of the veterans' association, in order that every local Grand Army man who needs assistance and desires to go to New Hampshire for two weeks in August, may go there and be well taken care of.

The March 29 supper will be served in James A. Garfield banquet hall under the direction of Mrs. John Daniels and Mrs. Frances Coburn, aided by Mrs. Ada Myrick. The first two ladies are deeply interested in the Wells' outing program, and other events of a similar kind will be held later on to increase the amount of funds required to pay for the veterans' trip to Lake Winnepesaukee.

There will be a whist in the afternoon and evening on the day of the supper.

Leila, Charles H. Slickney, quartermaster of Post 120, who has been ill with pneumonia and a complication of diseases at his Lowell home for the past five weeks, made his first appearance since his recovery by walking down town today and meeting old comrades. He has had the toughest fight of his career, he says, but admits that he has an unparalleled confidence that he is still vigorous with a

ICE AND SNOW IS GETTING A MOVE ON

Continued warm temperatures today resulted in more snow and ice disappearing by the air lines, the spring breezes downtown streets today are more cleanly with less ice, mud and water to be found than has been the case on previous days.

Workmen continue to clean up large banks of ice and snow on the highways leading from the centre of the city. The work is progressing well along Western and Chelmsford sts. and other busy thoroughfares. Careful travel has its workmen, too, and last night the final load was removed from Bridge street in the immediate business section.

Conditions are favorable for further quick melting of snow and ice, if the rain storm now on the way to Lowell, arrives on time and remains for 48 hours, as predicted. Cloudiness steadily increased all day, with indications of rain tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures will remain fairly normal until tomorrow evening, when a light cold wave, said to be on the way from the northwest, may reach Lowell and vicinity. Saturday will be fair with temperatures affected by southerly winds shifting to west and northwest.

Flowers of the exotic kind, brilliant hued, large, quick-growing and wonderful, provide pictures of rare beauty for American vacationists. Easter lilies are everywhere, growing under simple cultivation and appearing in beautiful array in battalions of formation, all over the English land. The lilies in Bermuda are not costly. They make a roadside journey both novel and attractive. The sight of great fields of lilies demanding attention from the first.

The Conways saw one whale about a mile away from the tourist ship while going to Bermuda. A few spots, three or four large humpbacks and the ocean mammals as gone on the road to Davy Jones' bottom.

Moving picture kings and queens through the hotels and byways of old Bermuda. The Laskey families were all there. The big pool and ocean cove where Annette Kellerman, water queen and movie actress, "made" her famous motion picture, "A Daughter of the Gods" was watered in all excursionists as a place of historic note.

Several American tourists arrived in Bermuda from extended voyages through the West Indies, when the Conways were at the Hamilton. They were ultra-millionaires and the private yacht that carried them around the islands, appeared to make the voyage in golden colors to make the voyage of the Conways family fittingly proper and representative in the usual advertising way.

Crops in Bermuda flourish exceedingly in the year around. The rule is to have at least three crops of Bermuda potatoes each twelve-month.

To make a long story short, Mr. and Mrs. Conway are very much in love with Bermuda.

WHO OWNS THIS CARRIER PIGEON

A pure white carrier pigeon, evidently a young bird of value, and wearing upon one of its legs a brass circlet on which the number 29 is inscribed, has been taken in and is being cared for by a Fort Hill avenue family. The bird has been in that neighborhood since last Friday and when taken to shelter seemed to be suffering from exposure and lack of food.

Daniel C. Hogan, chairman of the city board of assessors, has taken an interest in the bird and will be glad to receive any information regarding it, that arrangements may be made to return it to its owner or station. If it is the property of the government, Mr. Hogan may be reached at his home by telephone No. 4878.

WERE TOO CLOSE TO GAMING IMPLEMENTS

Fines of $5 each were imposed on James Coutras, Fluke Mahket, Apostolos Soutiotes, George Pondas, James Apostolakis, Demetrius Froskos and George Jones, when they were found guilty in the district court this morning of being present where gaming implements were found. John Pappas failed to appear and was defaulted.

The men were arrested last night at 72 Jefferson street by Sgt. Winn and Officers Moore, Conroy and Noonan.

VETERANS PLAN ANNUAL SUMMER OUTING

Plans for the annual summer outing of the Grand Army Veterans of Massachusetts were announced today at headquarters of local Post 120, Lowell veterans of the Civil war will go to the Wells, N. H., for at least two weeks in August.

In preparation for the gathering of funds with which to send several aged and needy comrades to The Wells this season and pay all expenses, Women's Relief Corps members of the Lowell district will hold a "veterans' supper" in Post 120 hall on the night of Thursday, March 29, at 6 o'clock.

Ladies of the Women's Relief Corps branches will serve the meal and all funds will be devoted to swelling the coffers of the veterans' association, in order that every local Grand Army man who needs assistance and desires to go to New Hampshire for two weeks in August, may go there and be well taken care of.

THINKS OTHER MILLS WILL FOLLOW SUIT

When informed yesterday of the action of the American Woolen Co. in granting a 12 1/2 per cent wage increase to its employees, President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America, who is now in Providence, R. I., said the action of the company will soon be followed by other mills, woolen, worsted and cotton, throughout New England, including Lowell.

Mr. McMahon stated that he was very pleased to hear of the announcement. He said he thought it would come, but expected it would be more. "We have gained the first link in our chain," he continued, "but this will make no difference in the plans of the United Textile Workers of America. We shall insist on fighting for an advance of 25 per cent, as we have recently demanded in Fall River and elsewhere." Mr. McMahon further stated that he had heard reports that a meeting of the manufacturers had recently been held in Boston, and such a plan for advanced wages decided upon.

LOWELL MEN SENTENCED RIVER IS LOWER AT THE PAWTUCKET DAM

George Lampos, who appealed a fine of $150 and a sentence of three months to the house of correction for illegal keeping, when the case was called in the local district court some time ago, changed his plea to that of guilty in the superior court at East Cambridge on March 20 and received the same fine and sentence.

Charles Zardomonec, of 18 Bond's court, was fined $100 and sentenced to one month in the house of correction, after he had previously appealed a like disposition of the case in the district court here.

LOWELL MEN SENTENCED RIVER IS LOWER AT THE PAWTUCKET DAM

Two feet lower at the Pawtucket dam. Spring water-rush records on the Merrimack at Pawtucket dam were breaking last night again today, with the actual height of the stream above the cap of the big dam two feet lower than the level reached several days ago.

The lowering of the depth of the stream so suddenly has caused town talk, to the great dismay of the utility-disaster prophets and high-water boy reporters looking for first-page stuff.

The Merrimack broke all records this morning in unexpected fashion by refusing to get into the news columns under double-column heads and declining also to maintain its speed of yesterday.

This noon the waters still clear and free from broken ice flows and dangerous debris, was pulling softly down the valley above Pawtucket dam under thick ice, trimming its softening top as it went along without causing blockades or moving pictures.

The big measurement blackboard hanging in the water on the far end of the thick cap of the dam, showed a water depth of just four feet and one inch at noon.

No section of the big solid field of thick ice up river has shown indication of breaking up. The field starts directly from the edge of Pawtucket dam on the Varnum avenue side, and is a space about one and one-half miles long, and free from ice floes. From the open space back toward the Pawtucket dam, the Merrimack and about the face of the house locations, the river can be crossed safely by anyone desiring to take the risk, which is of course not advised.

The ice close to the dam measured this morning just seven inches in thickness. Up by the ice houses and behind the thick cap of the dam, the ice blanket to run anywhere from 11 to 13 inches.

Large masses of "chalk" ice, so-called by river men, came down the river from the narrow "sawed" cap of water this side of the stream about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, did a whirlpool for a few minutes above the flashboards on the east side of the dam and then plunged overboard down onto the rocks below. The ice was a bit too heavy for the top flashboards to hold when the rush started, and the result was a street of two long 16-foot sections bent "saw" that looked this morning like a big piece of T. I. dia rubber bulging out as it actually stretching.

Walter Courtney, gate-keeper, says he never saw flashboards hold so firmly, the board now bent outward down stream, having a curve of at least two feet, indicating quality lumber and staunch iron staples as well as good workmanship in installation of same. With the exception of these two lengths of bulging flashboards, the remainder of the "wooden line" is holding firmly for the present.

A little research work this morning in the official records of high and low waters at Pawtucket dam by the courteous Mr. Courtney, revealed the fact that the height of the water just a year ago today was exactly the same as this morning's registration. The highest water last year on the river's "first rise," came on March 31, but the depth above the cap of the dam was then but 6 1/2 feet. The highest last season was on the river's "second rise" on April 13, when the big measuring rule was set seven feet and one, one-half inch over the cap line.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Rev. John Single, pastor of the Lawrence Street P. M. church and Miss Ada E. Newman took place March 19 at the home of Mrs. Hannah Steele, 220 Webster st., the officiating clergyman being Rev. Charles Kershaw of New Bedford. The witnesses were Mrs. Hannah Steele and Mr. J. Wesley Shugerton. The couple will make their home at 1186 Lawrence street.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Mauderson Molkorich, a boy residing at 10 Stanley street, sustained injuries late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile in Bridge street. The accident occurred at about 5 o'clock and Oscar J. Dufresne of 47 Third street, driver of the auto, claims that the boy ran from the sidewalk into the path of the machine and was struck by one of the rear mudguards of the car.

SMALL GARDEN DRIVE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Miss Lee Will Endeavor to Interest Children in Home Gardens

Miss Alice T. Lee, supervisor of primary schools, and director of school gardens, is just starting a campaign to work up interest among the school children for home gardens. The first part of her campaign will be to visit the schools and talk with the different classes about these gardens and to find out how many have home plots that they can use and are willing to use for this purpose. Each group that agrees to plant in this year will have a president who will act as chairman of their meetings and take care of any questions that arise.

As soon as the weather permits, those children will be given supplies of seed and vegetable seeds and will be instructed as to how to plant them and care for them after they show their heads above the ground. Methods and kinds of fertilizer will be discussed and the kind chosen that

Middlesex North Will Hold Institute Meeting in Westford, March 28

The fourth institute meeting of the Middlesex North Agricultural society will be held in Westford town hall, Wednesday, March 28, with sessions at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Dinner will be served by the ladies of the Westford Congregational church at 12.30 p. m.

This last meeting of the society's institute for the present season, is to be an unusually interesting one, judging by the advance notices issued by Secretary Edward F. Dickinson of the institute committee, this morning.

Subjects to be discussed at the morning session will be "Forest Planting and Preservation—and The Wild Life of Our Woods and Streams." Speakers will be present from the United States department of agriculture and from the Massachusetts division of conservation.

The after-dinner entertainment program will include vocal selections by Miss Tutthill of Lowell, and by request, Edward F. Dickinson will speak of "Things Seen, Heard and Thought" in a recent Washington vacation.

Agricultural society members have been notified that electric cars from Lowell are due to arrive at Brookside at 10 and 11 a. m. and will be met by automobiles to convey Lowell passengers to the institute meeting.

MISS ALICE T. LEE

best fits the needs of each individual. Miss Lee already has on hand about 5000 packages of seeds, but whether or not this will be enough cannot be told until the complete enrollment of all the schools is made up.

Home gardening has been a voluntary subject in the school curriculum for the past several years, it receiving its greatest impulse during war times when everyone was urged to plant seed for the food they would need later in the year. This subject has proved to be exceedingly popular in the past, and Miss Lee hopes that just as much or more will plant this year as did last year. Co-operation with the parents is necessary if the best results are to be obtained from this home gardening as in most instances the father of the child can help considerably with advice as to when and how to cultivate the young shoots.

The idea of the home-gardening is to create interest among the children for gardening and to give them something that will keep their interest during the summer months when there is no school. It also keeps them outdoors in the warm weather and makes them better physically, and finally their work is rewarded when the plants bear fruit and they are able to eat of the things that they have grown.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

In the court of second sessions, over which Judge Enright presided, John A. Quinn was found guilty of unlawfully keeping gaming implements at 456 Gorham street. Attorney Charles A. Donahue asked that usual five or ten dollar fine be imposed, but a recent legislation, but a fine, is punishable, not only by fine, but also the furnishing of bonds to keep the peace for a designated period of time. The present instance was the first of its kind in Lowell and the court, in compliance with the new enactment, imposed a fine of $10 and ordered defendant to furnish bonds in the sum of $200 to keep the peace for three years.

Frank E. Bettencourt and Rose Rodriguez Canova were found guilty of a statutory offense in the district court before Judge Enright this morning and ordered to pay fines of $75 each.

John Hayes failed to put in an appearance to answer a charge of drunkenness and was ordered defaulted.

A violation of the motor vehicle law against Michael M. Quayle was dismissed for lack of prosecution.

Green Zilinski, William Durin and Annie Busiervick were found guilty of assault and battery, the first two being fined $15 each and the woman $10.

On a finding of guilty to maintaining a liquor nuisance, William Paolettopoli was fined a fine of $100 and a sentence of one month to the house of correction.

MAYOR AND CITY SOLICITOR IN BOSTON

Mayor John J. Donovan and City Solicitor Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan were in Boston this afternoon, conferring with the civil service commissioner relative to certain information the mayor has and which he feels should have some bearing upon the eligibility of Collin H. MacKenzie as a candidate for the position of custodian and building manager of the Memorial Auditorium.

The conference is the outcome of the meeting of the Auditorium trustees last Monday night, when, for the second time, the election of a

LOWELL RETAIL JEWELERS MEET

The Lowell Retail Jeweler's association held an informal meeting this morning with the secretary, Frank J. Ricard, presiding. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the proposed opening of a jewelry auction store here by a firm that is not known. As the president of the association, Adelbert Abbeil, was out of town, no definite action was taken.

Mr. Ricard stated that whatever action is taken at an informal meeting this the citizens of Lowell, and will be taken on by the association members as citizens of this city, not as jewelers. He also said that the only reason they have for objecting to firms of this kind is the example that other jewelry auctioneers have set here by opening businesses for but a short time and then leaving, bringing nothing to the city, and in some cases imposing upon the citizens of the city.

Some time ago the association drew up an ordinance regulating such auctioneers and presented it to the city council. This was about a year ago and since that time they have heard nothing further in regard to it. They do not think that they should do anything more than bring the matter to the attention of the council and leave whatever action is taken up to the city government.

Russell Farris, for several months the office assistant at the Y.M.C.A., will leave their employ March 24, to take up a better position in Boston. Mr. Farris will reside at the Huntington Avenue Y.M.C.A. in Boston.

Today was deferred until the mayor had an opportunity to discuss the entire matter with the civil service commissioner.

Mayor Donovan said before leaving for Boston that he is prepared to submit certain evidence to the commissioner which he feels would make Mr. MacKenzie ineligible for the position he seeks and for which he has been certified along with Messrs. Sullivan and Preston.

"If the commissioner wants this information, I will present it to him," stated the mayor, "and if he then feels that certain information does not affect Mr. MacKenzie's eligibility, the latter will remain in third place on the list."

The mayor made it clear also that whatever information he has concerning Mr. MacKenzie, has been given to him by a member of the election commission and is not his by personal knowledge.
